EX-CHAMPION HELD TOO OLD FOR BATTLE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Jess Willard will not be permitted to box in New York State because the State Boxing Commission believes him to be over the legal age limit of 38, Chairman William Muldoon announced tonight. Chairman Muldoon thinks the action of the New York commission will be upheld by other State commissions having working agreements with it.

Muldoon said he had read in the newspapers that Willard upon arriving here yesterday had declared he was only 36. "Willard's talk about being only 36 years old doesn't deceive me at all," said the chairman. "The question of his age was investigated some time ago and there is not the slighest doubt that he is past forty."

"Aside from the question of age, he is not fit for a ring bout," continued Muldoon, "and I do not believe he could fit himself. Had he been eager for a battle in the ring, the best he could have done would have been to campaign in the West against the second and third raters."

In an interview published here today Willard was quoted as declaring that the public never has been informed of important details of the fight in which he lost his championship to Jack Dempsey at Toledo in July, 1919. He added that he would reveal them if he regained the championship from Dempsey. Willard could not be reached tonight to comment on Muldoon's statement.

SWAN SONG FOR RING IN CALIFORNIA

BY KYLE D. PALMER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Friend W. Richardson, private citizen, walked up the steps to the speaker's platform in the Assembly Chamber here today arm in arm with Gov. Stephens and an hour later Gov. Richardson walked down the same steps arm in arm with a private citizen—William D. Stephens. The change in their relationship represented a conclusion and a beginning, the end of government indifference to the will of a people and the introduction of a government that has pledged itself to function solely in the people's interest.

Without malice and in a kindly spirit toward the person of his predecessor, Gov. Richardson, following the administering of his oath of office by Judge E. C. Hart, delivered his inaugural address, renewing his pre-election pledges and calling upon members of the Legislature to assist him in carrying out these pledges.

KEYNOTE IS ECONOMY

The keynote of his address was economy with efficiency and in his announced determination to make his policies effective he did not hesitate to employ expressions of the utmost vigor and candor.

"Economy," said the Governor, "is not entirely a matter of the form of government, but must depend primarily upon the spirit and purpose of the officers in control of State affairs." Later in his address he said: "It is my purpose to remove from office the members of the present political machine, to substitute business for politics in State government, to abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, to restore efficiency to the various departments."

Thus he summed up both the philosophy of his proposed governmental procedure and the method of it. Referring to the deplorable condition of the State highways and the waste of millions in faulty highway construction, he pledged himself to make the problem of remedying this situation one of his primary considerations.

URGES FEWER LAWS

Gov. Richardson declared himself in favor of affording full support and protection for all humane functions and laws and expressed the hope that the statute book of 1923 will "the smallest in size in a score of years," and he told the Senators and Assemblymen that "the value of your work will depend upon its merit and not upon its volume."

He created a stir of interest through the crowded chamber when, in commending the theory and practice of civil service in State affairs, he announced: "In the recent primary election the law against collecting political assessments from civil service employees was violated. This should be investigated and the offenders brought to justice."

In this connection, it is understood that the activities of Egerton W. Shore, former member of the Board of Control, recently appointed by Gov. Stephens, as a member of the State Railroad Commission, may be investigated and if findings justify such procedure, formal charges filed. Several other State job-holders said to have forced civil service employees to give a share of their salaries to the campaign fund of Gov. Stephens in the primary will be subjected to investigation, it is said. Conviction for violation of the civil service law carries a sentence to six months in a County Jail or a fine of $500, or both.

TIME DECIDED ON FOR ADVANCE BY FRENCH, BELGIANS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Jan. 10, 1 a.m.—The French and Belgian governments decided tonight to send their troops into the Ruhr on Thursday to seize productive pledges for their reparations account.

Premier Poincare will notify the German government today of the proposed Franco-German measures both through the German Ambassador at Paris and the French Ambassador at Berlin. Premier Theunis of Belgium is taking identical action. The attitude of Premier Mussolini of Italy is not certain.

READY AT DAYBREAK

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Jan. 9.—France is ready tonight to seize the Ruhr at daybreak. There are many reasons to believe that tomorrow's sun will disclose French airplanes hovering over Essen while a long string of tanks draw into the Krupps' home in advance of foot and horse troops.

The zero hour has been fixed, but until the occupation army marches the time, place, manner and exact objectives are held by the government as a military and political secret.

ENGLAND NOTIFIED

France late today notified England through the French Ambassador at London, and the American Ambassadors at Paris and Brussels were informed by the French and Belgian governments, respectively, what France plans to do. The French tonight also are armed with the reparations commission's declaration that Germany is in voluntary default in coal deliveries; so there is no apparent cause for further delay.

M. Maginot, the War Minister, has had a final conference with Premier Poincare, assuring him that the army is ready; the technical men, even emergency crews of railroaders and telegraphers, in case of strikes in the Rhur, are awaiting orders at Duesseldorf and their military escort is impatient to be off.

Gen. Dugoutte with his staff left Mayence for Duesseldorf just ahead of the last trainload of Mayence troops and all will be in Duesseldorf late tonight.

MAY BE DELAY

This readiness, however, is no proof that the French have set their advance for Wednesday morning; there may be a delay until Thursday, so that Premier Poincare can give Parliament the news while it is still fresh, and there are some who think that the Premier may wait until he has informed the chamber of his plans so that Parliament may by a vote of confidence be responsible for the order to Foch's men—"take Essen."

Whatever date is fixed, there is no longer any vague uneasiness that the United States or Great Britain may stop the advance by a protest, for the French government and people alike consider it quite settled that Essen will be occupied in a matter of hours or days and that the progressive seizure of the Rhur can only be stopped by Germany coming to terms.

France is taking the situation with surprising calm, but there is a very evident determination to

PRESIDENT SEES HOPE VANISHING

BY ROBERT BARRY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Deep concern and not a little irritation over possible consequences of the French occupation of the Ruhr was observed in many high quarters today. There was a feeling that the march of the horizon blue uniforms into Germany would militate most seriously against any hope of adjusting the reparations issue through negotiations on some such basis as suggested by Secretary Hughes.

The Department of State issued an official statement to show clearly that the French government was fully advised as to the Hughes plan for a peaceful adjustment before deciding on military measures. In denying the credence of Paris reports to the effect the Quai d'Orsay never had the Hughes plan submitted to it in any way, the department revealed that Ambassador Jusserand was advised of it fully before the Secretary made his New Haven address and had delivered the "observations of M. Poincare in reply."

ATTITUDE UNDERSTOOD

Without going into details of American disapproval of military measures by France against Germany the State Department said: "It is not doubted that the attitude of the American government is well understood" with regard "to the taking of forcible measures for the purpose of obtaining reparations."

In reply to suggestions that France would be surprised if the American government should officially bring its view on the Ruhr occupation to the attention of the French government, officials declined to agree there was any impropriety in the action of the Department of State. It was explained there had been no formal protest, but that the American attitude had been made perfectly clear.

In case of a formal protest, it was said, international procedure

FALL'S JOB MAY GO TO CAMPBELL

Arizonan Reported Under Consideration for Secretary of the Interior

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Jan. 9.—Much interest was occasioned here today by reports emanating from apparently authoritative sources that Gov. Thomas E. Campbell is under consideration at Washington for the post of Secretary of the Interior to succeed Fall, recently resigned.

Campbell's record is one which is considered as eminently qualifying him for the Cabinet portfolio. His interests are broad enough to make him view the problems of interior administration from the national rather than the local viewpoint. He is a strong advocate of the Hoover plan for Colorado River reclamation and development work and as such is peculiarly acceptable to the Southwest. He is well known throughout the West and his support is general.

Many telegrams have been sent from here and other western cities in support of Mr. Campbell for the Secretaryship.

SCORES OF HOMES AFLOAT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND, Jan. 9.—Although the Willamette River and its tributaries are falling at their source, conditions in Portland Harbor and in the lower Willamette Valley are much worse than they have been at any time during the present freshet. Areas of many thousands of acres are completely covered with water, driving hundreds of families from their homes and setting their properties afloat.

Conditions are bad, particularly in the vicinity of Oregon City, where scores of homes are afloat. The entire landscape north of Oregon City is an inland sea with rows of houses protruding here and there. Industrial plants are shut down. In Oregon City the lower streets of the town are flooded and rowboats are being used there. The main business streets have been protected so far by a series of bulkheads, but the water has threatened to carry this protection away. It has stood so far only because a part of the dam at the east end of the falls gave way this morning, letting out some of the pent-up water.

All railroad, street car and vehicle transportation between Portland and Oregon City has been discontinued, except for one highway on the west-side hills. Though battered by the ceaseless attack of heavy drift by timbers and huge boom logs carried on the breast of the strong yellow current, Portland's three upper bridges, held to be in peril from the flood, successfully withstood the onslaught.

Hundreds of spectators gathered along the waterfront to witness the dynamiting of drift masses lodged against the Hawthorne bridge. Constant as this effort was, however, the work proceeded slowly, as the great heaps of logs and timbers are tangled with the stout chains of escaped boom sticks. At nightfall much of the drift remained — the Burnside bridge, closed to traffic indefinitely, its draw span open, sustained the fiercest assault.

LOGS HURTLE DOWN

Free from some log raft upriver, a formation of several great sawlogs came driving down with the current, successfully negotiating both Hawthorne and Morrison bridges, but lodging with a crash against the point of the Burnside bridge. There was a snapping

BOYDEN BLAMES TREATY

American Reparations Delegate Tells Commission That Burden Laid Upon Germany is Too Great

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Jan. 9.—Roland W. Boyden, American reparations delegate, declared to the Reparation Commission this morning that the charges laid to Germany by the Versailles Treaty were impossible to execute and therefore the treaty should be revised.

In spite of every effort of the American delegation and the commission's secretariat to keep Boyden's statement confidential, it was given to all American and English correspondents several hours later by a high English official connected with the commission, who had called a journalistic meeting to explain the dissenting British vote against the French motion to declare Germany in default on coal deliveries.

BRITISH BLAMED

It was angrily asserted in American circles later that the British had made public Boyden's views to support their position. The British action is considered highly improper.

The final German pleas as to why the Berlin government should not be declared in default on coal deliveries last year were heard by the commission this morning. The French, Belgian and Italian delegates voted in favor of declaring Germany in default, thus carrying the motion. Sir John Bradbury voted against the declaration.

"I think Germany has wilfully defaulted on coal and timber deliveries," said Boyden. "However, in the vast reparations problem I do not consider these details of such importance that they justify putting into force grave penalties. I think the reparations problem should be considered so as to settle it entirely and not by piecemeal."

INTERPRETED AS OFFICIAL

As Ambassador Herrick transmitted no communication to Quai D'Orsay today, Boyden's speech was interpreted tonight by the French government as Washington's official protest against the Ruhr advance, which has been heralded for the last two days. At this last hour, with the French troops ready for marching orders at any minute, it is not likely to have a great effect. The present conservative French government must take drastic action to save itself in the elections next year.

As is customary, Boyden's views were asked and he gave Barthou, the French delegate, a happy surprise by expressing a definite emphatic view that Germany had wilfully defaulted in coal deliveries.

"The blame rests more on the Versailles treaty than on the Germans, I think," continued Boyden. "The treaty has placed an impos-

BOOTLEGGER HID LIQUOR IN BOOTLEG

Here's how bootleg liquor got its name.

A. Wilson, erstwhile bootlegger and incidentally a taxi driver, unknowingly revealed his cache of bootleg, which he had concealed in a rubber bootleg, to two police officers late last night and as a result found himself locked in the City Jail a few hours later on a charge of violating the Wright Act.

Officers Hoy and Johnson of the police purity squad said that they arranged with Wilson to purchase some liquor and when he took them to his locked in a garage at Winston and Wall streets and produced the boot full of bootleg he was placed under arrest.

Wilson is asserted to have told the officers that the boot was symbolic of the "kick" contained in the liquor which he dispensed to thirsty taxi patrons.

DRY NAVY IS SCUTTLED

Forceful Acts in Holiday Crisis Leave New York at Mercy of Rum Runners

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—So far as New York Harbor and its terminus are concerned the old prohibition navy is no more. The end was recorded today when the Hansen, flagship and pride of the fleet, and the last of its kind in New York waters, was ordered to Hampton Roads. Acting Collector Henry C. Stuart, of the customs service, announced the passing of the navy would be permanent. Prohibition Chief John D. Appleby denied this and said that an auxiliary navy would arise from the wreck.

Collusion between members of the dry navy crews and rum-runners has been hinted at in rum-running social circles, but no actual charges of this nature have been filed.

Alexander Williams, a private investigator, who lives while in New York at the Navarre Hotel, recently charged that rum-runners were in communication by signal with dry navy boats and with rum-running auxiliary ships. Williams said that certain members of dry navy crews would signal rum-running auxiliary craft when the prohibition navy boat covering that particular stretch of water intended putting

HINDER FRENCH CONTROL

Germans Formulate Plan Which They Hope Will Make Seizure of Coal Mines Innocuous

BY LARRY RUE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—The German Cabinet today decided upon an economic and political program to defeat plans to work the Ruhr and to counteract the effect upon German industry. Chancellor Cuno tomorrow will outline the plans to the party leaders for their indorsement before presenting them to the Foreign Office.

Germany intends to make coal deliveries under the present schedule to the French in the Ruhr. When the French are dissatisfied with this Germany will refuse to turn over any more coal. In order to frustrate the French project to take over the mines the coal syndicate will be moved from Essen and established at some other town.

All record books giving statistics regarding the operation and production of the various mines will be refused the French engineers, which will necessitate a complete survey before the French will be able to take over operations.

A telephone message from The Times correspondent at Essen gives the news that the coal syndicate is meeting until late tonight, following a report that the French immediately on occupation of the city intend seizing the records.

The government also intends, upon the expression of dissatisfaction with the coal deliveries to issue a public proclamation, declaring that the occupation of the Ruhr is a violation of the Treaty of Versailles and that the government refuses positively to make any payments or deliveries in kind. The explanation will be made that the violation of the treaty gives Germany the right to act independently as if the document did not exist.

Removing the seat of control of the coal syndicate from Essen to some city over which France has no jurisdiction is suggested by German industry which says that if France controls the syndicate the good coal will go to France and the bad to Germany which would result in an intolerable situation.

The government is relying upon sympathy of the workers for the German population to make French working of the mines unproductive and unsuccessful.

KLAN SECRETS ARE REVEALED

which Mott told him he had seen a truck similar to the ones in which the men had been put into after they were kidnaped about 11:30 p.m. The truck contained what appeared to be hooded men and the forms of two men lying on the floor.

The truck was traveling in the direction of Lake La Fourche, in which the mutilated and headless bodies of Daniel and Richards were later found.

"With your companion having been kidnaped and your conversation with Mott as to practically seeing the forms of two men being carted toward Lake La Fourche, why did you not report the matter to the authorities?" was asked of White.

"I don't know — I didn't think about it," he replied.

A development of today other than the testimony at the open court hearing, was an announcement that an anonymous telephone message had been received warning Federal investigators conducting an inquiry in conjunction with State adjutants that a plot was forming to kidnap Addie May Hamilton, a young woman said to have been forced to leave Morehouse parish by men described as Klansmen and now at her home at Mer Rouge awaiting to be called as a witness in the present hearing.

GUARD REPLACED

A soldier guard was placed at the Hamilton home when intimation of the plotted kidnaping was received but the troopers were removed today under orders of Adjt. Gen. L. A. Toombs of the State National Guard, civilian guards being substituted. Gen. Toombs, in a formal statement explained that authority for the posting of the soldiers had not been authorized.

Gen. Toombs has taken the position that the task of policing the parish rested with the civil authorities and that the soldiers could not act in that capacity under present conditions.

The young woman, it was announced tonight will be called as the first witness tomorrow.

Norsworthy was called to the witness stand after L. L. Daniel, father of Watt and Ernest, victim of the kidnapers completed his testimony begun Saturday. Daniel told of notices being left at his gate ordering him to "change up" and of information he had received that the word had been passed, credited by Daniel's informant to Capt. Skipwith that four Mer Rouge men would have to "get away or they would be killed."

FARMER TESTIFIES

Norsworthy, a ponderous farmer of middle age, began his recital at the morning session of court and continued for an hour of the afternoon. He declared himself one of the charter members of the Morehouse Klan.

"After the Klan became active," he was asked by the Attorney-General, "did not a reign of terror prevail in Morehouse parish?"

"Yes, I should say so," Norsworthy replied.

"As a matter of fact the local government was supplanted by a supergovernment?"

"Yes, sir, it caused all kinds of trouble."

With that introduction, Norsworthy launched into a detailed account of asserted operations of the parish Klan organization. Some of the things he charged were ordering men to be whipped within an inch of their lives and deported from the State.

"Wasn't the parish being controlled by a supergovernment?" was one of the questions put to Norsworthy.

"It wasn't an invisible government, but it certainly was a change in government," he said.

SKIPWITH LEADER

"Who was the leader of the Klan—the grand cyclops or whatever they called him?" Mr. Coco asked.

"Capt. Skipwith. We call him the president."

"He was the king of this parish, his word was final, was it not?" asked the State's attorney.

"Yes, sir, it was final," was the answer.

E. C. Andrews, brother of W. C. Andrews, who testified previously that he was whipped "until he was numb" by the band which kidnaped Daniel and Richards, testified that he also was a member of the Klan at one time. He attended three or four meetings and resigned because he did not approve of the manner in which it was being conducted.

Andrews declared he was given orders by Dr. B. M. McKem, former Mayor of Mer Rouge, to join a party to force Addie May Hamilton to leave the State. He said he refused to follow the orders.

"Tot" Davenport told the circumstances of the kidnaping, but added little to testimony on record.

WAS NOT MISTREATED

He was taken into the woods with others of the kidnaped men, but was not mistreated, he said. With several others he was released at the town of Collinston, he said, and told to "go home." When released, he was told not to look back, but he did. He could not recognize any of the kidnapers.

Thelma Dade, granddaughter of J. T. Daniel, also was a witness today. She was in one of the automobiles halted by the black hooded men and saw Watt Daniel, her uncle, being taken away, blindfolded and with his hands bound. She said she recognized Watt and cried: "Watt, Oh, Watt!"

About this time, she declared, a hooded man flourished his pistol and told her to drive on.

Tomorrow will come the testimony of Addie May Hamilton. She is expected to tell of a visit made to her home by asserted members of the Klan and of instructions that she leave Mer Rouge and go to the home of a relative in Little Rock, Ark.

She returned recently from Little Rock at the request of investigators assembling evidence for the inquiry now in progress.

CLASSIFICATION UNCERTAIN

Thus far none of the legislators appear to be able to tell whether a majority of their number are to be classed as conservatives or radicals, anti-Hunt or for Hunt.

One suggestion is that the Senate, with only a single Republican member, contains many Democrats who consider themselves timber for any office Arizona may bestow, and that such men are beginning to consider Hunt rather as an obstacle, one that must be set aside if the ambitions of other Democrats are to have fruition. Some of these Senators have supported Hunt in the past, but a veteran in legislative standing expresses belief that Hunt's influence will last only till after there has been disposition of such Republican hangover jobs as that of Water Commissioner.

From the House has come intimation that nothing of radical sort will get very far in that body.

The first clash with the executive is expected to come over the Colorado River pact. Though the Governor in his message did not take very strong ground, he rather intimated his belief in something in the woodpile and advocated extreme care in voting ratification of the interstate agreement.

WINSOR FOR PACT

President Winsor is for the pact, but its leading supporter is Kean St. Charles, Senator from Mohave county. The latter promises to keep the floor occupied till the Senate has come into line. "About the only argument I have heard against the pact is that it is for the special benefit of California. If that be true, I see nothing wrong about it. California is a great State and a friend of Arizona and she has much land both to irrigate and protect. Arizona will get every drop of water she can use on lands that can be irrigated and Mohave county, where the Boulder Canyon dam will have one of its abutments, is solid for the pact. We want the water and the power and we are opposed to any man who will stand in the way." St. Charles expresses belief that certain mining interests are behind the opposition.

There had been expectation of a contest for the Apache county seat in the House. A certificate of election was issued J. H. Udall, Republican, member last term, on an apparent plurality of two votes over W. H. Gibbons, Democrat.

DECLARES HE HAS EVIDENCE

Gibbons says he has evidence that he was honestly elected and brought the evidence down to Phoenix. But here, with the Democrats in ample strength in the House, he has not found more than sympathy, with suggestions that the party might be hurt more by the contest than the seat would be worth. So Gibbons will remain quiet, and will be given one of the attache positions. His father was one of the House members in the Legislature of 1868 from the forgotten county of Pahute, making the trip down the Colorado from Callvill to Fort Yuma in an open boat with Octavius M. Gass, the county's member of the territorial council.

Labor representatives already are on the ground, sent by the State Federation of Labor and by the railroad brotherhoods that have headquarters at Winslow. It is not known that they will seek new legislation. Their work is to guard the present laws which are so favorable to their interests.

Gov. Hunt in his previous administrations was notable for travel in his large white car. Thus far he is retaining the four-year-old machine of his predecessor though he has called back his old chauffeur, Harry Shea. He is taking especial interest in the item of State transportation, has indicated that a State garage will be established in the Highway Department and that all State cars there will be checked and inspected, while all joy riding is to mean dismissal of the offending official or employee. He also has said something of the long trips that certain commissions have been making outside of the State and will eliminate these, if possible.

into dock at the Battery or cruising to the far end of its "beat."

This gave the rum-running auxiliary craft the opportunity to run in their rum and resulted in the landing of $4,000,000 of liquors Christmas week, according to Williams.

The last crew, but one of the Hansen fell from grace when a contraband liquor seizure was made by customs agents on the Hansen herself. Collector Stuart in a report on the subject to Washington said the Hansen had been tied up for investigation following the disclosure on December 31 that the crew had stolen twenty cases out of seventy cases of liquor salvaged from the grounded rum-runner Linnie Bell. The twenty cases were found hidden about the crews' quarters by the custom inspectors. Mr. Appleby then discharged the entire crew and called Capt. George B. Dizer, the skipper of the Hansen, on the carpet.

Capt. Dizer was completely exonorated of all blame or responsibility in the matter.

sible burden on Germany and therefore should be revised. When the Germans see daylight with a revised reparations bill they probably will start earnestly to clear away the debt."

Boyden did not mention the French sanctions. His frank remarks slightly startled the delegates because of their timeliness and because they were rather sweeping. Actually, he has been frankly saying the same thing for many months. Though he had no vote, he has taken an active part in the commission since the beginning but Washington has wished it kept quiet.

MUST CHANGE DEBT TERMS

President Convinced There Can Be No Settlement of War Obligations Under Present Limitations

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—President Harding is convinced, it was disclosed today at the White House, that there can be no settlement of the $11,000,000,000 of war debts to the United States within the limitations laid down by Congress—payment of principal within twenty-five years with interest at 4¼ per cent.

The Executive's views, in which members of the American Debt Commission concur, were crystallized by developments at the preliminary negotiations with the British Debt Commission looking to the refunding of the $4,000,000,000 owed by Great Britain.

The progress of these negotiations were laid before the President in detail yesterday by Secretary Mellon and Senator Smoot, Republic, Utah, members of the American commission.

Whether Congress will be asked to liberalize immediately the terms of the existing statute or the American commission proceed to make the best arrangements possible with the debtor nations subject to final Congressional approval, is yet to be determined.

It was indicated at the White House, however, that the latter course was regarded as preferable certainly so far as the British debt is concerned, because the British commission is on the ground ready to reach a settlement and advance action by Congress might result in a long delay in the negotiations between that commission and the American body, which are to be resumed tomorrow.

Mr. Harding considers that the British and American delegations may reach some sort of an agreement within a week and he feels that when the American commission has decided what modifications are asolutely necessary there will be a test of what the country desires to do and what its representatives in Congress will permit to be done.

FRENCH READY TO TAKE RUHR

make the Ruhr pressure effective. The posting of German proclamations to the population in the Ruhr district about to be occupied is taken as showing that the German government has abandoned hope of stopping the seizure and recognizes that Poincare really means what he is reported as saying about being willing "to talk to the Germans in Essen."

DIPLOMATIC ETIQUETTE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Jan. 9. — Reports from Germany and elsewhere show a tendency to get in advance the facts regarding France's proposed occupation of the Ruhr. Within the bounds of its determination to act with or without the acquiescence of England, the French government continues to observe diplomatic etiquette and usage.

The French Ambassador tonight communicated confidentially to the British government as a matter of courtesy the measures which France intends to take in the Ruhr district consequent upon Germany's default in timber and coal deliveries. These plans will naturally not be disclosed in London unless the French government should authorize disclosure.

The British government is proceeding quietly to discuss and be prepared for all eventualities. A meeting of the Cabinet has been summoned for Thursday, indicating that the government takes the situation quite seriously.

HONEYMOON POSTPONED

Lord Derby, Secretary of War, is leaving Cannes tonight to attend the council, while the Earl of Cavan, Chief of Staff, on the occasion of a dinner speech announced the Prime Minister had requested him to postpone his honeymoon trip, he having just been married.

The French are moving large bodies of troops into position in readiness for their advance, but the belief is held in Cologne, according to advices from that city, that actual entry of the Ruhr is not likely before the 15th inst., the date on which the German reparations payment of 500,000,000 gold marks is due.

There will be many difficult points arising with regard to the movement of troops through the British and Belgian zones and these will require careful local adjustment. So far as they concern British interests they will be considered by the Cabinet on Thursday in a confidential discussion of the French plans. There is likely to be a waiting attitude on the part of both Germany and England until it is seen how the French plans develop.

"CANNOT BE WORSE"

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MAYENCE, Jan. 9.—The consensus here is that "whatever happens, it cannot be worse." And this apathy characterizes the mood of Mayence's poulation toward French occupation of Essen and other Ruhr cities, which is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Dignified and subdued, but without servility, the Germans for the last two days have stood in groups about the station and railroad yards and watched the troops entrain for the Ruhr, without outward sign of emotion and without comment. Fully 20,000 French troops have left the Mayence bridgehead for the Ruhr since Saturday morning.

NO BLACK TROOPS

The troop movements are now ended, the last train leaving this place at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The troops are white with the exception of a small percentage of Indo-Chinese and there are no Senegalese or black troops among them. The Mayence garrison has been reduced to a minimum and the men are fairly closely confined to barracks, few of them appearing in the streets. Mayence no longer presents the appearance of an occupied city. Business goes on as usual.

Bundles of marks change hands for the smallest purchases; a railroad porter receives a 1000-mark tip, then adjourns to the nearest saloon and pays 300 marks for a small beer. Everyone seems prosperous, if judged by the amount of money he carries, but there are many threadbare suits and run-down heels.

The French have ruled this area for four years with firmness, although complaint of undue severity have been rare and the four years of French occupation have trained the population to conceal their emotions or worn away their patriotism as military occupations are apt to do. So unconcern is general, and so far as the Mayence people appear to care, the French may go as far as Berlin and good order in Mayence would not be interfered with.

CHAMPION WORKS OUT FOR BOUT WITH JESS

Champion Jack Dempsey has started to work out at Tommy McFarland's Southern California Club. Yesterday he worked out with Alex McDonald, Kid Craig, Eddie Rowe and Mickey Rollinson. He skipped rope, shadow-boxed and punched the bag.

He will work out every day at 2:45 p.m.

CAPITAL SEES HOPE FADING

might in some instances require that the exact basis of the protest be set forward. In the present instance, however, it was believed the general interest of the United States in seeking a settlement of the European tangle was sufficient for this government to be warranted in expressing its attitude even if we had no rights under the armistice and the Treaty of Versailles.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, no official confirmation had been received at the State Department concerning the reported remarks of Roland W. Boyden, American unofficial representative on the Reparations Commission. In the absence of such confirmation officials would not comment on the alleged condemnation by Boyden of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles and the burden it and supplementary agreements place on Germany; it is known, however, that the abilities and judgment of Boyden are regarded highly by the administration and his work in the past has invariably had the support of this government. His was not the first expression of personal views that the Treaty of Versailles should be scrapped.

Discussion of the European situation in the Senate was provoked by Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, who advocated some constructive policy by the United States to effect an adjustment in Europe as aid to American agriculture and industry. Senator Capper would exclude cancellation of war debts and any political alliances or obligations under the Treaty of Versailles, which caused Senator Johnson of California to suggest there would be nothing left except use of American good offices.

"I am opposed to a conference," said Johnson, "but I am ready to have the Senator from Kansas or any others use of the cables to give that good advice."

Senator Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, in urging favorable action on his bill for American membership on the reparations commission indulged in sharp attacks on the policy of the administration in refusing to recall the troops as favored by the Senate and in opposing the reparations legislation.

"Having declined to interfere, or even to intercede, in threatened clashes between European governments, we have kept an army in the storm center and now as the French advance into the Ruhr the 'best minds' in American diplomacy declare we must hold our little army on the Rhine in the position where it will most likely become involved in hostilities.

"France has refused the only plan proposed by Secretary Hughes for averting pending conflict between France and Germany, that is, the creation of an international commission of high financial authority to adjust reparations.

"With no definite plan of action in mind, we seem to be pursuing what is at once the most dangerous and least promising course possible. The ship of state is drifting without chart or compass, the helmsman apparently 'asleep at the wheel.'"

WASTE AND INEFFICIENCY SCORED BY RICHARDSON

Economy Program Outlined by Governor; Demands State Housecleaning

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Following is the Governor's inaugural message:

"To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

"At the recent primary election there was one paramount issue before the people. At the general election there was presented the same issue. The people by their vote at these two elections indicated that they want the State conducted on an economical, efficient and businesslike basis, that they want to stop the orgy of extravagance which has prevailed during the past few years, and that they want to put out of power the political machine which has dominated the State government. The expressed will of the people must be carried out without weakening any of the humane, charitable, progressive or educational functions of the State government.

"In 1911 the people did a good job of political housecleaning. During the past few years another great political machine has come into power which has cost the people millions of dollars. It will be necessary to first wreck this political machine before the State can be put on an economical basis and the government again handed back to the people.

"Economy in government is not entirely a matter of the form of government, but must depend primarily upon the spirit and purpose of the officers in control of State affairs. The State should improve its form of government by elimination of unnecessary boards and officers, by consolidation, and by doing away with overlapping functions. Two years ago this State combined certain offices into departments, and the result has shown that it is difficult to find supermen to head these departments, that not a single office has been eliminated, and that the cost of these departments has increased rather than decreased. Efficiency and economy were not desired, hence were not secured. Primarily the people must depend upon the men in government rather than upon form of government, but with men dedicated to good public service much can be done, and with an improved plan still more.

WASTE ON HIGHWAYS

"The State highways are in a deplorable condition. Millions of dollars of the people's money have been squandered on roads which have proved a failure. The specifications under which the roads have been built have proved defective. The original four-inch cement highways intended to be permanent roads broke down in a very few years. The five-inch concrete highways have been nearly a total failure. The roads themselves and the Pittsburg test show the State specifications defective. After several years of experience the engineering department in charge of the highway work has shown itself incapable of learning even through the experience of its blunders. The people who pay the bills will not soon forget those who are responsible for this result. The task of reconstruction and maintaining these broken-down highways will be a tremendous undertaking.

"Upon the Legislature rests the grave responsibility of passing new laws and repealing old ones. The value of your work will depend upon the merit and not upon the volume of your work. Let us hope that the statute book of 1923 will be the smallest in size in a score of years.

"Civil service has proved its worth, and the defects complained of are mainly those of administration. Civil service to be truly appreciated must be contrasted with the old spoils system. Civil service employees who become inefficient should be promptly recommended for discharge, as the State should be protected as well as the employees. In the recent primary election the law against collecting political assessments from civil service employees was violated. This should be investigated and the offenders brought to justice.

"The people have indicated that they want the Volstead Act enforced, and every peace officer in California should do his full duty. The rigid enforcement of this law will result in moral benefit to the whole State, and will also save the cities, counties and the State many thousands of dollars. The Constitution of the nation and of the State must be respected, and all good citizens, regardless of opinion, should unite in this worthy object.

"Some time during the present month an executive budget will be presented to you. This budget will represent the expressed will of the people in the matter of State economy, and will carry into effect the purpose of the budget amendment adopted at the recent election.

"There is a demand for a more speedy trial of cases before the courts. The remedy seems to be in more activity on the part of the judiciary and less delay on the part of the attorneys. As the State pays part of the salaries of the Superior judges of the counties, the State has a right to insist upon efficient service and the resignation of those who become derelict or incompetent. The matter of simplifying court procedure should have your careful attention.

MUST CHECK LOBBYING

"Legislatures heretofore have succeeded in a measure in limiting and controlling lobbying. While you are supreme in this matter, the executive can assist you in checking a form of lobbying which is objectionable, and that is the attempt of State employees and members of boards and commissions to exert undue influence upon the members of the Legislature. At the last session of the Legislature there were State employees who spent weeks in Sacramento at State expense trying to influence and seeking to intimidate the members of the Legislature. Political bosses drawing State salaries and on State expense shocked the people of California by their brazen action. Some of these bosses are now in the employ of the corporations which they then opposed. If such employees are not needed in their various departments they should be removed from the pay roll. No State employee should come to Sacramento except upon the request of the Legislature or some of its committees, or upon official business. Employees residing in Sacramento should assist the Legislature when called upon, but should not assume the role of lobbyist.

"The Industrial Accident Commission has been a beneficial humane agency in safeguarding workmen and their families. This commission should be composed of strong, able, competent men who can and will do the great work placed in their charge. This commission must be protected and, if possible, put on a more efficient and systematic basis. In the buying of securities for investment for the compensation fund there should be a strict limit placed upon the character of the purchases so as to prevent speculation and the purchase of doubtful bonds and questionable stocks.

"The value of the direct primary law was signally demonstrated in the primary election when the great State political machine, aided by most of the county politicians, went down to defeat. The machine politicians were united in their opposition to good government, but the people by their votes showed they were tired of extravagance and boss rule.

"The education of the youth of the State is one of the most vital matters and, while California ranks high in educational standards, it should be our endeavor to have it rank still higher. Education should not be confined to book learning, but should embrace good morals, unselfish citizenship, manual training, thrift and loyalty to national ideals. The people are willing to contribute liberally to education because it promotes better citizenship, but they are not willing to have their money squandered. The educational departments of the State should be placed on an economical and efficient basis, waste should be eliminated and advocates of thrift should be placed in control.

SUPPORT ASKED

"You will undoubtedly join me in support of every possible aid to farmers, good roads, fair dealing to labor, oriental exclusion, justice to our war heroes and the protection of life and property. It is my purpose to remove from office the members of the present political machine, to substitute business for politics in State government, to abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, to restore efficiency to the various departments, to put highway construction in the hands of skilled road builders, to attend strictly to the business of my office and, while meeting all the necessary needs of the State, to save the people many millions of dollars. Your co-operation and support will be of inestimable aid to me in my plan and you undoubtedly realize that you are under the same obligations to the people and should be responsive to their wishes in as full a measure.

"California should be kept in the foremost ranks of the progressive States, all forward-looking legislation must be cherished and every effort should be exercised to extend those humane functions of government which will help mankind in their struggles.

"This message is submitted to you in the confident hope that you will seriously consider the suggestions and will give them expression in the legislation you may enact."

Executive Makes Inaugural Address

Friend W. Richardson,

ECONOMY REIGN BEGUN IN STATE

various points of his energetic remarks, and received particularly vociferous commendation when he guaranteed that the present Legislature shall be spared the annoyance and in certain instances the attempted intimidation of legislative members such as resulted from the active lobbying of prominent State officers and employees at the legislative session two years ago.

He promised that his economy budget, which is expected to request appropriations approximately $12,000,000 less than the biennial budget of $91,000,000 two years ago, will be presented "some time during the present month."

Following the inaugural ceremonies Gov. Richardson and Mrs. Richardson received congratulations and good wishes from several hundred men and women who formed a long line that wound into and out of the executive office.

The first official report to be submitted to the new Governor was that of the State Board of Equalization, recommending a tax on gasoline for the upkeep, repair and construction of highways; a tax on stages and trucks using highways for commercial purposes; and indicating that existing State tax rates should remain unchanged "if State expenditures are kept within the (anticipated) $80,000,000 income as intended."

Very little bitterness or apparent enmity existed in the Assembly today as a result of the energetic struggle for the Speakership that resulted yesterday in the final rout of the McCabe machine forces and the election of Speaker Merriam. In fact, a conciliatory attitude was manifested by many of the opposition members and the possibility of a harmonious session seemed promising.

Introduction of bills is expected to start tomorrow and lobbyists interested in various projects and measures are on the ground to perform the usual duties of the members of a "third house." Los Angeles legislators are particularly interested in proposed bills to increase the number of judges in Los Angeles county, and a measure proposing the organization of a complete four-year college course at the State University branch in Los Angeles.

STATE SENATE HANDS OUT SMALL PLUMS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Reorganization of the State Senate was perfected late today with the appointment of dozens of minor attaches. Temporary attaches named by the chief clerk of the Assembly will continue their duties until a committee list can be compiled.

G. Melvin Warren of Santa Clara was named assistant secretary of the Senate. Other appointees included Lillian J. Boyd and Beatrice B. Rheinstom, assistant secretaries; W. T. Christensen, desk assistant; John Brice, Lillian Burger and Rowena Crowley, assistant minute clerks; W. W. Van Pelt, engrossing and enrolling clerk; J. J. MacDonald, history clerk, and Gladys Pomeroy, file clerk.

OSTEOPATH BOARD OF STATE IS ORGANIZED

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—The new State Board of Osteopathic Examiners, appointed by Gov. Stephens under the terms of the Initiative Act adopted last November, today completed orranization and its members planned to leave for their homes after the inauguration ceremonies.

The board included Harry W. Forbes of Los Angeles, president; Dain L. Tasker of Los Angeles, vice-president; Lester R. Daniels of Sacramento, secretary, and W. W. Vanderburgh of San Francisco and Norman F. Sprague of Los Angeles. Messrs. Forbes and Sprague were named for three-year terms, Messrs. Vanderburgh and Tasker for two years and Dr. Daniels for one year.

SAN FRANCISCO BANK MERGER IS PLANNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—A step toward the amalgamation of the Security Bank and Trust Company and the American National Bank, two of the most important financial institutions in the city, has been taken through an offer of P. E. Boyles, chairman of the board of directors of the American National Bank, to buy the controlling stock of the Security company, it was officially announced today. The institutions, if merged, will have assets in excess of $31,000,000.

FIGHT ON RIVER PACT IS OPENED

Arizona Senate Argues on Proposed Legislation

Granting of Power Permit Starts Battle

Patronage Much Discussed in Both Houses

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Jan. 9.—The first shot in the expected controversy over the Colorado River pact and river power problems was fired in the Senate this morning by Mr. Roberts of Cochise, who offered a resolution condemning State Water Commissioner W. S. Norvisl, a Republican holdover, for granting a State permit to the Diamond Creek power project, one in which the Calumet & Arizona and other large Arizona mining corporations are interested.

The resolution abounded in phrases such as "unseemly haste and surreptitiously, without permission of the Legislature," and "being in furtherance of a power grab by private interests and a perversion of benefits of the river, subjecting the people to outrageous and profiteering charges."

AUTHORITY EXCEEDED

The commissioner was declared to have exceeded his authority and to have acted in an unconsidered and premature way, his action tending to delay settlement of the river problems. The resolution proposes to advise the Federal authorities and Congress that the permit is disapproved as one the commissioner had no power to issue, in view of the national and State laws. The matter went over for a day and probably will be sent to a special committee that shall consider all Colorado River bills and resolutions, including the pact.

There is doubt whether the mover of the resolution is hitting at the pact or merely is acting in opposition to the mining corporations of his county. Little was done in either house save wrestle with the patronage, the House indicating its trend toward economy by the naming of about forty clerks and attaches. The Senate thus far has named only eighteen, but is not through with the job. Most of the appointees are women. In the House was formal adjournment in respect to the memory of former members Goodwin and Neal, both of whom died during the past few months in auto accidents.

APPOINTMENTS MADE

The Governor has named Dr. F. T. Fahlen as State health officer, to succeed Dr. A. M. Tuthill, colonel of the Arizona regiment in the late war. Dr. Fahlen was a surgeon in the war and has had public service in St. Louis. He will make the office a full-time one, covering the whole State. The State school board was reorganized by appointment of C. R. Tupper of the Miami High School, W. E. Lutz of the Morenci common schools and School Superintendent A. L. Jones of Maricopa county. The new fair commission was organized by election of Doane Bird of Nogales as president; W. T. Webb of Phoenix, secretary, and Joe Dillon of Prescott, as active secretary. Dillon lately left office as United States Marshal for Arizona.

BOARD REPORTS ON TAX ISSUE

Levy on Gasoline and Trucks is Recommended

With "Richardson" Economy Rate is High Enough

Equalization Body Asserts Conditions Favorable

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. — The State Board of Equalization today submitted its biennial report to Gov. Richardson, together with recommendations and comment on taxation matters.

The report recommends a State tax on gasoline; it recommends a tax on stages and trucks using State highways for commercial purposes; and it says that if the State expenditures are kept within Gov. Richardson's pre-election figures of $80,000,000, no rate changes need be considered at this session of the Legislature. This, the report explains, is a desirable situation, because the whole question of rates of taxation against corporations is now in litigation before the Federal courts, and the decision will clear the way for future legislation; while any attempted present changes could not be made with full knowledge of what the courts may hold.

The department promised an estimate of State income for the approaching biennium, and reported that the total taxes from corporations were $33,954,544.48 in 1921, and $34,706,136.27 in 1922. Discussing new departures elsewhere the report says:

NEW REVENUE SOURCES

"Many of the States are adding new sources of revenue to their taxation systems, not so much for the purpose of increasing the amount of that revenue, as for the expressed purpose of more equitably distributing the burden of government and requiring these classes responsible for increased expenditures in certain directions to contribute a part of the increase, and for the relief in some instances of the general property tax.

"Among such sources are the personal income tax, the tax on motor fuels and the tax on motor vehicle transportation of passengers and freight. The former has for its recommendation the fact that it makes available as a revenue producer, the large incomes and consequent ability to pay of many persons having such incomes, and yet contributing little or not anything, in some instances, to governmental costs because owning no property.

"This tax is usually adopted for the purpose of the relief of the property tax and is distributed in quite a large percentage at least to the local taxing jurisdiction.

ABOUT GASOLINE TAX

"The motor vehicle tax or tax on gasoline as a source of revenue has had its beginning only since the demand for more and better roads has increased expenditures so largely in that direction. The use of motor vehicles has increased 1000 per cent since 1910, says the 'Western Highway Builder.'

"The development of motor vehicle transportation has advanced so rapidly that the question of a proper tax to be applied to this new transportation, for the purpose of requiring therefrom an equitable portion of the increased expenditure occasioned by its development, has not kept pace with it.

"The fundamental question which is being discussed by the States in this relation is 'What part of the cost of highways shall be borne by the users of those highways?' Insofar as the use of the motor vehicle involves unusual or special governmental costs for road purposes not occasioned by the use of other vehicles, such for instance as speed control or traffic regulations, there seems to be no difference of opinion as to the equity of charging such expenditures to the motor vehicle users.

ANOTHER ANGLE

"On the other hand, the large expenditure occasioned by the construction and maintenance and more expensive type of road, place a somewhat difficult relation between State revenue from motor vehicles and such additional cost. Unquestionably, the motor vehicle has played a large part in the influence behind better road construction. This follows logically since the relative percentage of benefit to be derived from better road conditions is much greater with the motor driven vehicle than is true of the former means of transportation."

On the general taxation situation, the report says:

"The values reported to this department by the utility companies, income reports and other data of record with the California Railroad Commission and stock and bond values determined, when considered in connection with the investigations set forth herein show that the relative burden of tax on the classes of property taxed under the different systems has undergone comparatively little change since the last rate adjustment.

RAILROADS FIGHT

"The Southern Pacific Company and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company in actions brought in the Federal Court are seeking to avoid the tax rate increase fixed by the 1921 Legislature. This litigation involves the whole question of rate consideration, the methods to be used and the values to be considered, as well as the necessity or otherwise for the comparison.

"Since these cases go to the fundamental principles of the rate question and will, no doubt be decided before another session of the Legislature, and if as appears to be true, the State will with the economies introduced by Gov. Richardson be able to keep its expenditures within approximately $80,000,000 of available income for the next biennium, it seems inadvisable to contemplate any rate charges at this session."

The report is signed by the five members of the board, R. E. Collins, John C. Corbett, John Mitchell, H. G. Cattell and Ray L. Riley, State Controller.

STEPHENS SAYS FOUNDATION SET

Final Message is Received by Legislature

Asserts California Facing Brightest Prospects

Urges Further Steps in Aid of All Veterans

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9. — William D. Stephens, retiring Governor of California, in his third biennial message to the Legislature here today, said California is "confronted with the prospect of an unprecedented development and expansion, for which the foundations have been well and truly laid."

The high spots of the retiring Governor's message may be summarized as follows:

Prohibition enforcement: He pronounced the Wright Act as now the law of the State, due to be enforced by all officers of the law.

Oriental problem: The retiring executive urged the Legislature to provide a law for the registration of all persons residing in the State who are ineligible to citizenship, which means all orientals, and to press Congress for the passage of an exclusion act against all such people.

Veterans' welfare: He recommended that the Legislature take further steps to extend the same privileges of the veterans' welfare program to the able-bodied veterans as well as the wounded and disabled.

STATE EXPENSES

State expenditures: Gov. Stephens stated that the total amount of his budget of 1921, including all appropriations and fixed charges, was $88,211,823, which was reduced by the action of the Board of Control in a saving of $1,500,000 in appropriations and by refunding $2,900,000 by the Veterans' Welfare board to the general fund under the act of 1921, providing for $10,000,000 bonds. This makes, according to Gov. Stephens, an actual bond expenditure for the two years of $83,811,823.

Agriculture: Gov. Stephens stresses the importance of plant quarantine in protecting the fruit industries of the State from destruction by plant pests, such as the Mediterannean fruit fly, the alfalfa weevil, the white-pine blister rust, and other pests that would destroy our valuable plant life if our borders were not guarded by close inspection of all shipping and all railroad freight for contraband material.

WELFARE LAWS

Women's and children's welfare: The retiring Governor's message recommends the Legislature to amend the community property law with proper safeguards to business stability and responsibility to enable women to make testamentary disposal of their share of community property. The minimum wage for child labor in State trades has been increased under Gov. Stephens's approval, the message says, and the State aid to needy children has been increased so that about $1,300,000 a year is now expended for this purpose.

Colorado River compact: Governor Stephens recommends the Legislatire to ratify the compact entered into by representatives of California and six other States concerning the division and apportionment of the use of the waters of the Colorado River system. He recommends the ratification, he says, "believing as I do that it will contribute largely to the conservation and early development of an extensive area within the State of California and to the other important ends described in the compact."

State prosperity: The prosperity in California is illustrated in Gov. Stephens message by his reference to the banking situation, with 2,531,624 depositors in the State banks, savings and commercial, of $1,657,940,000, an increase in five years of $728,716,000, and an increase in one year of $161,904,000.

STATE DEPARTMENTS

Administrative reorganization: In his review of administrative conditions, Gov. Stephens outlined the governmental reorganization of 1919 and 1921, by which some sixty-three State agencies were consolidated into six major departments, in which are involved 85 per cent of all the State's expenditures.

State highways: Speaking of the State highway system, Gov. Stephens says: "One of the problems before the State is whether the limited extent of highway mileage is to be made available by moderate cost per mile for the rural and mountainous sections of the State, which are the most needy and susceptible of development, or whether the State's funds should be expended on a much smaller and more centralized area of highway improvement.

"Upon the determination of this problem rests the policy as to the character and expense of highway pavements to be built. Believing that the proceeds of highway bonds hitherto authorized by the vote of the people of the entire State should be applied as widely as possible, I have favored the construction of our highways at a moderate cost per mile, thereby securing greater mileage at the same total outlay than could be secured by the initial construction of heavier and wider pavements.

CAN BE SALVAGED

"Moreover, it has been established that these pavements of moderate cost, when thicker and wider pavements are required, can be salvaged at from 75 to 90 per cent of their original cost."

BURGLAR JOB NETS HIM PENNY

Fresno County Deputies Join Salary Cut Fight

Chinese Wife of Four Years is Granted Divorce

Old-Age Pension Advocated by Eagles' Chief

FRESNO, Jan. 9. — Fresno's "bungling burglar" has apparently been at it again. Some nights ago he attacked three strong boxes and got 1 cent for his pains. Yesterday it was discovered that he, or another equally as ill-starred, had opened the safe of Lewis & Cassidy, 102 Broadway, and taken $3 in silver, overlooking a bag containing $75 that carelessly had been thrown into the receptacle. The thief also got a lock box containing non-negotiable papers.

FIGHT SALARY CUT

Deputies in Fresno county offices, nearly 100 of whom for two months have endured salary reductions ranging from $25 to $200 a month, yesterday joined in a fight to recover the forfeited pay. They subscribed $60 to a fund being raised in many parts of the State to help fight the test action recently filed in Alameda county, attacking the Supreme Court decision that ousted county workers and cut county salaries in numerous localities.

The ruling was in effect that county pay increases and jobs added since 1917 were illegal. Twenty-five county workers lost their jobs here under this interpretation of the law and scores since have worked at lowered salaries or for no salary at all.

Yesterday the situation to which the ruling applied ceased to exist and the status that existed prior to the ruling was restored.

OLD AGE PENSION

Advocating the old-age pension plan, Col. Herbert Choynski of San Francisco, national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, yesterday addressed the Fresno Rotary Club. He declared more than 80 per cent of people in homes for the aged are there through no fault of their own. Old-age pension bills are being introduced before several State legislatures this year, he said.

CHINESE DIVORCE

Quai How, four years ago a bride in tradition-fettered China, today is a divorcee according to the most up-to-date pattern in free America. She was granted an interlocutory decree yesterday by Superior Judge S. L. Strother, on the ground of desertion. Yee Lung Fong, her missing spouse, left her here two years ago, she said. She is 26 years old.

DIVIDE BOOTLEG FINES

To gather evidence against bootleggers, Fresno spent an average of $12.24 for each arrest made in December, according to the monthly report of Chief of Police Frank Truax, filed yesterday with the City Commission. Eighty-one arrests were made under the liquor ordinance and the Wright Act.

A conviction now normally calls for a fine of $259 under the city law and $1 under the Wright Act—the former for revenue and the latter to establish a first offense for possible future prosecutions under the State statute.

NEW SCOUT EXECUTIVE

Glenn O. Everman, Scout executive at El Paso, Tex., until he recently accepted an appointment to manage Boy Scout affairs in Fresno, took up his duties here yesterday after an 1100-mile automobile trip from the Lone Star State. Acting Scoutmaster Elroy A. Thomas of Fresno is soon to go to Visalia to take charge of Scout affairs in Tulare county.

Asserts Lover Fled With Cash and Her Jewels

Quick co-operation of the police of two cities led to the arrest last night in Kansas City of Arthur E. Ferns, wanted here on a charge of grand larceny.

Ferns is said to have taken cash and jewelry valued at $220 from Mrs. Emma Rudolph, 1237 West Seventh street. The couple were to be married soon, according to Mrs. Rudolph, who swore out the complaint.

Telling his fiance that he would call her up in an hour, Ferns left the house last Saturday morning on a trip to town. When two hours passed and he had not called, Mrs. Rudolph reported her suspicions to the police. She said that she knew of the money and jewelry being in Fern's possession, but had trusted him implicitly.

Detective Sergt. Trainor, who investigated the case, found that the fleeing lover had taken a train to Kansas City. He wired ahead to the Kansas City police and the arrest followed. Ferns now is being held for return to this city.

Costs Money to Smoke in This Court

Lady Nicotine, well known in tobacco circles, is unwelcome in Judge Burnell's Superior Court, as he has demonstrated on past occasions.

Yesterday's victim of the aromatic Havana leaf was Attorney Luchen Gray. He placed a cigar in his mouth at a rakish angle while sitting at the counsel table.

"Five dollars fine for contempt of court," said Judge Burnell.

STEAM SHOVEL NOISE DELAYS I.W.W. TRIAL

SIX JURORS OBTAINED FOR CRIMINAL SYNDICALISM HEARINGS

Attempts of the asserted I.W.W.'s on trial charged with criminal syndicalism in Judge Shenk's court, to question talesmen in competition with a steam shovel operating outside, slowed up proceedings considerably yesterday, but at the conclusion of the day three jurors had been accepted, making six in all.

"I'll have to ask a repetition of those questions," said Judge Shenk on several occasions, when the shovel was more than ordinarily obtrusive, "steam seems to be more powerful than the human voice."

There are eight men on trial. They are being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. McCartney and Moroney.

PAINTERS TO MEET

State Officials to Arrive in City During the Day

The annual Master House Painters' and Decorators' Association meeting will be held in Los Angeles at the Walker Auditorium on the 11th, 12th and 13th insts., it was announced yesterday by A. M. Graff of the local union. A. Labhard, president of the State association, and Max Cohn, State treasurer, will arrive today from San Francisco. Headquarters for the convention will be at the Rosslyn.

"SCOTS" TO INSTALL

Members of the Caledonian Club will install new officers next Friday night at Roosevelt Hall, 730 South Grand avenue. The new officers are: William B. Kennedy, president; Alexander Black, pipe major; John McColl, treasurer; Oscar Ewing, corresponding secretary; Thomas Macfarland, recording secretary, and Joseph Goushaw, financial secretary. All "Scots" are invited.

LUGO MAY GET NEW POST

Lower California Governor Probably Will Resume Duties as Sub-Secretary of State

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI (Lower California) Jan. 9.—It is probable that Jose Inocente Lugo, Governor of the northern district of Lower California, will be recalled to Mexico City to resume his duties as Sub-secretary of the Interior, and in that event in it considered likely that the entire political machinery of the Territory will be reorganized.

Gov. Lugo's administration as Civil Governor has been highly successful; as an engineer he has accomplished many needed improvements and set others in motion toward completion. But it is said that the Mexican government intends to return to the original theory of territorial management, which is by a Governor with both military and civil authority, and in this case Gen. Jesus M. Ferreira, present military commander of the Territory, doubtless will become civil as well as military head of the district.

CHANGES PENDING

Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, now Secretary of the Interior, is reported ill and planning to go to the United States to undergo a major operation. In fact the subsecretary, Senor Valenzuela, already is in charge of the office. If Gen. Calles leaves Mexico, Senor Valenzuela will become Secretary, and Gov. Lugo will be recalled to become undersecretary, a post he held until his appointment to the Governorship of the local district.

Until the administration of Venustiano Carranza, the two Mexican territories, Lower California and Quintana Roo, were governed by executives with both military and civil powers, one to conduct the affairs of the southern territory and two for Lower California, because of its two political districts. President Carranza, however, installed the system of a civil Governor and a military commander, exactly as a State is governed. It is said that a return to the joint authority would be within the spirit of Mexican law. That it has not been undertaken before is because of the great service Gov. Lugo has rendered to the district under his civil charge.

ADMINISTRATION SUCCESS

Gen. Ferreira formerly was Governor of Nayarit (formerly Tepic,) recently succeeding Gen. Pablo Macias Guitterez, transferred to another post after a political wrangle which resulted in the arrest of twelve officials and one-time officials of Mexicali. These were released upon the intervention of Gen. Angel Flores, military commander in the northwestern military zone.

Gov. Lugo will leave the district in the most thriving condition it has enjoyed in its history. Although vast sums have been expended in improving the district, and two loans, one of $100,000 to the neighboring States of Sonora and Nayarit, there remains some $1,000,000 in gold in the Territorial treasury, which is considered the highest testimonial of the Governor's good conduct of his office.

CONVICTED MURDERER ARRAIGNED

Herbert Wilson in Court to Face Charges Growing Out of Jail Break

An echo of the daring escape of Herbert Wilson, convicted murderer, and two others from the County Jail on last October 17 and their recapture a day later, was heard yesterday in Judge Shenk's Superior Court when Wilson was arraigned on two charges growing out of the escape.

Wilson and Guido Spingola are accused of assault with intent to kill Henry C. Purrier, a turnkey on duty at the time, and of the robbery of L. M. Story, a postoffice clerk, of a $300 car. Wilson was arraigned and was given until the 12th inst. to plead.

Wilson, Spingola and Adam Ward escaped from the jail, held up Story and forced him to drive them about until evening. The next day Sheriff Traeger with police officers and deputies captured all three. Ward, convicted of murder, was sent to San Quentin, and later Spingola was convicted of robbery and sent to prison. Wilson has appealed his case and is awaiting a decision.

MINERAL LAND CLAIM DECLARED VACATED

DECIDED THAT SESPE CANYON ENTRY WAS NOT MADE IN GOOD FAITH

Finding that George W. Henley had not made a mineral entry in the Sespe Canyon, Ventura county, in good faith Register Valentine and Receiver Smith of the local land office, yesterday, decided the action brought by the government to vacate the claim of Henley, in favor of the plaintiff in the action.

Henley settled in the Sespe Canyon as far back as 1887, when he made a mineral entry under the placer mining laws, and received a patent. Later he located 153 acres, under the mineral laws, and this entry was at issue.

It is asserted the Henley entry ran across the only road leading into the upper reaches of the canyon, and that he levied a charge of one dollar a day upon hunters and fishermen who desired to visit the canyon. It was shown that Henley had done no assessment work on the claim in five years, and that there was no discovery of mineral. On Henley's first entry there is a fine deposit of building stone.

WAR VETERAN DIES

A. C. Garrett Enlisted in Ohio to Fight Secession

August C. Garrett, 80 years of age, Civil War veteran, passed away yesterday morning at the Soldiers' Home Hospital at Sawtelle. He was a resident of this city for more than fifteen years, coming here from Sandusky, O. He was born in Lebanon, O., and served as color sergeant in the One Hundred and Twenty-third Ohio Voluntary Infantry during the entire Civil War. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Maria Garrett, and a son, Percy C. Garrett, both of this city. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 9 a.m., at the home.

LETTUCE INDUSTRY ON MAP

Federal Bureau to Supply Information on Subject Starts Functioning

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 9.—An important step in the development of marketing conditions and organized method has been started in this city with the opening here this morning of a market bureau for lettuce under the supervision of the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economy.

The office here is in charge of W. H. Hall, government expert in crop marketing activities and quotations. The office will handle the most complete market reports in the country on lettuce shipments. Production, prices, destination of shipments, diversions and general information on conditions of the crop in general. Complete reports will be handled for the benefit of anyone interested from the cities of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Los Angeles will be the only Western Coast city represented at present. Wires will be received at the market bureau here by Mr. Hall and information dispatched to all parts of the country by wire in return for the asking of any question relative to the lettuce industry in Imperial Valley.

UPSHAW OUT TO "DRY" THEM UP

Georgia Representative Says He'll Expose Drinkers

Vigorously Denounces Liquor Law Violators

Proposes to Put Officials on Water Wagon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Representative Upshaw, Democrat, Georgia, today revived his crusade to put high government officials and members of Congress on the water wagon with new and still more terrifying threats to expose statesman who drink liquor banned by the Volstead Act. He served notice on the House that from now on he would turn over to the prohibition enforcement officers the names of such members of Congress as he catches imbibing intoxicating liquor. He promised to begin by turning in the name of a high official, not a diplomat, who returned from abroad recently with more than twenty cases of "hard liquor" marked "Diplomatic."

"I have seen with my own eyes some of the highest officials in Washington, not members of either branch of Congress, lifting the devilish bottle to their lips," said Mr. Upshaw. "No dry official will stand up and declare an alibi because his reputation does not make it necessary; and the drinking ones will not dare deny—for there were other witnesses besides me.

APPROVAL GIVEN

"And as for members of this House, God knows I find no pleasure in this disclosure, but the bright daughter of one of the best men in Congress said to me 'We are with you. I wish you could stop liquor selling and drinking in this House office building.' And here is a signed letter that says 'A professional bootlegger told me a year ago the House office building furnishes my best customers—and as long as those blankety-blanks keep buying I am going to keep on selling.' I have reported him several times, but they let him pay a fine and he goes right back to bootlegging. He does nothing else.'

"I want to say, gentlemen, that any judge who will continue to become such a conscienceless vampire to suck the heart blood of any community is not fit to be judge of a coop of chickens. And the man, Congressman or other high official, who sneakingly helps that scoundrel to damn the youth of any country, is unworthy to hold any office beneath the flag.

"Why do I not furnish their names to this House today? This House of Representatives is not a justice court; this Congress is not a police matinee. This is not the tribunal to act on these names and offenses. But I declare to you here and now that all the evidence that is put into my hands from this day will be promptly turned over to Federal and local officers; and with this evidence I will turn in the name of a high official (not a diplomat) who returned from abroad some time ago with more than a score of cases of foreign liquor marked 'Diplomatic.'"

Replying to demands from northern newspapers that he join in the enforcement of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments in the South, Mr. Upshaw said:

"The worst that can be said of that violation is the fact that it means and only means that the political affairs of that section are in the hands of the intelligent white people there and will remain in their hands from now until judgment day."

He denounced Gov. Smith of New York and declared: "He could not pull into the White House on a keg of beer."

DANCER'S HUSBAND DIES OF PNEUMONIA

"BUD" JOHNSON'S SPECTACULAR CAREER WOUND UP BY DEATH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Albert L. "Bud" Johnson, of the late Albert L. Johnson, former president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company and nephew of Tom L. Johnson, Cleveland's former traction reform mayor, who in 1921 startled society by marrying Peggy Marsh, English dancer, died of pneumonia this morning.

His wife had returned last November to London and now is dancing at Ciro's and living at the Hotel Savoy in the English capital.

Attending physicians said today that Mr. Johnson's death was hastened by a wound in his intestines, which he received when he was shot during a party last September on Lake Chateaugay in the Adirondacks, at the camp of Jack Clifford, former dancing partner of Evelyn Nesbit.

From the time of the spectacular runaway marriage of "Bud" Johnson and Peggy Marsh, who had sued the Marshall Field estate for an income for her 5-year-old son, who she claimed was the son of the late Henry Field, the couple had often been prominently mentioned in the news.

DOCTOR IS PARDONED; MUST LEAVE STATE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Gov. Stephens today announced that he had granted a pardon to William S. Card, a physician of San Francisco now serving a term at San Quentin State prison, following conviction of performing an illegal operation. The pardon was granted on condition that Card leave the State.

Card was convicted of second-degree murder. Recommendations in his behalf were made by Frank H. Kerrigan, then of the Court of Appeals at San Francisco; Superior Judge George H. Cabaniss, former Dist.-Atty. Fickert, Dist.-Atty. Brady, U. S. Senator Shortridge and many others, the Governor's office said.

The pardon was granted on a claim that the presiding judge at the trial in 1918 barred testimony, which it was declared, would have shown that the asserted illegal operation was legal. Card has been in prison four and one-half years.

The Path of the Hurricane

by Octavus Roy Cohen

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Billy Hurley, 18, receives his first introduction to professional boxing when he substitutes against Jerry Taylor, a veteran with an ample supply of the game's tricks, at a New York boxing show [illegible]. For four rounds Billy sees nothing but gloves and very little of them when his right could wreath and clobber for the evening, but his aggressive spirit remains much in evidence. Joe Carney, top-notcher and runner-up for the heavyweight crown, observes the slaughter from the ringside and marvels at the boy's nerve. He decides to spend [illegible] the young whirlwind, and [illegible] through his advice Billy starts for strength and wins the verdict. Jerry [illegible] for his fatal ten pounds [illegible] Carney recognizes in Billy the qualities of a champion, and although it is his own cherished dream to [illegible] he [illegible] his case, he agrees to train the youth for that very purpose. Billy accepts, and in a year's time he is [illegible] Carney [illegible] to himself to [illegible] Hurley of the one-time [illegible] with a list of [illegible] opponents to his credit, [illegible] Hurricane Hurley, the little [illegible] Carney [illegible] a [illegible] championship, he knows that [illegible] from the start was at an end, but for [illegible] [illegible] decides to [illegible] Billy with Carney before risking his [illegible] to the dangerous Hurricane. The pair [illegible] and [illegible] a startling [illegible] record [illegible] shows that his [illegible] efforts have been [illegible] and his hopes now rested on his [illegible] protégé. It was [illegible] the Madison Square [illegible] is staged, and the following day the world acclaims a new champion.

That night the new champion of the world escaped from his frantic admirers, and he and Joe Carney repaired to a little restaurant where they ordered bowls of oyster stew. They were seated at the same table where, nearly three years before, they had formed their friendship. Then the boy had gazed upon the great Joe Carney with eyes of worship. Now it was Joe who openly admired.

Opposite him sat the heavyweight champion of the world. To Joe Carney that title meant more than Hurricane Hurley could ever understand. And the boy smiled back into the eyes of his friend—as one smiles at one's father.

Three months later Hurley gave Bull Robinson his return fight. It was a hard battle, and for six rounds the ex-champion gave as good as he received. From then until the end of the tenth it was all Hurley — a mere question of whether he could finish his perfectly trained, thoroughly game opponent before the end of the fifteenth. He did finish him in the eleventh; straightened him with a short left, feinted with the right, and then crashed the same fist home to the side of Robinson's jaw.

"The one-one!" breathed Joe after the fight, "Gosh! you shoot that home like a streak of lightnin,' kid."

"It's your punch, Joe."

"Aw, thunder! I never could use it like you do."

Immediately after the second Robinson fight, Hurricane Hurley set pugilistic precedent at naught and threw open the list to all comers. Of course he made a vaudeville appearance and even consented to appear in a moving picture—all of which enabled him to salt away a sizable fortune. And whenever Joe Carney fought, which was frequently, the champion of the world wielded the towel in his pal's corner.

He seconded Joe Carney the night Joe fought a third battle with the rapidly skidding Bull Robinson. Carney won the fight that night—won it with a knockout in the fourteenth round. "It's like I've always said, kid," he told Hurley after the fight. "It's only the champs I've never been able to lick. . . . However—" And Joe Carney, veteran, sighed.

Hurley, meanwhile, kept in the pink of condition, and he accommodated all comers. His record was sensational. And before he attained his twenty-first birthday, Hurricane Hurley had fought himself out of a job. Even a willingness to do battle avails a champion nothing when there is no one to fight him. And so it was that Joe Carney and Champion Hurricane Hurley went for a trip into the mountains, and while there Carney breached the subject of what-next.

"They've sort of forced it on you, kid."

"Forced what?"

"The thing you said you'd never do."

Hurley's face clouded. "Retirement?"

"Uh-huh! You've got it to do. There aint a man left fit to put up a scrap with you. There aint nothin' for you to do but quit the game."

"Hm! Thats been worryin' me for a long time, Joe. You know, I hate to do it. I used to say it before I was champion, and I'm stickin' to it. I aint keen for this retirin' stuff. 'Cause why? 'Cause about five years from now, when Ive gotten soft, some bird'll come along and make a hit, and then the public'll start yellin' for me to come back—and I'll do it. I'll do it, Joe, because it aint in me to refuse."

"You're retired, anyway," argued Joe. "So what's the dif? Why not make it public—and then give me your word that you'll never try to come back? You wouldn't break your word to me, kid; now, would you?"

"No."

"Then why not—"

"Because it aint in me, Joe. Come a likely-lookin' scrapper to rise up, an' I'd be fair miserable until I got a crack at him. If I could lick him—fine! If he could lick me, he's entitled to it. The public aint never been keen about these gift champs. It can't be done, Joe."

"Just the same, I wish you would."

"Retire?"

"Uh-huh!"

Silence settled between them. Finally Hurley turned and held the other's eyes with his. "I'll do it, Joe—on one condition."

"What's that?"

"You retire with me!"

"Aw, say!" Joe Corney grinned affectionately. "I can't do it kid."

"Why not?"—belligerently.

Carney shrugged. "I aint got the jack, that's why."

"Rats! Aint I got about four hundred thousand salted away? I guess you and I aint gonna starve to death on that, are we?"

"Sure! You have it, kid—but that aint me."

"Aint it? I'd like to know why it aint? Don't you suppose that I know that half of what I've got is yours by rights. Aint you been my manager, aside from everything else—and don't managers get a fifty-fifty split? And even if you hadn't made me the champ, don't you reckon you'd own half of what I've got?"

Joe Carney stared away at the hills in the distance, but he didn't see them very clearly. "You're a good kid, Billy. But it don't mean nothin'. I aint gonna touch a cent of your money—an' you know it. An' I aint got enough of my own to quit the game. Oh, I'm savin', an' in a few years more, just about the time my wind goes an' I slow up an' the snap gets outa my punches, I'll have enough to retire. Then we'll get us a place up in the woods somewhere an' just sort of take it easy, eh?"

The eyes of Hurricane Hurley narrowed. "You're a rotten friend, Joe."

"Aw, say, kid."

"I mean it. Here I've got a fortune stuck away, an'—"

"Let's don't talk about that any more, kid. I just wouldn't be happy. I'm just built that way. But we weren't talkin' about me, anyway. I'm all right. What I want to see you do is to retire."

"Not till I'm licked. I'd never stay retired."

"Just think what it'd mean, kid. You'd be known as long as books was printed as the only undefeated heavyweight champion of the world. You've given the public a run—best they've ever had. Retirement is comin' to you. You don't ever need to be forced back into the ring."

"You quit with me," persisted Hurley doggedly, "an' I'll do it. Otherwise not."

Carney shook his head. "Can't be done, kid. You know."

"Just a question of money, ain't it, Joe?"

"Uh-huh! That's all."

"An' if you had, say, fifty thousand more, you'd do it, eh?"

"Sure I would. But I ain't gettin' fifty thousand all in a bunch."

"Yes, you are," Hurricane Hurley was no longer staring at his friend. His eyes were focused on a large poplar in the valley below them. Sure, you're goin' to get fifty thousand, Joe—and you're gonna get it all in one lump."

Carney laid his hand gently on the other's arm. "I can't take it, kid, I've told you."

"Who's askin' you to take any money? I ain't."

"But you said—"

"I said you could get fifty thousand dollars in one lump, and I meant it."

"Sounds crazy—" He paused. "What you drivin' at, kid?"

For several seconds Hurricane Hurley did not speak. And when he did, his voice was very low, and he refused to meet the eyes of his friend.

"Some promoter will be willin' to give you that as your end of the purse—as your end—when"—he gulped—"when you fight me for the championship!"

"Oh!"

Then Joe Carney also fell silent. In a near-by tree a mockingbird broke into full-throated song. A woodpecker, inspired, rapped a tattoo on the trunk of an old tree. The soft quiet of spring enfolded the scene; far off to the left a wisp of smoke rose above the village and floated lazily.

AMERICAN AID TO EUROPE IS PROPOSED

SENATOR CAPPER DECLARES FARMERS' INTEREST REQUIRE HELP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Proposals for American aid toward settlement of European economic problems were indorsed in the Senate today by Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, chairman of the Farm Bloc, who said American farming interests require stability in Europe to afford a market for American agricultural products.

Secretary Hughes's plan for an investigating commission would "prepare the way for a world economic conference," declared Senator Capper, who also declared himself in favor of Senator Borah's recent conference proposal.

"A world economic and armament limiting conference," said Senator Capper, "to be called at an early date seems to be the only practicable means to be invoked for preventing war-wrecked Europe from going on the rocks and plunging us all into economic chaos. We cannot imitate the ostrich and maintain that there is no crisis to ourselves and the world growing out of the European unsettlement.

"Any plan looking toward the solution of the European conference tangle," he said, "would probably benefit the farmer sooner than any other American producer. His markets are demoralized by existing conditions. Fifteen per cent of our farm output must find a market outside of the United States if we are to save our farm industry and properly maintain our own food supply. A revival of export demand would be of immense and immediate benefit to the agricultural West."

Senator Johnson, Republican, California in a brief observation said that Senator Capper, in opposing obligations, commitments or cancellation of the Allied debt, left nothing else but good advice to be offered Europe.

MORSE ASKS AID TO OBTAIN WITNESSES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The government was requested today by Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder, to aid him in obtaining as witnesses, at his trial here in February on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Shipping Board, a number of men who, he said, are informed as to his transactions with the board during the war. Among those specified by Morse are William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and Charles M. Schwab and Gen. G. W. Goethals, both of whom were Emergency Fleet Corporation officials. Counsel for Morse said government co-operation was sought for fear the ordinary court subpoena might not reach the men.

BOAT BUILDERS HAVE LOAN ASSOCIATION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 9.—A "building and loan association" for boat builders has been organized in Santa Barbara by the local yacht club. In order to foster interest in aquatic sports in the Santa Barbara Channel, the wealthy members of the club have started the fund with $1000 and will add to this amount when demand for loans make it necessary.

The plan is to loan the boat builder three-quarters of the cost of building his boat.

MAYBELLE ROE NEAR COLLAPSE AT TRIAL

Judge McCormick adjourned court early yesterday in the trial of Maybelle Roe, charged with the murder of McCullough Graydon, Venice realty man. Mrs. Roe was in an upset condition and was on the verge of fainting throughout the session in Superior Court. Testimony yesterday was given by Clarence L. Atkins, an eyewitness to the slaying.

THE MISTAKES OF THE KAISER

AN ANSWER TO THE KAISER'S MEMOIRS

BY RENE VIVIANI

Premier of France When the War Broke Out

[Copyright, 1923, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

GERMANY'S "DANGER OF WAR"

No, the die was not yet cast—not even at that supreme moment! It was still possible to save all.

For a mobilization, even when it is a general mobilization, depends, in so far as the peril which it occasions is concerned, directly upon the warlike or peaceful intentions underlying it. Russia had given proof twice in succession of her ardent desire to preserve peace and continue negotiations—the first time, by means of her partial mobilization, which she herself suspended; the second by her general mobilization, which was forced upon her.

But how was one to negotiate if the negotiator, on the threshold of the various foreign offices of the powers, felt no support for his moral authority, which is derived in large part from material authority, and was confronted by the representatives of a nation in arms. Now, Austria was in arms and, up to then, had said nothing. She had not protested against mobilization. On the contrary, she continued, on the very day of mobilization, to discuss—and, though actuated in this by only partially honest motives, she, nevertheless, did not break off negotiations. A strange paradox—she did not declare war against Russia until some days after the invasion of Belgium! Hence, there was still a possibility for each nation to maintain its rights peacefully, though each had taken precautionary measures and each was more or less perturbed.

PEACE DESIRED

In any event, whether peace was possible or not, there existed the desire to bring it about. The Entente did not lose courage and, owing to its tenacious determination, peace was sought, although there was imminent danger in Europe of an explosion at any moment. Posterity will stand aghast in contemplation of this useless meeting of men of good faith with the others. The latter, hard pressed by the forces of the conscience of humanity, backed up by reason, were now forced to abandon, momentarily the silence agreed upon among them and strike the criminal blow from behind.

QUESTION OF INTERVENTION

For the moment all hinged, it must be admitted, upon English intervention. Russia, preserving her calm and her dignity in the face of threats, had made an immense effort toward conciliation and had accepted all the Franco-English proposals. As for us, we had exhausted all our efforts without having had the slightest effect on Vienna, and we had been even less successful with Berlin. However, England, upright and prudent, had let it be understood that bullying tactics alone would not suffice. Twice, thrice, each time in a different form, Sir Edward Grey had asked that the nations should assemble for discussion in London. He had declared, and so had his Ambassador at Berlin before him, that he was not bound by neutrality, yet had made no definite promise of participation in the war by England, where public opinion was not interested in Serbia, had little interest in Russia and had not realized immediately that France would be involved. It was necessary for the British government to convince public opinion and win it over little by little.

FIRST BLOW STRUCK

It was when matters stood thus that Germany, staking everything, struck the first blow.

On the evening of July 30, Herr Von Schoen (German Ambassador in Paris) had called upon me to warn me that the "war danger" was about to be proclaimed in Germany, since Germany must safeguard herself against the preparations by Russia. Not a word did he say as to the alleged preparations by France which I had denied in a statement to him, which he had transmitted to Berlin, adding his personal assurance that our state of mind was peaceful.

"The declaration of the existence of danger of war in Germany," he told me, "is not mobilization."

This, from the juridical point of view, is self-evident. But a "danger of war" that came after quiet and useful measures, preparations, recall of men on leave, canceling of furloughs, all of which had begun on July 25, if not earlier, might certainly be looked upon as substantially equivalent to mobilization. It is but too infrequently borne in mind that the reservist summoned by the proclamation of the "danger of war" carries with him a document which, should there be mobilization, enrolls him immediately and indicates to him what post he is to occupy.

MOBILIZATION MEANT WAR

Therefore, what is the transition stage between "danger of war" and mobilization? And, in Germany, mobilization means war: often enough the German government and the German General Staff have said so. I said it to Herr von Schoen, and, making note of his announcement to the effect that, notwithstanding, the aforementioned measure presaged nothing, which announcement I pretended to believe, I informed him that, in view of the circumstances, I should submit to the French government the question as to whether we were to mobilize.

"That does not mean war," I added. He nodded. Later he reported to Berlin.

On July 31, at 1 o'clock, the threat was carried out. The decree proclaiming the "danger of war" was published. Thus the order, which always precedes these things, had been given during the first hours of the morning of July 31. Now, during these first hours, the news of Russian mobilization which had been decreed at 11 o'clock in the morning (declaration in the preface of the first White Book; Paleologue dispatch; Pourtales dispatch; see preceding chapters) was not known for good and sufficient reason. Nor was the Russian mobilization, which followed this step, nor—as I shall prove—were the alleged war preparations by France, the cause of the proclamation of the "danger of war."

That same day, in the afternoon, the German government ordered Russia, by means of an ultimatum, to demobilize, granting a time-limit of twelve hours—that is, until August 1, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Now, according to this order, Russia was to demobilize, but Germany was to be allowed to keep in force the mobilization which she had just accomplished and Austria to remain in the state of general mobilization which, with her, antedated mobilization by Russia. And this though it took Germany, bristling as she was with war preparations, only two days to put herself in readiness, and Austria only two days, seeing that she had been at war with Serbia since July 25, whereas it would take Russia sixteen days. In other words, what was demanded of Russia was that she threw open her frontiers and lay down her arms.

VON SCHOEN'S PREDICTION

On July 31, in the evening, Herr von Schoen came to see me. He was gloomy. Upon him there seemed to rest a sort of moral burden, changing his mien, which was ordinarily more gay. Seated across the table from me, he said that, if Russia did not obey, "there would be mobilization in Germany and that mobilization would inevitably mean war."

Herr von Jagow, speaking four days before to M. Cambon, regarding the partial mobilization of Russia, had declared that it did not mean war and that Germany would not take up arms. He lied. He knew that it meant war, but had something in view.

Herr von Schoen added that this proclamation of the "danger of war" was an answer to the Russian mobilization. I have shown already the error—or let us call it the lie—on the part of the German government, which was better informed than its emissary. Then he stopped and, in embarrassed tones, asked me what the attitude of France would be in case of war between Germany and Russia.

A FAITHFUL CONVERSATION

What I did was to adopt the professional tone of a lawyer conversing with his adversary and, though I told him nothing that was false, I likewise gave him no positive information. After all, France has no need of rendering account of her actions to Germany.

So I replied:

"We shall examine our interests."

He did not seem satisfied, and arose. His mien was decided. He turned to me, after he had picked up his hat:

"Mr. Premier," he said to me, "will you have the kindness to present my respectful regards to the President of the Republic."

I rose and answered:

"No, Mr. Ambassador, I shall not present your regards."

And, to smooth down what might appear to be a trifle too sharp in my reply, I added:

"Why leave us? Count Pourtales has remained at his post in St. Petersburg; the Austrian Ambassador is here."

"Why give the signal of departure and assume such a responsibility without having received orders to do so?"

Herr von Schoen said nothing and nodded his head. M. De Margerie, who was present during the talk, added:

"You cannot, you who have given proof of moderation throughout your career, end that career in blood."

ULTIMATUM GIVEN

Herr von Schoen bowed; then, before leaving, he informed me that he would come back next day, August 1, to repeat the question which he had asked me as to the attitude of France. This was a sort of ultimatum placed in my hands.

On that day, July 31, what was the state of affairs in Europe? Austria, Russia and Germany indeed, for the very reason that the "danger of war" had been proclaimed, were in arms. The frontiers of France were under close watch—nay, more than that, they were menaced—and German troops were beginning to roam insolently along the limits set, which they sometimes crossed. Progressive invasion was soon to begin. Of course, as may well be imagined, we had taken precautions and, while still respecting the order to keep at a distance of ten kilometers from the frontier, we had taken many more measures to insure the security of the country. The supreme guarantee of this would naturally be mobilization, combined—as we indeed combined it later—with a declaration of peaceful intentions.

A LAST DOVE OF HOPE

But on July 31, an immense wave of hope passed over the world. We learned that Austria at last had designed to enter into discussion with Russia and that Sir Edward Grey had renewed his proposal of conciliation. Were we to furnish to the German Emperor a pretext for saying that it was impossible to think of negotiations with a bellicose nation like France which was already drawing its sword? Therefore, with the agreement of the Chief of the French General Staff, we allowed the day to go by.

One learns much after a thing has happened. Later, in 1918, we learned, after our cipher service had decoded from certain German documents which had previously escaped us, the following fact, without parallel even among savages:

On the very day that Herr von Schoen had called upon me to announce the "danger of war," Herr von Jagow telegraphed to Herr von Schoen:

"If the French government declares that it wishes to remain neutral, Your Excellency will kindly inform it that, as a guarantee of its neutrality, we must ask that the fortress of Toul and Verdun be delivered over to us; we shall occupy them and restore them at the close of the war against Russia. An answer regarding this must reach us here before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon."

Herr von Schoen, to be sure, never made me any such proposals; and, in his memoirs, he declares that he did right in not undertaking such a task. In fact, he deemed it stupid. But I do not know whether Herr von Schoen did not destitate as to whether or not he should bring it to my attention. Why, in fact, ask me what would be the attitude of France in case of a war between Germany and Russia? As he was aware of the substance, at least, of the Franco-Russian treaty of alliance, and that a joint attack upon Russia by two other nations confronted us with the casus foederis, he must have foreseen what the future held—in fact, he gave me to understand that he did foresee it.

Doubtless Herr von Schoen, abandoning brutal methods, wished to give a gentle hint; had I then seemed to yield, he would have been encouraged to continue, and then, doubtless, he would have blurted out the humiliating proposal. How could Herr von Jagow ever have imagined such a possibility and, having conceived it in his muddled brain, how could he have brought himself to bring it officially to light?

LONG BEACH REALTORS HOLD MEET

Henry M. Barbour Elected President for Fifth Term Despite His Objections

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—Henry M. Barbour was elected president of the Long Beach Realty Board for the fifth consecutive time today. Choice of Mr. Barbour was practically unanimous, despite his objections. Mr. Barbour underwent a serious operation recently and protested against his selection but finally consented to assume leadership of the board for the coming year if he never again would be called to the presidency of the organization.

Other officers chosen were:

E. J. Del Porte, first vice-president; J. E. Carter, Jr., second vice-president; C. W. Cadieux, third vice-president, and John Meteer, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Carter also was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements for the annual realty board banquet to be given in the dining-room of the Chamber of Commerce, on the 30th inst.

Resolutions demanding that the provisions of the State Realty Act be enforced more rigidly were adopted by the board at the meeting. Particular emphasis was placed on the provision which requires all real estate brokers to display commercial signs.

Co-operation with the State Realty Commission was pledged by the association in enforcing the provisions of the act. The board also changed its name to the Long Beach Realtors' Association.

Quality rather than quantity in membership will be sought hereafter, it was stated by the members following the meeting. The by-laws of the organization are to be altered to limit the membership to 350 realtors. Provisions also will be made for the establishment of a board of examiners who will pass upon all applicants for membership.

PASADENA WATER SUPPLY PROTECTED

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—Negotiations are under way between the city and private landowners in the Arroyo Seco for the purchase of the latters' holdings as the first step in acquiring the land to safeguard Pasadena's water supply.

Two experts are appraising the land, according to City Manager C. W. Koiner. At the bond election last spring $175,000 was voted for the purchase of the property. The government is co-operating with the city to the extent of prohibiting camping on the land.

NOTAS LOCALES

Búscase a una Pareja Perdida

La desaparición de una niña de Los Angeles, de 13 años de edad, la noche del último domingo, estuvo precedida de actos de histeria y de amenazas de matarse, porque su familia estorbaba sus primeras relaciones amorosas. Ayer se pidió a la policía que buscara a esta criatura, que se llama Marian Doolittle, domiciliada en la Calle Mohawk, 1216, y que se cree haya huido con Sylvesta, West Glen, joven de 18 años, como culminación de sus locos amores de muñeca.

Thomas Doolittle, tío de Marian, dió parte de la cosa al Sargento Arthur Bethel, en la Estación Central de Policía. Dijo que creía que la muchacha se había ido de motu proprio, pero que no descartaba la posibilidad de que haya sido arrastrada por la fuerza, quizá hasta el otro lado de la frontera. Marian está excepcionalmente desarrollada para su edad, según el tío, y parece una muchacha de 17 años.

Congestión de Tráfico Originada por el Incendio

Debido al incendio que estalló el lunes en la noche en la estación secundaria de la Compañía Edison de Sudcalifornia, en Eagle Rock, 60 por ciento de los tranvías de Los Angeles quedaron detenidos en los depósitos, en las horas de más tráfico, ayer noche. La imposibilidad de conseguir potencia normal dió por resultado una de las peores paralizaciones de tráfico que se hayan visto desde hace varios años. Hoy se espera que el servicio quede normalizado.

Como se redujeron los tranvías a menos de la mitad, iban atestados de gente, y en todas las líneas hubo retrasos. Pusiéronse carteles en los tranvías, instando a los pasajeros a hacer sus viajes temprano, y hasta donde se pudo, la empresa avisó lo que pasaba a las escuelas y los almacenes. En muchas escuelas se dejó que los niños salieran más temprano que de costumbre, y la ayuda prestada por los grandes almacenes del centro mereció los encomios de George Baker Anderson, gerente de transportes de los tranvías de Los Angeles.

Práctica de Tiro a Través de una Cortina de Humo

Va a hacer hoy práctica de tiro al blanco a través de una pantalla de humo, la tercera división de la Flota de Batalla, a la altura del puerto de Los Angeles, y tal vez causen una revolución los resultados que de ella se obtengan, según opiniones navales reservadas. Tomarán parte en dicha práctica el Texas, el Oklahoma y el New York, con el Idaho como barco de observación, y sólo se pondrán en juego las baterías secundarias. Ayer practicaron los cazatorpederos el establecimiento de cortinas de humo. Varias nuevas teorías de cañoneo van a ponerse en práctica, según se dice, y lo que de ellas resulte se mantendrá en secreto.

This Laxative Works Fine on Old People

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 575 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin yourself the next time you suffer from constipation, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, indigestion, piles or night cramps. Many thousands of elderly people use nothing else, and it costs them less than a cent a dose. Druggists have sold it successfully for 30 years, and it is the most widely bought family laxative in the world.

MOVE TO END IMPEACHMENT

Committee Asks Dismissal of Daugherty Case

Power to Punish Accuser is Put Up to House

Proceedings Prosecution of Keller, Says Thomas

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Dismissal of impeachment charges brought against Atty.-Gen. Daugherty by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, is recommended to the House in a resolution adopted today, 12 to 2, by the Judiciary Committee, which held public hearing on the charges last month.

At the same time the committee approved, 11 to 2, a formal report to the House holding that that body had the power to punish Mr. Keller by imprisonment or otherwise for his refusal to obey a subpoena issued for him immediately after his dramatic withdrawal from the case on the third day of the hearings.

Both the resolution and the report will be submitted to the House tomorrow by Chairman Volstead, but whether there will be formal action on them appears now to be a moot question. Some committeemen are of the opinion that House action is unnecessary, but others think the resolution and the report with regard to Mr. Keller should receive formal consideration.

DEMOCRATS OPPOSED

The resolution proposing dismissal of the charges was opposed by Representatives Sumner of Texas, and Thomas of Kentucky, Democrats.

With the respect to the refusal of Mr. Keller to appear and testify under oath as to the information on which he based his charges, the report is understood to say that the committee is of the opinion that the Minnesota member was required legally to obey the subpoena, and that the House possesses full power to cause him to be arrested and confined in prison until he shall consent to testify, such confinement not to extend beyond the term of this Congress, next March 4, and power to otherwise deal with him so as to compel obedience to the summons.

Representatives Sumner and Thomas voted against this report, and Representative Montague, Democrat, Virginia, voted present. The report carries no recommendation for affirmative action by the House, as it was decided to leave this question solely to the judgment of the membership.

EFFECT FAR-REACHING

Should the House concur in the committee's views there would be established a precedent which some members argued would be of far-reaching importance. It was contended that if Congressional committees were given power to summon members they could sit outside of Washington and call away enough of the membership to insure passage or defeat of any legislation which it might be desired to rush through the House.

Announcing that he would file a minority report urging that there be further hearings on the impeachment charges, Mr. Thomas charged that the impeachment proceedings against Mr. Daugherty had been converted to a prosecution of Mr. Keller.

He said the Constitution provided for the arrest of a member of Congress during sessions of that body for only three things: treason, felonies or misdemeanors, and that neither the Judiciary Committee nor the House had any more right to violate the Constitution than had any citizen.

FAST TRAIN HITS AND WRECKS TRUCK

FIVE HUNDRED PASSENGERS ESCAPE INJURY WHEN SMASH OCCURS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BALTIMORE, Jan. 9.—Five hundred passengers on a fast train of the Pennsylvania Railroad bound from New York to Washington escaped injury this evening when the locomotive, tender and baggage car were derailed near the Washington Road bridge at Halethorpe after the engine had struck and demolished a big motor truck at the Halethorpe Crossing.

Locomotive and tender turned over on their sides. The baggage car plunged down an embankment. None of the nine passenger coaches left the rails, however, and passengers said their shaking up was slight. Pieces of shattered truck which became wedged under the locomotive are believed responsible for the derailment.

Southern California's MOST FAMOUS GRAPE LAND

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA in all of its midwinter beauty is admirably depicted at Fontana, where the pioneer organization of the Fontana Farms Company has developed during the past 17 years one of the most picturesque and highly improved fruit-land properties in the world.

Within 50 miles east of Los Angeles, along the ribbon-like roadways of the Valley and Foothill Boulevards, a visitor enters the 18,000-acre tract of the Fontana Farms Company. It is at once discernible—because it is the only huge development of its kind in all of Southern California. To the right and to the left you will find miles and miles of orange groves and vineyards planted among cover crops of waving green—carpet-like in its appearance, so perfectly level is this great acreage. But every 600 feet is a double row of fully matured shade trees, interset with palms and roses—more than 500 miles of them. And a splendid roadway every 1350 feet.

Where Orange Groves and Vineyards furnish one of the safest investments today—where smudge pots are unknown, and where scarcely a box of fruit has been lost through frost. Only during the month of January a year-old irrigated vineyard may be purchased for $500.00 per acre, including a share of water stock in a perfect irrigation system, furnishing a never-ceasing supply of mountain water. A vineyard the like of which will produce at maturity 4 to 8 and 10 tons of grapes to the acre. Prices paid last year ranged from $75 to $140 per ton. The terms are extremely liberal, five years being allowed for payment and only $125 per acre cash. But the Fontana Farms Co. furnishes all cultural care and water absolutely free for three years from date of planting.

By far this is one of the most inviting and phenomenal investment opportunities ever offered the public.

Motor to Fontana any day this week or Sunday. See the luscious Navel Oranges bending the trees with their weight. Inspect the model $57,000 poultry plant, where 25,000 baby chicks will soon be hatched. And learn—by seeing—the vast possibilities embraced in our IRRIGATED VINEYARD OFFERING.

Nerve Shocks Cause Gas

Any form of excitement that shocks the delicate nerves of the stomach will disturb the function of that organ and produce gas. Anger, fright, grief and worry, all have an evil effect upon the digestive system, hence, for want of a better term, doctors call this condition "nervous dyspepsia."

Baalmann's Gas Tablets are made especially for the relief of gas and stomach distress. They act in a safe, natural way upon the weak stomach nerves and glands, gradually helping to restore their normal strength and activity. When this is done you will no longer suffer from gas pains around the heart, palpitation, smothering spells, rumbling noises, bloating, burning, sour taste or drowsiness after eating.

Get a dollar package of Baalmann's Gas Tablets from any good druggist. The very first dose usually gives great relief. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.

Appraisals of City Equipment Made at Harbor

Preparatory to renewing insurance for the coming year, the Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday referred two appraisals of the city's floating equipment at Los Angeles Harbor to Harbor Engineer Ludlow, who will check and return them.

The appraisals were made by two separate marine associations, one estimating the value of the property at $177,000, and the other fixing it at $188,000. This includes boats, barges, dredges and all other equipment.

It was announced that this year the board will advertise for bids on the insurance, which expires on the 17th inst., and will award the contract to the lowest bidder.

PORT NOTES

The steamer Egeria made port yesterday from the Columbia River with a 15 deg. list to port, her lumber cargo of 3,000,000 feet of fir having shifted on the rough passage down the coast. Other lumber steamers arriving yesterday reported unusually heavy weather north of Cape Blanco. More than a dozen vessels bound for Los Angeles Harbor are said to be barbound at Gray's Harbor and Coos Bay as a result of the seventy-mile gale blowing outside.

Capt. A. P. Aspland, formerly master of the Shipping Board steamer Cadereta, yesterday took command of the steamer Siletz, at this port. Capt. Aspland relieves Capt. John Johansen, who and a forefinger and suffered other injuries while the Siletzen was fighting her way through storms on route here last week.

Plans for the establishment of a freight line to connect the Canadian ports on the Atlantic with Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert are being worked out by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, according to reports from Montreal. The establishment of such a service has been agitated in Canada for several years, but until this season the westbound offerings were not deemed sufficient to warrant the establishment of the service.

Passage of 2907 ships through the Panama Canal in 1922 set a new high record, according to figures just issued by the Canal Commission. In 1921, the best previous year, 2814 vessels used the waterway. The tolls collected in 1922 aggregated $12,573,467. The net tonnage of commercial ships in 1922 approximately was 12,026,000 tons. The previous high water mark was 11,435,811 tons. Cargo carried last year totaled 13,760,600, as compared to the next highest figure of 11,589,214 tons.

"POISON-NEEDLE" CASE AT VENICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Jan. 9.—Another asserted "poison-needle" case is being investigated by police here.

Mrs. J. C. Donnely of 352½ Indiana avenue, reported to police that a needle had been plunged deep into her side while she was walking out of a motion-picture show. She believes that a man sitting near the aisle leading to the exit of the playhouse committed the offense.

The wound was dressed by Dr. Joseph Saylin.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The steamer South Coast, a lumber carrier, bound from San Francisco to Crescent City, in ballast to load lumber, went ashore tonight at the Golden Gate entrance to San Francisco Bay, according to a report received by the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce.

The largest cargo of bonas that ever arrived at this port came in on the Japanese steamer Nankai Maru today from the Orient. The cargo consisted of 30,400 bags, measuring nearly 5000 tons.

The Pacific Mail liner Newport cleared today for Cristobal after undergoing repairs here as a result of a collision with the steam schooner Fred Foss off Port San Luis December 30.

Ray Gonzales, for the last three years marine superintendent, port engineer and port steward of the local bureau of the Shipping Board, has tendered his resignation to take effect the first of February.

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 9.—The strong current in the Columbia River is delaying all steamers on their trip upstream. Vessels ordinarily making the trip upstream from Astoria in ten hours or less are requiring nearly twice that time for passage.

Amount of cargo moving to the Orient from Portland is increasing. More orders are coming from across the Pacific for lumber, flour and other cargo than were a few weeks ago.

SEATTLE, Jan. 9.—When the Admiral Oriental liner President Jefferson arrives from Yokohama via ports in the Philippines, China and Japan she will discharge more than 1000 tons of cargo, declared to be the largest oriental consignment delivered in a British Columbia port by an American vessel since the Shipping Board trans-Pacific service was established. The large lading for Seattle is expected to make the Jefferson, which is carrying $500,000 worth of silk, silk goods and embroideries from China for display at the International Silk Show, which opens in New York February 5, late in arriving here. Eleven Chinese silk merchants who are to attend the exposition are coming on the Jefferson.

The Pacific Coast Steamship Company reported today that the volume of tourist travel to California was now running high. All the automobile stages of Ruth Alexander and Dorothy Alexander to California for the next two voyages was reported engaged.

TACOMA, Jan. 9.—The Ipswich arrived at the Balboa docks this morning from the East Coast and is picking up general freight for Gulf ports. The lessen of this line in the New York service is said for here Thursday.

The motorship Culburra and Donna Lane, both from California, are expected tomorrow. The Culburra will load lumber at the port and the Donna Lane after discharging cargo at the terminal dock shifts to the port to load.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 9.—The death of Capt. C. Cooper, master of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamship Canadian Observer, one of the best known mariners of British Columbia, was reported today from Hongkong. He was taken ill with heart disease last night and passed away this morning. His body will be brought here on his ship. He had lived here and sailed out of this port many years.

ASTORIA, Jan. 9.—After loading 5000 cases of canned salmon at the Astoria terminals, the steamer Walter A. Luckenbach sailed last evening for New York, via Seattle.

Costs Whole of Bill in Attempt at Collection

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—It cost Maj. Morris Talbot, formerly of the British army and now a screen actor of Hollywood, $120 today to attempt to collect a similar amount from Attorney Walter J. Wambold, with offices in the Markwell Building here. Talbot was fined the $120 by Police Judge Hawkins before whom he was arraigned this afternoon on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Wambold and other witnesses testified that the screen actor created a disturbance in the office of the Meserole Company when he entered and demanded that Attorney Wambold pay him $120 which he asserted was due him as rent on a store in Long Beach.

"I find you guilty and you are fined the exact amount you attempted to collect by illegal methods," said Judge Hawkins in pronouncing sentence. "You will pay $120 or spend twenty days in jail."

"I am glad it wasn't five hundred that I was trying to collect," quoth Maj. Talbot with a decidedly British accent as he was led away.

Talbot told the court he is a player of soldier parts on the screen and has been employed by all the leading studios of Hollywood. He is a veteran of the World War, he said.

Tank Farm to Store Products of Huntington

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTING BEACH Jan. 9.—The Associated Oil Company of this city is building one of the largest tank farms in California at the corner of Seventeenth and Garfield streets it is the intention of this company to take care of the oil from all the associated oil wells in this field. At the present time many large producing wells are being "bedded down," to hold back the production, which last week amounted to nearly 90,000 barrels daily. With these tanks completed and the pipe line direct to San Pedro the company hopes to take care of the oil situation in this field. It is claimed that the production will reach 100,000 barrels in another twenty days.

Heart Disease Proves Fatal to Musician

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VENTURA, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Alice Todd MacGregor, prominent in musical circles here died suddenly last evening.

Mrs. MacGregor, apparently in the best of health, attended the E.C.O. Club in the afternoon and in the evening went to a moving picture show.

An acute attack of heart trouble was the cause of her death. Mrs. MacGregor was active in club and Presbyterian church work and was also high in the orders of the Eastern Star and the Amarath. She leaves her husband and two children.

SPIEGEL INVOLVED IN FORGERY CHARGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Charges that Max Spiegel, well-known theatrical promoter who recently was placed in a sanatorium after two attempts at suicide, forged $490,000 worth of voting trust certificates to obtain loans aggregating $327,000 were made today by Walter Hays of Buffalo, testifying at bankruptcy proceedings instituted against Spiegel.

Grains Resist Bearish Moves Against Prices

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Grain markets showed stubborn resistance the same as they have for several days and this factor more than anything else was responsible for a higher average of values. Sentiment changed somewhat due to the failure of the markets to decline on bearish developments and the finish was at net gains of ⅝@1¼c on wheat, ⅝@⅞c on corn, ⅛@½c on oats, and ⅝@1½c on rye.

Wheat made its lowest prices at the start on selling induced by a decline of ⅝@¾d in Liverpool. The latter was influenced by political developments in Europe with a break in continental exchange and on lower Argentine offerings. Under $1.16 for May there was a good class of buying by commission houses and offerings were readily absorbed. A bulge of 1⅝c from the low point, due more to lack of pressure than aggressive buying, followed, the upturn being lost at one time as the result of a bearish statement as to the world's statistical position issued by F. S. Goodman.

Strength in sterling exchange and private reports that the situation in Europe was improving was the basis for some buying. Expert demand was rather slow with some hard winters taken at the Gulf. Milling call was fair with premiums here firmer on light offerings. In the Southwest farmers have ceased selling freely.

Corn showed independent strength and while buying was largely of a local character there was no pressure on the market and an upturn of 1⅛c from the low point was easily attained. The general run of news was somewhat more bullish and receivers generally look for relatively small arrivals for a week or so unless the market should have a sharp upturn. Feeders continue to absorb corn freely and outside markets again outbid Chicago down State. Rains in some sections of Argentine had little effect, nor did claims of locusts. Receipts 225 cars, with the basis somewhat easier.

Oats acted a little light with some buying of May to remove hedges against shipping sales, but the latter were not as large as of late, aggregating 141,000 bushels. Trade was largely of a local character.

Houses with Northwestern connections were fair sellers of rye, while the seaboard was a persistent buyer and with the strength in wheat brought about a higher range. There was a fair business with Germany at the seaboard and local handlers sold 10,000 bushels to exporters. Two Northwestern markets had 118 cars.

DARIO RESTA TO TRY COMEBACK ON BEVERLY SPEEDWAY NEXT MONTH

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The National City Bank inaugurated a novelty in the history of the institution today when President Charles E. Mitchell, addressing shareholders at the annual meeting, made public the net profits of the bank for 1922. A complete statement of the bank's condition was issued. Net profits for the year totaled $9,708,894.74, from which dividends of 16 per cent were paid. Balance left to the credit of undivided profits amounted to $2,808,894.74. While no figures for 1921 were obtainable to be used for comparative purposes, it is understood that the showing made for the year represented a decided improvement.

An interesting statement made in the National City Bank report concerned the general situation in Cuba, with special emphasis placed upon the sugar industry, which was declared to be in excellent condition. Properties identified with the city bank were generally operating profitably. The branches of the bank in Cuba showed deposits very near to record levels. This is interesting as establishing a concrete basis to the bullishness with which the sugar stocks in general have been retarded in the market. Conditions within the sugar trade itself have been very good, and this fact has been behind the continued support rendered American Sugar, Cuba Cane and other leading sugar companies.

Kelly-Springfield as well as other rubber stocks, is receiving very good support at present, with the encouraged by the decidedly promising outlook for the tire industry during the coming year. It is generally assumed that the prices will keep pace with the sharp rise in crude rubber and The statement made in the Senate by Senator McCormick that the new export duty imposed by the British government on crude rubber in primary markets might cause a rise of 100 per cent in finished tire prices, also played a part in shaping stock market sentiment.

General Asphalt weakened in late trading and gossip questioned the safety of the preferred dividend was circulated freely. Directors of General Asphalt meet late this month to take action on this payment, and at the present time there seems no real reason why it should not be declared.

While Wall street generally expects a decided improvement in earnings of the steel corporation for the final quarter of 1922 and a continuation of this improvement through 1923, the hope of early dividends is checked by close consideration of the labor problem. A shortage of effective labor is entirely possible and steel leaders insist that unless there is some change in our immigration laws such a contingency is highly probable.

Efforts made by the railroads as a whole to bring their equipment up to a more efficient point is emphasized by the case of Northern Pacific, which at the present time is carrying out a new equipment program calling for the expenditure of about $17,000,000. During 1922 this road should receive delivery of about 5800 freight and express cars, and forty-nine locomotives. The increase in facilities which this will make for shippers in the Northwest is decidedly important. Many other systems are following the same general policy, and it is expected that by the end of the current year the traffic capacity of the American railways will show a vast improvement. The need of such increases in rolling stock is accentuated by the continued heavy movement of freight throughout the country, despite the fact that the normal peak of traffic was passed some weeks ago. Last week Santa Fe freight loadings totaled 29,806 cars, as compared with 29,413 cars during the preceding week, and but 19,706 cars during the same week in 1921. Loadings of grain, stock, lumber, oil, coal and miscellaneous freight all show a substantial increase over the 1921 total.

FLEET FINALS ON CALIFORNIA

Aboard the flagship, the U.S.S. California, on January 24, the finals of the Pacific fleet boxing and wrestling championships will be held. Mammoth bleachers will be erected that will seat 5000 people, and from all reports they will be filled.

The winners of the battles on the California will represent the Pacific division in a big tournament to be held in Panama some time next summer, when the two fleets meet for annual maneuvers.

In this tournament the Pacific Boys will fight the Atlantic fleet for the first honors of the Navy.

KRAMER GETS THE DECISION

Danny Wins Pacific Coast Feather Championship From Bud Ridley

BY ED O'MALLEY

Danny Kramer outpointed Bud Ridley at Jack Doyle's pavilion last night before probably the largest house that was ever squeezed inside the famous arena. Kramer was hardly at his best especially with his terrific left which failed to score a knock down. True, he landed it rather savagely several times, but not in the right spot. Bud fought a cautious battle.

Danny won the first round by landing frequently with his left, landing frequently with his left. Ridley did some fighting on his own hook in the second session. In the middle of it he sank a hard right to the body that shook Danny up considerably.

The third, however, found Danny in front again. He got his left to working fast and scored often with it. The last was a nip and tuck affair, marked by much clinching. Toward the end Buddy got home hard with a left to the face and honors were about even.

Leo Matlock who substituted for Tom Kelly against Kid Mexico in the semi-wind-up had three out of the four rounds, yet the mixup was called a draw.

The other bouts resulted as follows. Al Grunan beat Louis Garcia, Young Wallace put it on Louie Stegmeyer, Bud Manning beat Art Springer, Johnny McGraw put it on Harry Turner and Benny Shannon whipped Billy Velardi.

MINOR LEAGUES THREATEN WAR

Majors Charged With Having Broken Agreement

Raising of Optional Player Limit Causes Row

Modified Draft is Planned by Eastern Magnates

BY IRVING VAUGHN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Charging the majors with having broken faith by arbitrarily raising the optional player limit and forcing a modified draft on the antidraft leagues, presidents of the latter circuits are priming for a fight to uphold the major-minor agreement which has five years to run.

William McCarthy of the Pacific Coast League has already asked Commissioner Landis to explain the majors' actions. His league will oppose any effort to enforce the new rulings. J. C. Toole, head of the International, has announced a similar attitude and Al Tearney, president of the Three-Eyes and Western leagues, announced yesterday that he would endeavor to force a special meeting of the minor association so that concerted action may be taken.

ILLEGAL ACT

President Toole in a statement wired from New York said that legally the majors could neither increase the optional limit from eight to fifteen nor draft certain players from antidraft leagues, which, in addition to the four above, include the American Association. Toole bases his contention on a major-minor rule which stipulates "assignment of players," contracts to major by minor-league clubs must in general be absolute assignments. The same rule permits each major club to have eight players out on option.

The move of the majors by which they hope to draft from the five antidraft leagues is a direct violation of the above clause. What the majors plan to do is to draft from the five leagues mentioned any players turned over to such leagues by the majors. To enforce this the big fellows intend to include in the agreement covering the transfer of a player from a major to an antidraft minor, a stipulation that the player be subject to selection in the fall.

While it is apparent that the majors have shot holes through their agreement with the minors, the latter are more or less helpless. For one thing the minor association lacks leadership. Another thing is that minor league clubs usually are so anxious to get big league cast-offs that they are perfectly willing to wink at the rules. The majors know this so do about as they please.

NO EXPLANATION

Commissioner Landis yesterday replied to President McCarthy of the Coast League, who had made inquiries as to what the majors had done at the meeting last month.

Landis offered no explanation for the passing of the draft feature. In defense of the raising of the optional limit he said the minors themselves had broken the agreement at their convention by voting down the increase to fifteen players before it was presented as an amendment. At that time the majors hadn't voted on the increase, but the minors anticipated it and voiced their sentiments.

BY HAY CHAPMAN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Joe Kirkwood of Australia today won the California open championship by defeating MacDonald Smith of San Francisco two strokes on the San Francisco Golf and Country Club's course. This is the first title captured by Kirkwood since he left his Australian championship behind him just two years ago. He sailed from Sydney, acclaimed the greatest golfer the Antipodes has ever seen, in search of new worlds to conquer.

Kirkwood is 24 years of age and since his boyhood has devoted his energies to golf and golf only, as clean a young sportsman as ever graced the links. MacDonald Smith, who, ten years ago, was declared by Harry Vardon the golfing genius of his generation—and Vardon has been the greatest golfer of his time, a real world's champion, has staged a splendid comeback during the last year, and 90 per cent of the gallery today was exercising the strongest psychological pull on behalf of the California Scot, who has been in this neighborhood for fifteen years.

HERO OF HOUR

While Kirkwood eventually won with two strokes in hand over 108 holes, MacDonald Smith was the hero of the hour, for after the first four holes he had the terrific margin of six strokes to overcome and he fought every stroke of the encounter with gallant spirit, refusing to be downhearted by the terrific odds against him.

The nongolfers talked about "bad breaks," but Mac would be the first to acknowledge that his terrible scoring on three of the first four holes was due to inferior golf and that the steadier golfer won.

Quite a stiff southeasterly breeze prevailed for three-quarters of the round, supplying the hazard that we had lacked during the first four rounds of the championship. This is the greatest of all hazards at Ingleside or anywhere else and the merits of the Ingleside course once more were fully proved. Kirkwood's winning score today was six strokes over the par. The Australian was out in 35, two over par, with Mac trailing by five strokes. Mac picked up three of these on the homeward journey, with 36, one stroke over par.

Kirkwood's average for the five rounds was 75¾, against the par of 71.

Both got off beautiful drives from the first tee, Kirkwood right down the alley and Mac to the left. Kirkwood's second reposed comfortably on the green while Mac's ran over. Mac tried an explosion shot back, which overplayed, was stopped by the gallery. He came back well, but the hole cost him a 6 against Kirkwood's birdie 4.

The Australian was again out in front and Mac hooked badly to the brush. All he could do was to play safe and, although Kirkwood was in the trap on the left with his second, Mac dropped another stroke and was three in arrears after two holes.

The third was halved in par 4's. Then came Mac's Waterloo, for after Kirkwood was well on at the 220 yards fourth, Mac hooked to the brush and discovered a practically unplayable lie. He had to return to the tee, with a penalty of stroke and distance and again hooked, just passing the fatal brush. Kirkwood was down in par 3 to Mac's third accumulating 6, leaving him six strokes behind.

PUTTS COSTLY

Kirkwood's long, low raking brassie was the feature shot of the fifth hole, but three putts cost him a 5 to Mac's faultless 4.

The sixth was the best-played hole of the round, both getting birdie 3s. Kirkwood made his first serious mistake at the seventh, hooking his tee shot to a very tricky tie. He debated for some minutes whether to play a right or left-handed shot. Finally he played normally a safe and well thought out shot. Mac, on the green from the tee had a chance for a 2 and a sure 3. The hole cost Kirkwood 5, for he missed a yard's putt which caused demonstrative and [illegible] audible joy to a hysterical woman and a few spectators who were neither sportsmen nor golfers.

The eighth cost Mac a fourth silly 6 for, after just failing to

You may have noticed that I have begun these memoirs with the present instead of with my early boyhood days. I did this advisedly, it always having been my belief that we can use the present to reflect on the past much better than to make the old days reflect on the present.

After I have recalled a few more of the picturesque characters of my thirty years in baseball it is my intention to go back to the early days and drift down again. In that way I hope to recall landmarks that otherwise I might forget.

Next to Raymond the most picturesque characters—I don't necessarily mean drinking players—of my knowledge were Rube Waddell, Larry McLean, Ossie Schreckengost and Walter (Steve) Brodie.

REFUSED TO SIGN

Most all baseball peole remember the time when Schreck—the scorers had shortened his name to that—refused to sign a contract with Connie Mack until a clause was inserted that Waddell must not eat crackers in bed.

These two quaint characters always roomed together. At times they were a trial to Connie, and he figured that he could keep an eye on them better by having them in the same room, especially on the road.

"No, Connie," said Schreck when he showed up to sign his new contract, "I won't sign it unless you put in there that Rube mustn't eat crackers in bed. You know, the big bum has got to where he eats these little animal crackers every night. I didn't mind the flat crackers so much. But for a whole week last year I woke up with elephant's tusks and cowhorns stickin' 'tween my ribs."

Connie Mack gravely inserted the clause and Ossie signed.

GETS THE COIN

Like "Bugs" Raymond, Waddell had an uncanny ability for getting money when there was none in sight. He had worked so many schemes on Connie that the Athletic manager thought he couldn't be fooled.

One night in Detroit Rube came to Connie's room in deep distress. He had lost the diamond watch charm that had been given to each member of the team for having won the pennant. It was an expensive trinket and one that Waddell was very proud of. It was his fondest possession, and Mack knew it.

"I wanted to ask you what to do, Connie," said Rube. "How can I go 'bout findin' it. I know I had it on this afternoon."

"I would suggest," advised Connie, taking the matter very seriously, "that you put an ad in the local papers—yes, and offer a reward."

FLAT BROKE

"How much reward, Connie, would be right? You know I'm flat broke. You know that better than anybody."

"That's true," said Mack, "but you go ahead and offer $10 reward and if the diamond charm is found I will pay the reward myself."

Rube promptly put an ad in the paper.

The next day at noon he went down to a saloon where he had left the charm with the bartender, an old acquaintance.

"Connie," Rube said to his manager over the phone, "there's a guy down here in a saloon that's found my diamond charm. Will you come down and pay the reward for me?"

That sounded fair enough. So Connie walked down, paid the man the reward, turned the trinket over to Rube and they walked away. Waddell was very grateful. At the corner, though, he left Connie, slipped around the other way to the saloon and collected $10 from the bartender, a large portion of which they proceeded to drink up.

Connie had been completely taken in. Now, you can't say that a man who can think up that scheme hasn't got a keen brain.

Waddell was one of the greatest pitchers that ever lived. He had such a large hand that he could encircle a baseball with his fingers as the ordinary man could a billiard ball. That gave him tremendous speed and also a wonderful curve.

Rube was very vain about his arm and had absolute confidence in being able to beat any club in the world. Generally he could do it, too. In the spring training exhibition games he used to demand that all the players except himself, the catcher and the first baseman be taken off the field. For fun they let him do it. All the men he did not strike out he proposed to get out on infield grounders.

On several occasions he did that trick and actually got away with it.

A WELL-KILLED house is expected to see Ed Strangler Lewis put on his well-known defense of headlocks and other iron-bar holds tonight when he defends his world's heavyweight championship against Demetrius Tofalos. The match will be the main event of a nicely arranged wrestling program to be put on at the Hollywood American Legion by Umberto Rovere, grand opera singer and promoter.

A second match will consist of two ligha heavyweights hopping to it and the curtain-raiser will bring on a couple of Japanese schooled in jiu jitsu.

In the Strangler Lewis-Tofalos go, the match will be to a finish with the championship at stake. The light heavies, Jim Dondos and Angelo Taramascki, an Italian and a Greek, will wrestle the best two out of three falls, or a decision at the end of an hour's wrestling.

K. Ikuta, a jiu jitsu champion from the Waseda University, is to meet M. Nita of U.S.C. in the preliminaries. One of the old school at jiu jitsu, Prof. T. Higami of the Koyoto University, will referee the jiu jitsu event. Bull Montana will referee the Lewis Tofalos go, while Eddie O'Connell will be third man in the ring when Londos and Taramascki step to it.

SMOKES AND ANGELUS WIN

The Chesterfield Cigarette and Angelus Lunch bowling squads came out winners, Monday night, at the Angelus Academy alleys, when the tenth round of the Mercantile League was staged.

TRAPSHOOTERS TO MEET

The members of the Los Angeles Trapshooting Club are to hold their annual gathering tomorrow night at the Tufts-Lyon Arms Company store.

SCHAEFER AGAIN DEFEATS CONTI

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Young Jake Schaefer of San Francisco defeated Roger Conti of France tonight in the second block of their 1500-point match, 500 to 313. The winner will challenge Willie Hoppe for the championship. Schaefer was out in twelve innings with an unfinished run of 140. He is now leading, 1000 to 650. The third and final block will be played tomorrow night.

Oxy not to Compete Against Trojans on Track or Gridiron

TIGERS WILL MEET CARDS

Occidental and Stanford in Football Game

Will Probably Open Season at New Stadium

U.S.C. Will Not be Met on Grid or Track

Occidental College will meet Stanford University on the football gridiron in 1923 and 1924 and will not meet U.S.C. The Tigers have signed a two year home and home agreement with the Palo Alto institution and feel that one game with a big university is sufficient for a school with only 500 students.

Stanford is to play Occidental the third Saturday in October this fall and the game will be played in Los Angeles, probably in the new Los Angeles Community Stadium at Exposition Park. This will be the only appearance in Southern California of the Stanford eleven, their game with U.S.C. being scheduled for the big Palo Alto Stadium.

HURLS SIXTY FEET

Coach Pipal of Occidental, in notifying Coach Henderson of U.S.C. that the Tigers would not play the Trojans, took occasion to hurl a large bouquet at the Trojan eleven and said that the Tigers did not feel that they should attempt to tackle both Stanford and U.S.C.

Incidentally it became known yesterday for the first time that Occidental and U.S.C. would not meet on the track this year. The Tigers, it is understood, have a complete schedule and cannot find a place for a meet with U.S.C. They will tangle with the Trojans however in the A.A.U. relay Carnival next month and also in the annual A.A.U. meet later in the season.

PASS UP MEET

The Tigers and the Trojans did not meet on the track last season although a meet was scheduled. Rain interfered with the original date and they were not able to get together later. Whether this wholesale severance of athletic relations with U. S. C., is to be a settled policy on the part of Occidental is not known but the sporting world in general will regret the failure of the teams to meet as their combats have always been full of ginger despite the disparity in size; U.S.C. having more than ten times as many students as Occidental.

Probably nothing in recent years has caused more comment in boxing circles than the recent series of opinions from Joe Choynski, published in this column. They were republished in almost innumerable papers in this country and abroad, and have occasioned many columns of comment.

While to a very considerable extent they confirmed the opinion and belief of the writer, they were published primarily for three reasons. Choynski was the only retired fighter of note ever to discuss with absolute frankness, boxers of the past and present. Coming from a man of Choynski's brain and ability they had intrinsic value. Being so absolutely frank, these opinions were bound to cause a furore wherever boxing is understood. Most of these comments have been wholesome. There have been a few sporadic attempts to belittle him, possibly because of his race. Choynski, I am told, was of Polish-Jewish descent. He was born in San Francisco. However, while there are color lines in sport, sometimes vague and frequently indefinite, there are no racial lines.

Choynski, never weighing more than 162 pounds, and more frequently 157, virtually a middleweight, probably has a finer record of demonstrated courage than any man in the history of boxing. Among those he met may be mentioned Jim Corbett, Jack McAuliffe, Joe Goddard, Billy Woods, Joe Godfrey, George Godfrey, Dan Creedon, Jim Hall, Kid McCoy, Tom Sharkey, Joe McAuliffe, Peter Maher, Denver Ed Martin, Jim Jeffries, Gus Ruhlin, Ed Dunkhorst, Jack McCormick, Joe Walcott, Fred Russell, Marvin Hart, Kid Carter, Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, Jack Johnson. Can you conceive of a tougher array of talent, outweighing him for the most part anywhere from twenty to fifty and eighty pounds?

Choynski didn't win all these fights. He was bounced off the boards occasionally, which was only natural under the circumstances. No man ever gave away so much weight and faced so tough a field. Had Choynski had less than the courage of a lion and been managed along the lines of present-day conservatism, his opponents being studiously chosen, weight restrictions being imposed, with the lighter ones preferred, he would have been a champion in some class, and would have gone down in Queensberry history as the greater of any weight that ever charged out of a corner.

Choynski didn't win all his fights, which hardly could be expected under the circumstances. Still he had a pretty fair record. He fought Jim Jeffries to a draw in twenty rounds. He stopped Jack Johnson in three rounds. This was the first and only knockout which Johnson suffered until he met Willard, when he went down more from exhaustion. Choynski had Jeffries momentarily groggy, and hit Jeff harder than any other man that the Burbank farmer, king of them all, ever faced.

Contrary to many published statements, the blow which hurt Jeff, and left him with feet wide apart, steadying himself, was not the one in the mouth, as generally credited. It is true that Joe hit Jeff in the mouth so hard that it drove his lips between his teeth. He could not open his mouth, and it was necessary for one of the seconds to cut the lips loose. The really damaging blow landed on the side of his head, well up. The same blow in the mouth or elsewhere in the middle of the face probably would have spelled ten seconds. True, the "button" is located in the region of the jaw, but there are other vulnerable spots.

Other draws, in addition to the one with Jeffries, may be mentioned Dan Creedon, Tom Sharkey, Kid McCoy and Bob Fitzsimmons. However, most of Joe's battles were too Homeric to permit of anything except on a win-or-lose basis. He also lost to McCoy and Sharkey. There was nothing half-hearted about him. Incidentally, he knocked out George Godfrey in fifteen rounds, and Godfrey is rated by some critics as one of the best heavyweights of all time. So good that Jack Johnson has named his protege for him.

Among others, Choynski knocked out Joe Godfrey, Tim Moran, Bill Keneally, Frank Glover, Frank M'Larney, Mick Dooley, Owen Sullivan, Billy Woods, Jerry Slattery, Jack Hart, Denny Kelliher, Jack Fallon, Jack Cattamach, Jim Hall, Joe McAuliffe, Australian Jim Ryan, Dick Moore, Jim Smith, Bill Hanrahan, Peter Maher. Not bad when you add to it a long list of favorable decisions, including wins over Denver Ed Martin and Fred Russell, the former a second-rater and the latter a second or third, but outweighing him anywhere from fifty to eighty pounds.

Many rate Peter Jackson as the king of all heavyweights. It took Peter twenty-four rounds to stop McAuliffe. Choynski knocked McAuliffe out in four rounds. I guess Joe was rotten as 157-pounders go.

PROPOSES LIMIT OF SIXTY-FOUR

Tennis Committee to Act in the Singles

Object, to Remove Grind of Real Contenders

Rule Will Work Hardship on Lesser Lights

BY WILLIAM T. TILDEN II,
World's Champion Tennis Player 1921-22
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The executive committee of the National Lawn Tennis Association recommends yearly a series of more or less revolutionary policies to be acted on at the annual meeting in February. Last year they put into effect the "seeded draw" which has proved a great success during the last season. Their recommendation to prohibit players from writing daily accounts of tournaments was defeated decisively, while other less important changes met a loyal response from the great mass of tennis supporters.

This year the annual meeting will find that the committee has made several startling recommendations. They suggest limiting the national championship singles to sixty-four instead of 128. They would prohibit a player from going into moving pictures at the expense of his amateur standing. They would guarantee a major championship to West Side Tennis Club, New York, for a period of ten years, provided the club erect a concrete stadium commensurable to Wimbledon.

NEW BRAINS

The executive committee is composed of men whose brains and integrity cannot be questioned and whose judgment cannot be seriously disputed on many points, for they are men who have written tennis history. Yet all men are human and it is human to err at times. It seems to me that the executive committee has erred in its recommendation to cut the national singles entry list to sixty-four.

The object, and a most laudable one from one standpoint, is to reduce the grind on the serious championship contenders, of which there are never more than a dozen and to remove the great mass of men who have no real championship possibilities, either now or in the future. Unfortunately, I fear that they have overlooked one feature of the national championship. It can hardly be "national" in scope if a limit under the actual number of logical entries is set. For many years the entry list has run far in excess of sixty-four, but only once above 128.

LITTLE TO CHOOSE

Thus 128 is really providing an open event which is splendidly conducted and truly representative. The moment that is cut in half a great many men must be eliminated. While they may not be actually contenders for the title, they will be at least the equal of many players in the tournament, for there is little to choose in the ranking list after the first twenty or tweny-five.

The veterans of many historic battles who may have passed their prime are given the preference over the younger men, an honor which their record deserves, but possibly their ability does not. The result of a limited draw of sixty-four will be that many promising youngsters who would gain valuable experience from the national singles, will be cut out of their chance and consequently held back.

CLASS TELLS

Tennis is a game where class usually tells, but for all that, a dub may at times spill a champion, which is as it should be for the dub is entitled to his chance for fame and the champion should be willing to run the risk. Therefore, say I, let us seriously consider the proposed limitation, recognizing that the committee is proposing it in a sincere attempt to aid the leading players and lighten their task. But let us ask ourselves whether the hardship which it will work on the masses of lesser lights is not greater than the value received.

Speaking as the defending champion who next year more than ever before, must conserve my strength, I say that I am in favor of adhering to 128, even if by so doing it forces me to play one more match before my ultimate departure from the tournament. Give every man his chance and may the best man win.

SCHOBER DEFIES OUR MR. MILLER

Billy Schober, claimant of the middle-weight wrestling title of the world, wishes to state to all concerned that he would like very much to meet Mr. Walter Miller of the L.A.A.C., at any time, anywhere, and under Miller's terms. Schober has defeated some of the best wrestlers in the country and feels confident that he can tumble Miller.

Schober has licked Myers and Yokel's conqueror went down before Schober. The match will be contested at 158 pounds, in all, and will be staged in Los Angeles.

RUBE WADDELL FOOLED CONNIE

I played on this vanity one time to win a game. That was many years ago. We knew that Rube would pitch and we knew the chances were that he would beat us. As he came walking across the field from the clubhouse I called to him to throw me a ball that had rolled out there. He made a great throw of it.

THROWS BALL BACK

"That's no throw," I called back to him. "Look at this one." I threw the ball back.

Rankling at my remark, he whipped the ball from the fence to the plate. Again and again we went through this procedure, our players razzing his throws every time. Finally his arm was so tired that when he went in the box we gave him a trimming. He had to be taken out before the fifth inning.

One spring the Athletics showed up in Texas, and both our teams happened to be in Dallas at the same time. I was told by some of the Athletic players that Waddell had been missing for three days, that nobody could find him. He had a habit of going off fishing at the most unexpected moments—even in the middle of the season when the race was tight.

That night we were standing on the sidewalk in front of the hotel when a fire alarm was turned in. We all moved to the curb to watch the engines go by.

WITH A CLANG

Presently one came by with a clang—a hook and ladder outfit. Imagine our surprise to see Rube Waddell on the driver's seat clad in full fireman's regalia, rubber boots, metal hat, and all. And he was intent on his job.

They found that Waddell had gone to the fire department and got a job. He put himself off as an old fireman and had slept there with the men, sliding down the pole as skillfully as the best of them when an alarm sounded.

You can understand how quickly Connie Mack went down there and robbed the fire department of a good hand. Always they had to watch Rube to keep him from joining the fire departments in the various towns and cities where the club played.

HOLD REUNION

Not long ago I was at a reunion of the old Baltimore Orioles. After having a big time several of the veterans, including Walter Brodie, were up in my room at the hotel.

"How is it, Mac," said Steve as we called Brodie, "that you are always making out that I pulled boners. Lot of other fellows pulled boners too—just as many as I did."

"Is that so?" I laughed. "Well, how 'bout the time you took that third strike against Boston?"

All of them started to tell it, very much to Steve's discomfiture.

WAIT 'EM OUT

Ed Hanlon, our manager, had been trying to impress upon all of us the necessity of waiting out the pitchers instead of hitting at bad balls. He could never do much with Steve. He would swing at anything. Finally Hanlon threatened to fine him if he didn't take a strike now and then and wait out the pitcher.

In a pinch Steve went up, this idea firmly fixed in his mind. He took the first strike, the second—and the third.

"Now, don't tell me I didn't take 'em," he growled at Hanlon as he came back to the bench. "I reck'n now you're satisfied that I can take 'em—and—and I could've knocked any one of 'em over the fence!"

Having gone this far back, I guess before going on with Brodie and others this is a good place to start right at my beginning in baseball.

FOUR SCRAPS OPEN SEASON

City League Quintets Start With Bang Friday

Franklin and Manual Hook Up in Toiler Gym

Hollywood Quintet Travels to Meet Pasadena

City League basketball will be taken out of the coffers of inactivity, the moth balls removed, and shoved into the limelight for seven weeks starting Friday afternoon, when the heavyweight and lightweight quintets of eight schools hook up in mortal combat on local gymnasium courts. The unlimited fives of Franklin and Manual Arts are expected to furnish the feature struggle in the Toilers' gymnasium as both teams are conceded to be championship contenders and appear to be evenly matched. The other contests bring together Hollywood and Pasadena, with the Bulldogs as hosts, Jefferson at Poly and Lincoln at Los Angeles High.

Coach Francis Daugherty, who piloted the Kitefiyers to the City League grid title, has a veteran quintet back from last year and hopes are high at the Avenue No. 54 institution for another championship. Motts Blair, Manual coach, has not as strong a team as he had last season, when the Artisans won first honors in the City casaba circuit. Max Miller is the only regular back but Blair has a few comers in Redfern, Hood, Dugan and Prigge. Blair, however, seems confident that his men will defeate Franklin and recently stated that Manual would win by five points.

BULLDOGS STRONG

Out at Pasadena Coach "Pinky" Griffith has built a strong five around three lettermen, Downs, Birlinbaugh and Clark, and with several new men, including Graves, Collins, Coburn, Novis, Rae and Howe, the Bulldogs should be in the race all the way. Fred Johnson had to build up a brand new team out at Hollywood and his men will probably be green for the first couple of games, but after that the Movie lads are expected to rough it with the best of 'em.

Glen Whittle has but one man, Roy Dennis, back from last year's strong quintet and has had to develop two forwards and a pair of guards. Osthaus and Engdahl look to be the best at the basket-shooting positions while Hendrickson, Ackley and Herman are still fighting over the goal defending jobs. In meeting "Rabbit" Mallette's Railsplitters the Pioneer Quintet will be going up against one of the most powerful teams in the league. Pete Thompson, George Dyer and Jimmy McCue are the stars of the Lincoln aggregation. The Roman five will have an advantage over the Railsplitters as the game will be played on the outdoor court at Los Angeles High.

The other league tilt brings together the Jeff and Poly squads in the Poly gym. This will be the first league game in the Poly gymnasium which will seat over a thousand people. Jefferson has Jackson and Laraneta back from last year and Coach Costello is hoping his squad will go better than last year. Wren, McMahon, Beck, Boetler and Hammond appear to be Coach Brennen's starting five.

As preliminaries to the heavyweight games, the 158-pound fives of the same schools will clash. The Polytechnic midgets, tutored by "Cop" Mahoney, look to be the cream of the circuit and unless they suffer from overconfidence, should walk away with the lightweight title. In games with the Poly unlimited five the Mechanic midgets have finished on top every time and have not been defeated this year.

FORMER CHAMP DURANT PILOT

His parents moved to England when he was 3 years old and he was educated in English schools and universities. He is listed in the A.A.A. who's who as 39 years old, but he has the appearance of a man ten years younger. He believes in keeping himself physically fit and is a skater of rare technique.

Resta will leave with Fred Wagner, the surfer, for Los Angeles, the first week in February. Following the Indianapolis classic, Resta plans a campaign on the other side with a car to be announced later. He wants to race in the Italian and French classics.

Wilshire Turf Handicap Race on for Sunday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TIJUANA RACE TRACK (Mex.) Jan. 9.—It was announced today by Manager J. P. Atkin that the next big route race to be held at the Tijuana track will be the Wilshire Handicap at 1 1-16 miles. This will be decided Sunday, January 14, and the liberal purse which has been offered will tempt a fine field. Horses which have scored with enviable success in New York, Maryland, Kentucky and Canada are being prepred for this contest. Included will be Fairway, considered by many to be about the best handicap horse here; Feylance, Rebuke, Carabosse, Tailor Maid, Adonis, Prince Direct, Regreso, Supercargo and Joella J.

The mare Tailor Maid, by virtue of three strait handicap victories here, is certain to have a big following. Adonis, which runs for the Nesselhous stable, demonstrated his ability at a route last Sunday when he won the Venice Handicap at 1 1-16 miles. Here he took Supercargo and Fairway into tow, but there probably will be a different story next Sunday, for Fairway was in need of his last effort to fit him nicely for future engagements. Then there is Rebuke, from the Commodore J. K. L. Ross string. This is a real good horse, but has been a little slow in rounding to form.

Cubs to Clash With Berkeley Five Tonight

After sending the San Diego Junior College lads home with the short end of a 39 to 20 score, the Southern Branch basketball squad will meet the 145-pound team from Berkeley tonight at the Southern Branch gymnasium. This will be their last public exhibition before the opening of the conference next Saturday.

From all indications the game will be a fast one, for the northern boys, who are coached by George Clark, promise to show some real speed. The Cubs, under the direction of Caddy Works, have shown some class this season, and bid fair to develop into another championship squad.

Works will probably use the same line-up that showed up so well in the San Diego game. Beeson and Bresse at the guard jobs, Eaton and Gibbs as forwards, and Goertz at center will probably open for the Cubs.

JOE KIRKWOOD ANNEXES TITLE

carry the bank, he nearly found the hole, with his fourth and then missed a nasty three-foot putt which looked easy enough to the spectators, but are often much harder than they appear on the side lines. Joe, with a par 4, was again five strokes in front.

The ninth was halved in par 5s and at the turn Kirkwood's tally was 38, against Mac's enormous 43.

MAC RETRIEVES

Mac retrived two strokes on the next two holes by two pars. The Redan twelfth was splendidly played against the wind, Kirkwood's long, low raker just carrying the rampart while Mac's spoon shot was easily over, but just to the right of the green. The hole was halved in par 4s.

Mac found the left side of the circular trap around the island green, but came finely out. Kirkwood just missed his 2 and was again four strokes ahead.

On each of the next two holes, the exceedingly tricky fourteenth and the stiff fifteenth against the wind, Mac retrieved a stroke. Two behind, with only three holes to go, there were still those who believed that the Californian could continue to pull the championship out of the fire. The sixteenth was well halved. The seventeenth gave Mac one stroke back and he left the last tee with the Californian having retrieved five of the margin of six against him after the fourth hole.

Both had splendid drives. Kirkwood, away by a small margin, played to the edge of the green and Mac lost his last chance by not taking an eleventh-hour chance for the pin. His second drew up within a few feet of Kirkwood's, but he had to play the odd. He over-ran the pin and failed to hole his 4, which Kirkwood attained by a perfectly time approach.

The championship was over and the steadier golfer had won.

SALVADORE TO MEET JOSEPHS ON FRIDAY

Phil Salvadore will hook up with Jack Josephs in the main event at the American Legion Hollywood arena next Friday night. Johnny Tiger Cline and Tillie Herman will battle in the semi-wind-up. The balance of the card as arranged by Matchmaker Frank Crowley follows:

Jimmy Hartler vs. Willie O'Brien, 130 pounds; Alex McDonald vs. Al Guillot, 130 pounds; Kenneth Clark vs. Billie Murray, heavyweights; Kid Bernard vs. Bunnie Ryan, 130 pounds; Dallas Ritchie vs. George Gilmore, 150 pounds.

TWENTY-NINE CARS TOLL OF CROOKS

The automobile thieves slipped one over on the people of Los Angeles yesterday, and with the aid of the fine weather managed to get away with no less than twenty-nine automobiles from the streets of the city. Anyone seeing the following cars is asked to report the matter at once to the theft department of the Automobile Club of Southern California or to the police department. The following cars disappeared from the streets yesterday:

TIJUANA RESULTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Today's card at Tijuana was featured by the number of horses that came into the money at outside prices. Heading the list was Brilliant Ray, a Kentucky horse, which under the skillful riding of Jockey Stevens, got off first and never was headed. Ispham got up in the final strides to beat the favorite Tillotson by a head.

Another upset came in the third when Jazz all but succeeded in beating Duc De Guise to the wire.

Five horses were ruled off the Tijuana turf for the season today by the judges. They are Crystal Ford, Whippet, Some Baby, Jack Bauer and Right Angle.

First race, five and one-half furlongs—Gen. Carr, 107 (Ralls,) won; Midian, 113 (Moller,) second; Review, 113 (Wilson,) third. Time, 1:04.

Second race, five and one-half furlongs—Ispham, 109 (Moller,) won; Tillotson, 115 (Carter,) second; Plunger, 113 (F. Anderson,) third. Time, 1:06 4-5.

Third race, five and one-half furlongs—Duc de Guise, 110 (Ralls,) won; Jazz, 115 (Rae,) second; Alston, 105 (Long,) third. Time, 1:09 2-5.

Fourth race, mile and seventy yards—Lariat, 113 (Ralls,) won; Cigale, 110 (Miller,) second; Obstinate, 110 (Long,) third. Time, 1:47 2-5.

Fifth race, mile and seventy yards—Regreso, 117 (Martinez,) won; Manaikin II, 114 (Stevens,) second; Miss Manage, 102 (Ralls,) third. Time, 1:44 4-5.

Sixth race, six furlongs—Brilliant Ray, 102 (Stevens,) won; Lucky Button, 106 (Thomas,) second; Cofield, 104 (Petzold,) third. Time 1:13.

Seventh race, four and one-half furlongs—Settle, 108 (Carter,) won; Sister Susie, 107 (Jones,) second; Phone Ward, 113 (Thomas,) third. Time 0:54 1-5.

Eighth race, five and one-half furlongs—Ethel Brown, 104 (Petzold,) won; Hector, 104 (D. Hurn,) second; Barrimane, 108 (Long,) third. Time 1:07 1-5.

FROM ABROAD

MABEL NORMAND SOON TO BE AMONG US AGAIN

By Grace Kingsley

Mabel Normand, Mack Sennett star, is either in New York at this very moment or is on her way, according to advices received from the Sennett studio yesterday. She sailed from Southhampton on the Majestic one day last week, returning from her second trip abroad.

It is expected that Miss Normand will not linger long in New York, but that she will come home almost at once. Already another story from the prolific brain and typewriter of Mack Sennett awaits her. It is called "Mary Ann," and is about the adventures of a little Irish girl in the New York tenement district and also as a shop-girl.

The star's home on West Seventh street is being prepared for her reception, and she will find a bundle of Christmas presents as high as the ceiling for her to open.

The Sennett studios are preparing for unusual activity. Phyllis Haver has just about finished her role in the Selznick picture, "The Common Law," in which she has been appearing, and a story is ready for to go to work on as soon as she can move her make-up box back to the Sennett lot. Dick Jones will direct. He also will direct Miss Normand when he finishes the Haver picture.

"Humming Bird" Hums

"The Humming Bird," by Maude Fulton, and with Miss Fulton as star, is to hum once more in New York under the management of Frank Egan, and at the Ritz Theater. It will start next Monday night.

The cast includes Robert Ober, Hilda Spong, Violet Dale, Mona Kingsley, Flavia Arcardo, Andrew Mack, Edgar Nelson, Frederick De Bellville and Walter Mills.

Gertrude Vanderbilt, Producer

Gertrude Vanderbilt, who is playing the vivacious Jerry in Avery Hopwood's "The Gold Diggers" at the Mason, is to turn producer, according to her present plans. And she will produce her plays in the West, following the present tour of the Hopwood piece.

"I've wanted to produce plays for a long time," said Miss Vanderbilt, the other night, "and now I think I see my way clear. No, I can't disclose all my plans just at present. But I have a good idea and I don't want anybody to swipe it."

Asked whether she considered that the general run of chorus girls were like those in "The Gold Diggers," Miss Vanderbilt said yes, the ambitious ones were.

"How about Peggy Joyce?" I asked.

"Peggy Joyce!" Miss Vanderbilt's eyes flashed. "Why, I don't consider her in the profession at all. She isn't on the stage. She never had more than one foot on it. I believe she was in the Follies two weeks."

Romance's Tragic End

It has just come to light that in the death of Philip W. Masi in New York a fortnight ago a stage romance came to a tragic end. Belle Bennett, formerly well known to pictures, and lately of the stage, was engaged to marry Masi. She is playing in a stock company in Atlanta, Ga., at present. The wedding was to have taken place March 5.

Steals Picture Honor

Los Angeles has a new kind of burglar. He has a mission in life. Burglarizing homes is just sort of a side line with him, a stepping stone to higher things, as it were. What he really wants to get is an honest-to-goodness job as a screen actor and he probably wouldn't be interested in sawing up a pile of wood or washing the family automobile.

This startling innovation in the yegg's profession came to light the other night. Warner Baxter, Robertson-Cole star, was awakened by his wife, who excitedly informed him that there was a burglar in the house. Arming himself with his trusty gat, the film actor prepared for a possible real melodrama as he crept quietly into another room of the house from which the noise had emanated.

"Don't shoot!" said a voice.

"All right," responded Baxter, "don't you shoot, either, and we'll both come out of this with our health. Wait until I turn on the light."

The light was switched on.

"Now, what do you want?" demanded Baxter, glaring at the intruder.

"Well," replied the visitor in a conciliatory tone, "I came here to rob the place, I'm hungry, down and out. I haven't been able to get a job—"

"You seem pretty decent," replied Baxter. "Let's compromise. I've got a good suit of clothes that I wore in my last picture and a $10 bill—"

"Oh, you're in pictures!" interrupted the burglar. "Well, now, you're just the man I want to see. My pictures are probably all over the country, too—in rogues' galleries—but I came out to this country to get a job as an actor and go straight. I've been trying for weeks to land a part. Casting directors won't give me an audience. I've been looking like a bum. I've had some experience on the stage. Maybe you can help me."

Baxter says he gave the fellow a suit of clothes and the ten and told him to dress up and go out and try his luck.

"He asked me to keep his secret if I ever recognized him on a set, I shall," explained Baxter.

"However," went on the actor, "this isn't an invitation to down-and-out burglars who want to become actors to flock to my place for suits of clothes and $10 bills. The next one that breaks in I shall perhaps be forced either to take a shot at or lead down to the station, provided he doesn't get me first."

Bushmans in Films Again

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are once more heard from, following their long and uneventful vaudeville tour. The two former picture stars will appear in support of Betty Blythe in the latter's next starring vehicle produced by Whitman Bennett, called "The Garden of Desire."

Mr. and Mrs. Bushman have made few pictures since their marriage, four or five years ago. Others in the strong cast will be Tyrone Power, Anne Luther, Nellie Spaulding, Martha Harris, William Carleton and Fred Jones.

Helene Chadwick's New One

Helene Chadwick's next screen appearance will be in "Gimme," by Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hughes.

Baby Peggy Buys Home

Even so early in life Baby Peggy has decided she will never enter the Old Ladies' Home. So she has bought herself a place in Beverly Hills, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Travers Montgomery, her fond parents, are going to give a housewarming party in her honor.

Well Worth Having and Holding

Betty Compson,
Who plays opposite Bert Lytell in the Fitzmaurice production at Grauman's Rialto

Mischa Violin a Feature of Sunday Concert

Mischa Violin, gifted Russian violinist, whom Sid Grauman presented as one of the chief attractions to the Grauman Sunday morning "Discovery" concert, created much enthusiasm with his rendition of the Wieniawski "Faust Fantasie." This was superbly done, bringing forth all the skill of the artist and the fire of his temperament. He exhibited remarkable agility with his technique and his tone is clear and flawless. In response to an encore, Mr. Violin played Kriesler's "Caprice Viennois" which completely won the audience.

Three vocal soloists interspersed their songs with instrumental ensembles. Mlle. La Jeunesse, coloratura soprano, sang "Shadow Song," from "Dinorah" and "A Italy," by Jean Body. F. A. Lynch delighted with his interpretation of "Once in a Thousand Years," by Whiting, and Katherine Hudson, lyric soprano, sang "That Old Irish Mother of Mine," and Bartlett's "A Dream," with charm.

As a special feature to the concert, different emotions were emphasized through musical selections and for sorrow, Tschaikowsky's "Chanson Triste" was played by Anton Bradac, M. Wieler, R. Collies, V. Donatelli, J. Bloor, and Will Garroway, and the violin playing of Mr. Bradac deserves special praise, for he gave a marvelous performance.

Second Calve Concert Has Gala Audience

The gala atmosphere that goes with a gala audience was the token of esteem tendered to Mme. Emma Calve for her art last night at Philharmonic Auditorium. This was her second concert here, and in point of attendance outdid the first event. Mme. Calve responded to the mood of the enthusiasm which greeted her with all her temperamental zest.

Of course, popularly speaking, she succeeded most in such familiar "Carmen" numbers as the "Habanera," the "Serenade" and the Aria des Cartes. The latter in particular she endowed with a superlative significance in drama.

She offered some especially fine classic and modern numbers from the French. One of the most appealing was the "Divinities du Sty" by Gluck, with which she opened the program. "Le Roi Renaud," a mysterious and rather dynamic number, also carried much histrionic power.

"L'Invitation au Voyage" by Duparc, "Au Printemps" by Gounod, and the chansons from the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries also contained much of charm. Mme. Calve's voice impressed much with its low tones, which are still notably rich and beautiful.

She will give a final concert here Friday evening at Bovard Auditorium.

MAX FISHER AND ORCHESTRA READY

Max Fisher is ready to open at Loew's State Theater Sunday.

After three weeks of rehearsing, the syncopationist has announced that he has whipped his organization into shape for his debut as a musical director of a motion picture theater.

The organization, numbering twenty-five, is the largest of its kind. His orchestra will be capable of both symphony and syncopation.

Announcement has been made by E. C. Bostick, manager of Loew's that the players will be garbed in unique costumes and the stage setting will be a magnificent sight.

Programed with Fisher is the premiere of Reginald Barker's picturization of Harold Titus's novel "Hearts Aflame," with Anna Q. Nilsson, Frank Keenan, Russell Simpson, Richard Tucker, Stanton Heck, Richard Headrick and Walt Whitman in the cast.

Laurette Taylor in "Peg O' My Heart" closes with Saturday night's performances, and Bessie Clayton, in order to fill Eastern engagements will close Friday giving two shows, one at 2:15 and 4:15 p.m.

Wagner Numbers on Philharmonic Program Friday

Next Friday at 3 p.m., and Saturday at 8:30 p.m., at Philharmonic Auditorium, the Philharmonic Orchestra, Walter Henry Rothwell, conductor, will present an entire program of Wagner compositions, opening with the Eine Faust overture, one of his first compositions to receive attention, a work which had been rewritten from the Faust symphony of Liszt, the Siegfried Idyll, written as a birthday surprise for his wife, Cosima "Waldweben" (Forest-Murmurs) from Siefried's Rhine Journey ("Dusk of the Gods.") Siegfried's Death and Funeral March, Good Friday Spell from "Parsifal," and the "Tannhauser" Overture, complete the program.

Starting February 4, for the next four popular Sunday afternoon concerts, Conductor Rothwell has arranged a series of programs that should prove highly interesting to the many patrons of these concerts. The rest of the four, falling on Sunday afternoon, February 4, is to be an all-French program, with Anna Altman, the distinguished Russian pianist, as soloist, playing the Saint-Saens concerto No. 4 in C minor.

On Sunday afternoon, February 18, an all-Wagner program. On March 4 an all-Tschaikowsky program with Calmon Luboviski, violinist, as soloist, playing the "Serenade Melancholique."

On Sunday afternoon, March 18, an all-American program with works of living composers, many of which are in manuscript form and will be played for the first time anywhere. At this concert Estelle Heartt-Dreyfus, contralto, will be the soloist. For these four popular concerts a special season ticket will be sold at a reduction from the single ticket prices.

LATIN COUNTRIES TO SEE "SUZANNA"

"Suzanna," Mack Sennett's immortalization of Castilian rule in California, with Mabel Normand in the title role, will be immediately prepared for its road show tour through all Spanish-speaking countries. The producer announces that the special editions of the picture will travel through South American republics and in Spain in company with a mammoth atmospheric prelude production, in which will be used a company of fifty singers and dancers. The music is now being written and arranged by Bert Lewis, associate organist of the Mission Theater, where the Normand picture is playing in the third week of its world premiere Mack Sennett is personally preparing the book for the act.

Only theaters with big stages will be able to house the attraction. The translation of "Suzanna" into Spanish editions is being completed and the first print will be available for bookings in South America in February. It is estimated that at that time the accompanying act will have been rehearsed and all actors engaged, so that the first company may start.

POST PRIZES ROSE ROOT FROM ENGLAND

Recently Guy Bates Post, the star of "Omar the Tentmaker," received a gift which he prizes above all others. It is a root from the rose bush which blossoms about the tomb of Edward Fitzgerald, the scholar who translated the quatrains of the old Persian poet, Omar Khayyam. A friend of Post's, appreciating his great interest in Omar as demonstrated by his stage and screen characterizations of the old poet philosopher, received official permission to bring to Post this offshoot.

PHILIPPINI DECIDES TO REMAIN ANGELENO

And now another has been stricken with that terrible disease known as "Californialtis." He is Don Philippini.

The Don recently left Loew's State, where for over a year he has been director of the orchestra and when several offers came from the East he began to think of leaving California but the thought was so unpleasant that he has turned them down and has bought a lot and is going to indulge in California's favorite out-door past-time house-building.

Even the Don's native New Orleans has lost its charm. "It is reported that he will soon be made conductor of one of Los Angeles largest theater orchestras.

BOAT SOLD FOR CLAIMS

United States Marshal Sittel yesterday sold at public vendue at Los Angeles Harbor, the fishing boat Idoha, to the South Coast Canning Company for $500. There were a number of claims against the vessel on account of supplies furnished.

PLAYDOM

"MERRY WIDOW"

VON STROHEIM TO PICTURIZE COMIC OPERA

By Edwin Schallert

Quite the most intriguing news that has come out regarding a director's future plans of late is the announcement from the East that Erich Von Stroheim is to film "The Merry Widow." The rights to the comic opera have been purchased by the Goldwyn organization, and it is settled that Mr. Von Stroheim will be the director, as he has long desired to make the picture.

Not only will be direct, but he also will, in all probability, play the role of the prince, adding to the original story many personal touches from his own experience in the Austrian service.

The story will be the lightest he has ever filmed.

Mr. Von Stroheim is at present in San Francisco, working on the picture version of "McTeague," by Frank Norris. This is another story that he has long anticipated filming, and he is making it in the actual localities where the plot is laid.

"The Merry Widow" may possibly be Mr. Von Stroheim's next production. That will mean, the start about six months hence, according to present plans. But, of course—

There is always "Ben Hur."

Would Rival "Nanook"

One boob: I see Dick Barthelmess is coming to town.

Second boob: Yes, he's going to appear in "Furry."

Will Direct for Doug

The director for the pirate picture, on which Douglas Fairbanks is to start work, has been selected—Raoul Walsh. The picture will be started in about a month or six weeks, and will be filmed under the working title of "The Black Pirate."

Mr. Walsh started his career as one of D. W. Griffith's aides in the producing of "The Clansman." He was later hired by Fox to direct Theda Bara, and also made a special feature, "The Honor System." Later he entered the independent field. His latest work was with Goldwyn on a South Sea Island story.

The leading woman for the Fairbanks production is, of course, to be Evelyn Brent, the newcomer to the screen, whom Mary and Doug brought back with them from the East on their last trip.

Beery In Keaton Comedy

Wallace Beery has been engaged to play an important role in Buster Keaton's first five-reel, "There Ages," Margaret Leahy is leading woman. Lionel Belmore is also in the picture.

Bod Wagner to Direct

Bod Wagner, article and story writer, who is known for the humor of his work, is to forsake the pen for the megaphone. In other words, Mr. Wagner will direct. He has been engaged for this duty by the Famous Players-Lasky company. His first production will be the next Walter Hiers picture, "Seventy-five Cents an Hour."

Lloyd with First National?

We hear that Frank Lloyd is to become affixed to First National as a director, under contract, and that he will make special productions. Mr. Lloyd is at present directing "Within the Law" starring Norma Talmadge.

CADMAN TO PRESENT NEW SONG TOMORROW

SOL COHEN, ROBERT ALTER, PRINCESS TSIANINA, ON PROGRAM

A program of great appeal to all who are interested in music, will be presented by Charles Wakefield Cadman and Princess Tsianina at Philharmonic Auditorium tomorrow. They will be assisted by Sol Cohen, violinist, and Robert Alter, 'cellist. Songs by American composers and the trios from the Thunderbird Suite and Omar Khayyam Suite by Charles Wakefield Cadman will be featured.

As a special surprise Tsianina will sing Cadman's latest song, "A Cry at Dawn," which he feels will have the popularity of "At Dawning" and "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

SALOME FOLLOWED NATURAL IMPULSE

"Because Salome did what many women desired to do, yet could not, she has come to the regarded as the most vicious character in antiquity," said Nazimova recently.

The photodramatic star is to been seen at the California Theater starting Sunday in a screen version of "Salome" based on Oscar Wilde's poetic drama.

"Salome, rebuffed in her advances to Jokannan, flew into a rage. Since she could not have him, she wanted no one else to. The only insurance of that was death, and of that Salome has the power. How many women have longed to slay the men who have failed to love them? Many more than Salome."

This picture is directed by Charles Bryant. Aubrey Beardsley's drawings were utilized by Natacha Rambova (Mrs. Rodolph Valentino) in preparing the settings.

SEMON DECLARES A HOLIDAY FOR CAST

Larry Semon declared a grand holiday for his staff yesterday, it being such a warm, summary day Larry suggested that it was a wonderful time for a dip in the blue.

It seemed that bathing suits appeared as if by magic. Off they were and into the briny deep in a jiffy. Having nearly all the ocean to themselves they frolicked like carefree children.

Larry relented after much coaxing and did some very clever and knockoutish stunts on the surf board, which brought forth such comments as "Larry is some 'seaman!'"

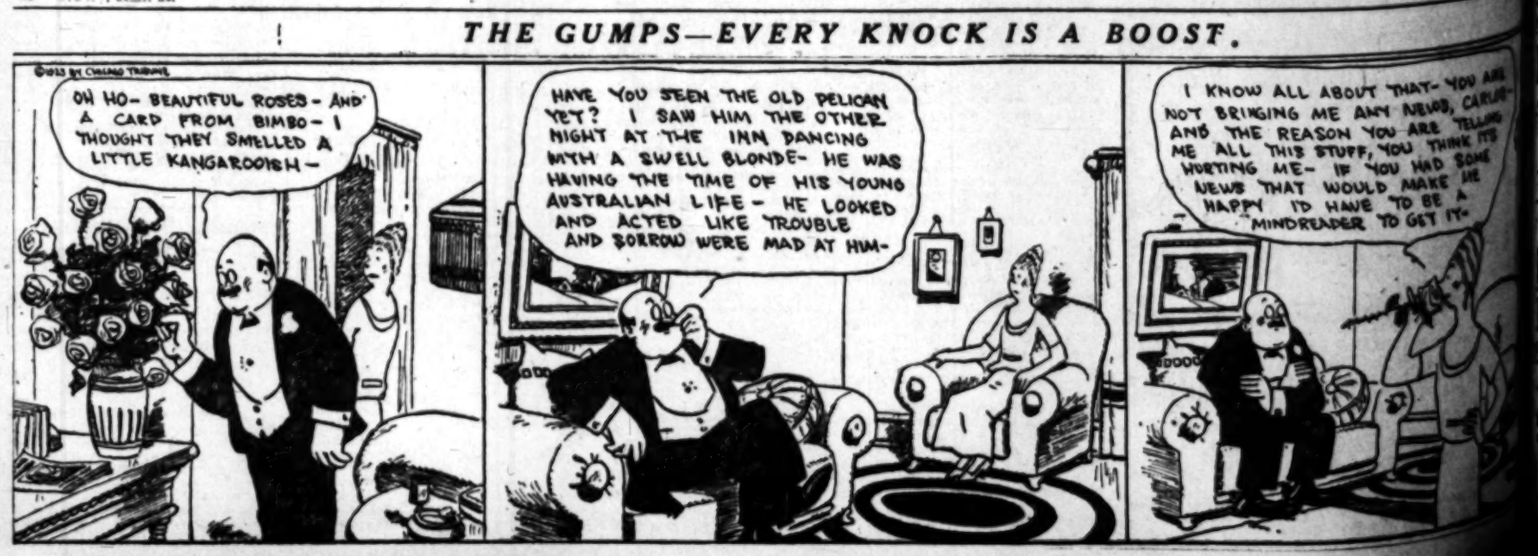
THE GUMPS—EVERY KNOCK IS A BOOST.



"Dividends Are Music to Me"

Folks, the Bank is executing my dividend checks for December, so you may be on the lookout for yours between the 15th and 20th. I pay a real juicy dividend this month, but just keep your lamps on me when I drill in No. 1, No. 3 and No. 4. I'm just wondering how the knockers will alibi themselves when I tip these three giants in. I suppose they'll say I was just lucky.

By the way, folks, I'm getting lined up with my new offer. I'll spring it on you one of these days, and, take it from me, it's going to be a knockout, too, right in the highest class locations in the field.

They're unloading 4 new complete rotary outfits for me now and about sixteen cars of pipe in all sizes. You know when I invite you to come in with me I give you action on your dough. And when I hit you with my new offer there'll be no stalling around. I'll be of like a bat out of H——!

BOND QUOTATIONS

Good Recovery

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Good buying support developed for French and Belgian bonds in today's market and they made good recovery from yesterday's depression, despite the actual invasion of the Ruhr by French troops. Gains of 1 to 1 1-4 points were scored by Belgian 7½s and 8s, French 7½s and 8s, Seine 7s and Paris-Lyons-Mediterannean 6s. New low records were made during the day by the Serbian 8s which got down to 66½ but rallied a point before the close and the Republic of Colombia 6½s, which were quoted at 92 1-4.

Marked irregularity prevailed in railroad mortgages. Northern Pacific 4½s moved up 1 3-4 points and Erie convertible 4s, series D, 1½, while gains of 1 to 1 1-4 were made by St. Paul debenture 4s and refundings 4½s, Norfolk and Western convertible 6s, "Soo" 6s and St. Louis and Iron Mountain River and Gulf 4s. Weakness developed in St. Paul convertible 5s, New York, Westchester and Boston 4½s, International and Great Northern adjustment 6s, and Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s. Chile Copper 7s were the feature of the industrial group, gaining 2 1-4 points. Mexican Petroleum 8s, American Sugar 6s and Consolidation Coal of Maryland 5s also were strong but Cerro de Pasco 8s, Atlantic Fruit 7 per cent certificates and Remington Arms 6s were reactionary.

Except for a gain of 2 cents on $100 in the Liberty 3½s, all the active United States government securities declined, the losses ranging from 2 to 14 cents.

Total sales (par value) were $12,562,000.

Public offering was made here today of a $5,000,000 issue of Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank ten-year 4 3-4 per cent farm loan bonds. Subscription books on the $2,000,000 Ohio Power Company first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds were closed today, all the bonds having been sold. The Pieres Arrow Motor Car Company is reported to be arranging for the permanent financing of approximately $8,000,000 in bank loans.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Following are the closing bond quotations on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan.

LONDON MARKET

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The stock exchange showed a heavy tendency today, the continental situation being a disturbing factor and stimulating certain amount of liquidation at the opening, but a slight recovery preceded the close. British funds held steady in the gilt-edge market. Dollar rails were firm. British-American tobaccos were easier at 85s, 10½d. Oils were weak, a variety of rumors respecting Shells and Eagles being prevalent. Shells, 4 1-32; Mexican Eagle, 1¾; Anglo-American ordinary, 4 1-16. Rubbers were steadier, with quotations again better all around. Prices Mines were active and better at 21s, 4½d.

Credit was abundant in the money market, with day-to-day money at 1¼@1½ per cent. Now accommodation at 1, futures 1½ for renewals of fresh loans. Foreign exchange: New York, 4.64¾; Berlin, 56,500; Paris, 68.15.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

A. B. Widney, a real estate dealer of this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. He owes $4,326, and gives his assets as $20,000, consisting of 150,000 units of the Ventura-Tex Petroleum Syndicate.

Howard D. Kenney, a clerk, filed a similar petition. His liabilities are $1,316, and he has no assets.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Textile Market Registers Well-Ordered Advance

Silks Are in Steady Demand in Los Angeles

Coast Syndicate Offers Big Block of Water Bonds

What is described as a well-ordered advance is taking place in the cotton, wool and silk goods business, according to Milton G. Cooper of the Milton G. Cooper Dry Goods Company, and there is little doubt but that the next few months will bring higher quotations because of the rise in the raw material and wages. Textile manufacturers are anticipating a demand for increased wages, and are quoting their goods fractionally higher to the wholesaler for this reason.

prices for spring goods as quoted by wholesalers are considerably above the levels prevalent last spring. Cotton goods, which are moving in record volume, are 12½ per cent above the same period of 1921, and will go higher before the season is completed, is the prophecy made by Mr. Cooper. Raw cotton is the principal factor in the advance. The New York market quotations for the staple were around 16 cents last spring and are now at 26 cents. As the textile manufacturers have nearly distributed their products made from the cheaper cotton, the goods manufactured now represent a higher cost because of the increased price of the raw material, and the wholesaler necessarily fills his depleted stocks from the higher priced goods.

A shipment significant of the demand for cotton goods here has just been received by the M. G. Cooper Dry Goods Company aggregating 2200 cases, and is said to be the largest shipment of cotton

UNION BANK DEPOSITS REGISTER INCREASE

An increase in deposits of more than 50 per cent during 1922 is shown by the annual statement of the Union Bank and Trust Company, just issued.

On Jan. 1, 1922, deposits amounted to $7,396,222.11. At the beginning of this year they had increased to $10,940,897.64.

This growth took place during the year following the bank's occupancy of its new building at the corner of Eighth and Hill streets, according to a statement by officials. In addition to the progress indicated by the heavy increase in deposits, the bank has been successful during 1922 in establishing two important additions to its service: an investment department and a safe deposit department.

Union Bank and Trust Company has one of the most interesting histories among Los Angeles financial institutions. It traces its origin to the private banking activities of Kaspare Cohn, one of the pioneer merchants of Los Angeles. Part of the service he rendered the customers of his store, in the days when there was no banks here, was to safeguard their surplus funds, particularly in the case of storekeepers who were absent from the city for long periods. This "deposits" thus made gradually grew in volume until there was developed a regular banking business, which was later reorganized as the Union Bank and Trust Company.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Stock Exchange Head Endorses the Golden Rule; Market Review; Government Ownership

The growth of business and financial Los Angeles is reflected in the growth of the stock exchange which now ranks in importance and turnover well up toward the top of the list.

Frank Hervey Pettingell, president of the exchange, yesterday presented his annual report to the board of governors wherein he says that it is obvious that the exchange is not taking full advantage of its opportunities, and urges greater co-operation.

The president renews his annual suggestion that the total amount of money involved would have been doubled had members seen fit to record all their transactions in listed stocks and bonds. In other words the off-board training continues to be a menace to expansion.

Mr. Pettingell recommends the establishment of the position of director of public relations whose duty it would be to secure desirable listings and conduct a systematic campaign of education, including lectures before organizations explaining the advantage of dealing in listed securities.

Two phases of stock-exchange business which have come in for considerable attention during the year are the inroads made into the bond business by banks and trust companies, and the conflicting rates of commission now in vogue in the three exchanges on the Pacific Coast.

In the first instance the president says that the only retaliation he can suggest is that the members be allowed to handle all bonds, whether listed or otherwise on a net basis and that they make it their business to see to it that every bond listed is honestly quoted on the exchange from day to day. "In these times," he says, "when so many bonds are in the hands of the people, the public should be taught that the stock exchange is the only logical place to buy and sell bonds to the best advantage."

Turning to a discussion of the commission question he urges a uniform commission schedule.

The total number of shares and bonds handled in 1922 was approximately $36,500,000, or $16,000,000 in excess of 1921, and about $14,000,000 in excess of any previous year in the history of the exchange.

The total value of shares and bonds handled in 1922 amounted to approximately $38,500,000, or about $11,500,000 in excess of 1921.

Transactions in public utilities and industries in 1922 totaled about $7,000,000, or about $3,500,000 in excess of 1921. It is pointed out that, as the shareholders in these issues are rapidly increasing in number, the volume of business may be expected to increase accordingly.

In conclusion, Mr. Pettingell reminds the membership of the importance of fostering a better spirit of good-fellowship, "for, after all is said and done," he says, "there is no business or profession where the Golden Rule can be applied to better advantage than to the business of a stock exchange."

MARKET REVIEW

The judgment of financial markets regarding the European situation remained as inscrutable yesterday as did the immediate purposes of the French and German governments. Even foreign exchange began to hesitate in its verdict. During the earlier hours of the day, sterling rose rapidly 1 1-4 cents, actually coming within 1-8 of the highest rate reached since the week in which it went to $4.69. Simultaneously francs advanced, canceling nearly all the decline of the day before. While this was going on prices advanced on the stock exchange, half a dozen stocks moving up h point or more.

This attitude did not change until shortly before the close of business when what appeared to be aggressive speculative selling of both stocks and foreign exchange, forced prices back again; with the result that, although sterling and French exchange ended at a respectable net recovery for the day, the stock market mostly gave a picture of irregular net declines. Altogether the markets presented a highly perplexing picture.

No other inference could be drawn from the day's markets than continued unwillingness to assume calamitous consequences of the French demonstration in the Ruhr. It remained no doubt equally undetermined, whether judgment was suspended until it was seen whether the military move was irrevocable, or until the bad moral effect, if any, of actual occupation could be balanced against the other and nonpolitical influences.

The sense of speculative backing and filling pervaded every other market. Even the French Republic 8 and 7 1-2 per cents rose 1 1-2 points in the early bond

MARK LOST IN CIPHER MAZE

When Security Goes to Zero There's Plenty of It

America Apathetic to Old World Conditions

Strike Danger of Last Year Less Pronounced

BY C. B. EVANS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright 1922, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The banks in this city yesterday quoted German marks at 01, with a black dot sitting in front of that number, and it is remembered that a good many people here still hold this currency, for the man who gets into a bad speculation generally waits for "something to turn up," and the something that he is interested in turns down.

That is the record in marks, and the only satisfaction the holders have left is the fact that they have helped pay the bills of a country not long ago our enemy. And the trouble with that market now is the mathematical principle that you can go as far down as up, and there is theoretically no limit. In this case it is quite probable that the holder of marks will have to hunt around among a vast number of ciphers to find out where he is at not long hence. When you get to nothing you find there is plenty of that.

The woeful thing about it is that the man to whom you owe money will not accept negations or minus quantities in settlement. And the folks at home need food.

TOO MUCH MONEY

It is a case of overproduction, and Americans who have memories running back half a century do not need to be told what that means with respect to values and the stability of business. All the historic inflations of the world put together would hardly equal that which has been created in Europe, and the cause there is precisely the reverse of that which has caused inflation in this country from time to time. We have a big lot of money when we have big business, which is assumed to mean prosperity, and usually does mean prosperity of a certain kind, whereas Europe's bloat is due to destruction and starvation.

Europe has latterly been the greatest breeder of all time. The Treaty of Versailles is responsible for an extraordinary litter of new nations; Russia turns out new governments, new policies and worthless paper on a scale that reminds one of the prolific production of Ford Motor Company's specialties, and the output of paper in these countries, based on next to nothing, is so enormous as to appall all observers.

The apathy of Americans under these conditions is one of the most notable things in history and argues much against the modern theory that no nation can be very distant from any other nation with the means of communication now available. We are remote and therefore to a great extent safe, because the ocean is between us and because, also, the principles and

Concentration Continues in Steel Industry

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Concentration of the steel industry in a few great corporations progressed a step further today. A merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Steel and Tube Company of America was announced by James A. Campbell, president of the Youngstown company. The consolidation will form the third largest steel concern in the country, being outranked only by the United States Steel and the Bethlehem Steel Corporations.

The present merger calls for the Youngstown company to take over the steel and tube company, which has assets around $114,400,000 and plants scattered through the Chicago steel district, employing several thousand workers. The present merger follows closely the purchase of the Brier Hill Steel Company by the Youngstown company.

The steel and tube company has $16,800,000 preferred stock and 967,330 shares of common stock of a nominal par value of $2 a share. The appraisal value of the new concern will be about $250,000,000.

The marked improvement in general conditions in the Middle West last year is reflected in the annual report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, issued today. The bank's net earnings in 1922 were only one-tenth those of 1921, but this is a sign of returning prosperity, inasmuch as small earnings indicate that the member banks have plenty of funds to finance the needs of agriculture and industry without borrowing from the reserve bank.

LIGHTER GINNINGS HELP COTTON PRICES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9. — Cotton futures closed 5 to 9 points higher. The market showed increased resistance to pressure from Wall-street bears and locals and in early dealings moved up 20 to 30 points over last night's finals, in reflection of improved sentiment regarding European conditions, lighter ginning figures to December 31 than expected and firm cables. Prices were generally firm around the middle of the day, with the market a little under its top, due to professional realizing. Pressure increased steadily in later dealings, the market receding slowly from the weight of long offerings and new short sellings until virtually all its gain was lost. The close was generally steady and quiet.

The local market for spot cotton quiet, 10 points advance, 26.60 for middling upland.

France, 1515-1547

The Bonds of Francis I

THE issue of bonds for government loans assumed a more or less regular form in France in the time of Francis I.

Through his wars with Spain, England and Italy, through his own wanton personal extravagance and the maintenance of a large and dissolute court, he piled up a huge debt —the first public debt of France.

Regular methods were used in securing these loans, the city of Paris being deputed to keep the list of creditors and bondholders and pay out the interest.

At one time this monarch was captured in Italy by an army of his great enemy, Charles V of Spain. He was taken to Madrid, and one more loan was forced from his patient people for the ransom of their extravagant king.

Today, bond issues are used for the improvement of our industries, our cities and our country.

Two Issues
Armour and Company

The name of "Armour and Company" symbolizes big American business—deep-rooted in essential world commerce. It means strength; it means soundness; it means integrity; it means financial responsibility; it means the utmost in efficient management. The organization of the new Armour and Company of Delaware, required by the tremendous development of this business, gives investors opportunity safely to invest in securities possessing exceedingly attractive features.

Both Issues Guaranteed by Armour and Company of Illinois.

The Bonds

The bonds of Armour and Company of Delaware are First Mortgage 20-year 5½% Guaranteed Gold Bonds outstanding in the amount of $50,000,000. Callable at 105 and interest. The price is 96 and interest, yielding about 5.85%. These bonds are a direct mortgage obligation of the new company and through pledge of First Mortgage bonds or obligations of subsidiaries, are secured by a first mortgage upon lands, buildings, machinery, fixed equipment and properties appraised by the American Appraisal Company at sound values exceeding $85,000,000. Net tangible assets are $178,359,000. Net current assets are $60,424,000.

Net earnings of the properties of the new Company for six-year period ended October 29, 1921, available for interest averaged more than 5 times annual bond interest charges. During the first eleven months of 1922, despite adverse conditions, net earnings of these properties, available for interest amounted to 2⅗ times annual bond interest charges.

Armour and Company of Illinois unconditionally guarantees the principal and interest on these bonds.

The Preferred Stock

The preferred stock of Armour and Company of Delaware is a 7% Guaranteed Preferred Stock, outstanding in the amount of $60,000,000. Callable at 110. The price is $99 per share and accrued dividend, yielding slightly more than 7%. After deducting the bonded debt of $50,000,000 and all other indebtedness, net tangible assets amount to $213 per share of this stock. Net current assets alone amount to $100 per share of this stock.

Net earnings of the properties of the new Company for six-year period ended October 29, 1921, available for dividends averaged 2½ times annual dividend requirements. During the first eleven months of 1922, despite adverse conditions, net earnings of these properties exceeded annual dividend requirements.

Armour and Company of Illinois unconditionally guarantees by endorsement, principal, dividends and sinking funds of this Preferred Stock. The Preferred Stock is now listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Trading in today's stock market continued relatively dull under the restraining influence of the unsettled foreign situation, news of the actual invasion of the Ruhr by French troops causing heavy speculative selling in the late dealings, which depressed most of the active issues below last night's closing levels.

Bullish operations in special stocks had a stimulating effect on the rest of the list in the early dealings and some excellent gains were recorded, particularly in the Independent steels, oils, gas and motors, but these were materially reduced or wiped out in the final reaction. Large traders are still disposed to await further developments abroad before extending their commitments.

Baldwin was one of the early leaders, touching 135¼, dropping 4 points and rallying feebly to 133 at the close, where it was off nearly 2 points on the day. Studebaker, which got up as high as 116⅝, closed at 114 for a net loss of 1½. United States Steel closed at 100 for a slight fractional loss. Chile Copper made a new high on the movement at 29⅝ on speculative expectation of an early announcement of its merger with the Anaconda company. Cosden also touched a new top, strength of this issue being attributed to rumors that the preferred stock is about to be retired, leaving the entire earnings and assets of the company for the common. Steel and Tube preferred continued its rise to higher ground on announcement that its stockholders soon would be called upon to ratify its sale to the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, today's closing price of, 102 representing a net gain of more than 2 points.

One of the most spectacular features of the day was the movement of Atlantic Refining, which registered an extreme gain of 21 points at 160, and a net gain of 10 at 149, its closing price. Special weakness in Allied Chemical was predicated on the belief that the recent disappointing turn in the company's earnings would interfere with the increase in dividends upon which the recent advance has been built. The stock closed today at a loss of 2⅝ points. Reports of new financing which would retire bank loans of the Pierce-Arrow Company were reflected in an advance of nearly a point in the common and 2¾ in the preferred.

Other active shares to register net losses of a point or more were American Can, American Locomotive, American Tobacco, Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock and certificates, California Petroleum, St. Paul preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, Eastman Kodak, Fisher Body, Pan-American A. and B., North American A. and B., North American and Bethlehem Steel B.

Call money opened at 4¾ per cent, but eased off to 4½ at the close. Time money is quoted at 4½ to 4¾ per cent for all maturities. Out-of-town banks were the principal takers of commercial paper, most of which is moving at 4½ per cent.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, eased off and then strengthened again at the close. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.65¾, or nearly a cent above last night's close and French francs were virtually unchanged at 6.73½ cents. German marks dropped to 92-100ths of a cent a hundred, another new low record.

Day's total sales, 706,000 shares; 20 industrials averaged 97.23. Net loss .83. High, 1922, 103.43. Low, 78.59; 20 railroads averaged 84.96. Net loss .45. High, 1923, 93.99. Low, 73.42.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 9.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Sales of pig iron at Cincinnati gave larger and prices firmer, but buying in East is slower. Steel fabricators of iron at Chicago continue booking heavy business throughout West. Mere Youngstown district sheet mills are operating as orders keep rolling in. Semi-finished makers in valley withdrew from market for this month. Copper producers have no difficulty getting 14¾ at New York for first quarter. Lead is settled and rising at 7.55@7.65, while zinc is quiet at 7. St. Louis Tin is unchanged at 33¼@33½."

PUTS & CALLS

Calls purchased during a period of price recessions in a bull market usually show big profits.

To illustrate this we call attention to Studebaker selling around 113 early in December; it later sold to 140. Sears Roebuck sold down to 78 at that time and since to 90. Continental Can was 100 early in December and has since crossed 122.

Buy Calls now—we suggest Studebaker, Continental Can, Amer. Can, Pan American and U. S. Steel. Phone, write or call for booklet, "Puts and Calls"—It tells what they are, how they operate, etc.

Prompt attention to mail orders.

Spring Valley Water Company
First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds

Dated May 1, 1923. Due May 1, 1943. Interest payable May 1 and November 1 at the office of the Union Trust Company of San Francisco, in San Francisco, and at the office of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, in New York, without deduction of Normal Federal Income Tax up to 2%. Callable as a whole or in part on any interest date at 102½ during the first ten years and thereafter at ½% less each year, but at not less than par. In the event of the purchase of the Company's operative properties by the City of San Francisco, the bonds may be called at par, provided the municipality does not desire to assume, as a municipal obligation, the then outstanding bonds. Coupon bonds of $1000 denomination with privilege of registration as to principal only. Total authorized issue, $40,000,000. Additional bonds may be issued only under conservative restrictions.

UNION TRUST COMPANY OF SAN FRANCISCO, Trustee

Exempt from Personal Property Taxes in the State of California

Application has been filed to have these bonds certified as a legal investment for California Savings Banks, and bonds are offered subject to the issuance of this certificate

AUTHORIZED BY THE CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMMISSION

HISTORY: The Spring Valley Water Company, or its predecessor in interest, has supplied the City of San Francisco with water for municipal and domestic purposes since 1858. It is the largest privately owned water company in the United States.

PROPERTIES: The operative properties of the Company consist of 62,119 acres of land owned in fee, and riparian rights to 33,343 acres, together with water sources, lakes, reservoirs, dams, pipe lines and distribution mains, forming a complete water system which supplies the entire City and County of San Francisco, a population of approximately 650,000.

VALUE OF PROPERTY: The operative properties of the Company were appraised as of March 1, 1920, by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, at $37,000,000, since which date there have been added improvements, extensions and additions, making a total valuation exceeding $38,000,000.

FRANCHISES: The Company's franchises are perpetual under the provisions of the constitution of the State of California, but no monetary value has been placed upon them in the appraisal made by the California Railroad Commission.

SECURITY: These bonds will, upon retirement of the present outstanding bonds on December 1, 1923, be secured by a first mortgage on all of the Company's operative properties.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds of this issue will be used to extinguish approximately $21,000,000 of funded indebtedness, and to provide for additions and extensions to the Company's properties.

EARNINGS: The Company's earnings have been steady and dependable. For the past six years, after providing for all operating expenses, depreciation and all taxes, the available earnings have been 2.11 times the annual interest requirement of $1,100,000 on the bonds to be issued. For the year 1922, with the month of December estimated, the available earnings have been 2.47 times this interest requirement.

MARKET EQUITY: On basis of present quotations, the Company's outstanding common stock represents a market equity of some $20,000,000, junior to the bonds to be issued.

LEGALITY: All proceedings in connection with the creation and issuance of these bonds will be approved by Messrs. McCutchen, Olney, Mannon & Greene, of San Francisco.

PUBLIC RELATIONS: The City of San Francisco has been given a twelve-year option to purchase the Company's operative properties at the California Railroad Commission's valuation, made in 1920, of $37,000,000, plus certain additions since that date. In the meanwhile, the city will build a bay conduit to be leased to the Company to augment the water supply. In case the city exercises its option to purchase the water company's properties, the trust indenture under which these bonds are secured, provides that the city may assume these bonds as a valid municipal obligation.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the San Francisco and the New York Stock Exchanges

Oest Mine, Silver City, Nevada

THE OEST CONSOLIDATED MINES COMPANY (Nevada Corporation) with Property and Works in the Comstock District at Silver City, Nevada, is offering, under proper authorization, 200,000 Shares of its Capital Stock, fully paid and non-assessable, at 25 cents per share.

This is the final opportunity of obtaining Oest Stock at this low price.

The receipts from the sale of this stock will be used exclusively for further intensive mining operations in the rapid development of what we believe will prove to be one of the richest gold mines in Nevada.

Rich ore exposed through recent developments on the 125 and 200-foot levels, together with the striking continuity of the veins, has convinced mining experts that the real Bonanza Ore Bodies lie below—between the 200 and 500-foot levels—notwithstanding the fact that the Oest Mine has already produced $1,500,000.00 and some of the richest gold ore in the World. To uncover these riches in the shortest possible time and put the mine again on a dividend paying basis is the incentive that prompts the Oest Company to offer Stock to the public at this time.

The fullest investigation is courted as to the mine, the status of the Company and the Management.

The number of shares offered for sale is strictly limited.

Take advantage of this liberal offer and become a shareholder in one of the most promising, producing Gold Mining Properties on the Pacific Coast. Mail your check at once to the Oest Consolidated Mines Company, Room 714 Claus Spreckels Building, San Francisco, California.

HOMER J. McHENRY, Secretary.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Oil stocks responded to a strong buying movement yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange with United States Royalties taking the lead in the upward march. This stock advanced 5½ cents to a close of 63, and at one time sold at 65 cents. Republic Petroleum was also a favorite, gaining 2½ cents on a closing quotation of 25. General Petroleum at 29½ was up¼ of a point, and Union Oil Associates increased ½ to 47½.

The mining stocks were of secondary importance. Activity in this group failed to gain any headway, with Telluride, Nellie and United Eastern the principal issues in demand. Telluride dropped ½ cent to 31, Nellie gained ½ cent at 10, and United Eastern, selling ex-dividend, closed at 1.80, up 1 cent. Oatman United ended the day at 13 cents.

Goodyear Tire and Rubber continued to maintain a strong tone, with sales running around 87. The close, however, was at 85, 1½ points off from the previous day. Southern California Edison common sold at 104.

Following are the closing quotations and sales:

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MART

goods sent through the Panama Canal under one manifest.

Retail buyers are displaying a strong tendency this season toward wash goods, percales and dress ginghams. Under the general head of wash goods, plain and fancy crepes, voiles and printed goods of the small effect type are being bought heavily. Styles are changing to the conservative goods, except in the many colored lines, where large patterns are in vogue. In the dress ginghams classification, the checks and smaller work, illustrative of the conservative tendency, are meeting with the best sale.

Silks are finding the best market ever experienced here, although the price tendency is a rising one. Imports of raw silk from Japan are made on a basis 33 1-3 per cent above last year, and still higher quotations are predicted. The demand in this line centers around silk ratine, silk and wool crepe and printed goods. The volume of these goods moving off the shelves of the wholesale houses is breaking all previous records.

Sale of spring woolens is confined to tweed effects. The price level is about 33 1-3 per cent above the 1921 level, due to sharp increases in the raw product, aided by tariff restrictions. As reflected in rugs and carpets, manufacturers have withdrawn all quotations until further notice.

The same tendency is pictured in the market for house furnishings and draperies. The feverish demand for these goods inspired by the enormous building activity in this country has naturally been portrayed in prices, and all quotations are subject to withdrawal at this time.

Prices on fall goods in all lines will be fixed at the annual meeting of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association in New York from January 15 to 17. Mr. Cooper, who has been president of the association for two terms, will attend the meeting.

SPRING VALLEY BONDS

A syndicate headed by the First Securities Company and the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles and the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco is offering $22,000,000 Spring Valley Water Company 5 per cent first mortgage gold bonds at 98½ to yield 5.12 per cent. The bonds are callable at 102½ on any interest date during the first ten years and thereafter at ½ point less each year, but not less than par.

The Spring Valley Water Company serves the city of San Francisco and vicinity. Earnings for the past six years, after providing for all depreciation and taxes, have been 7.11 times the annual interest requirement of $1,100,000 on the present bond issue.

Associated with the original underwriting syndicate in the sale of the bonds are the Equitable Trust Company of New York, Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank of San Francisco, Blair & Co., Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Union Trust Company of San Francisco, Security Savings and Trust Company of Portland, First National Corporation of Boston, Anglo-London Paris Company of San Francisco, Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, American National Company of San Francisco, First National Bank of Oakland, Security Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco and Union Trust Company of Chicago.

FARM LAND BONDS

Harris Trust and Savings Bank is offering $75,000,000 Federal Land Bank 4½ per cent twenty-year bonds at 101 and interest, to yield about 4¾ per cent. The bonds are noncallable for ten years and are exempted from Federal income taxes, State taxes and local taxes in all States.

GOVERNORS ELECTED

At the annual meeting of the board of governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday A. W. Coote and Buford Graves were re-elected to serve three-year terms, and James R. Martin of Frick, Martin & Co. was chosen as a new member. Other members are Frank H. Pettingell, John E. Jardine, A. C. Wagy, J. J. Doran, L. L. Sheldon and S. H. Ellis.

MEAT PRICES

Advances averaging 2 cents per pound over the previous week are announced by the Cudahy Packing Company in the price for veal to the retailer. Scarcity of veal relative to the demand in this section is the reason given for the advancing market. Quotations for the live stock are showing an upward tendency at the Los Angeles Union Stock Yards.

The new price list follows:

	Per lb.
Regular veal—140 and under	$ .19½
Regular veal—140-200	.17½
Regular veal—200 up	.16½
Sides veal—70 and under	.18½
Sides veal—71 to 100	.18½
Sides veal—101 up	.17½
Hinds veal—70 and under	.26½
Hinds veal—60 and up	.25½
Fores veal—60 and under	.15½
Fores veal—60 and up	.12½

UNION OIL

Directors of the Union Oil Associates have declared a dividend of 75 cents per share on the new $25 par value stock, payable on the 27th inst. to stock of record on the 10th inst. The transfer books will not be closed.

STOCK DIVIDEND TAX

Millions Collectable from Distributees if New Internal Revenue Ruling is Sustained

[This is one of the series of articles on income tax problems touching various points of vital concern; others will follow. Ed.]

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

The business world realizes that there has been an epidemic of stock-dividend declarations within the last few months. Many theories have been advanced as to the reason for the actions of so many corporations in taking such a step at this time. Which theory, if any, is correct is unimportant in comparison with the thunderbolt effect likely to be produced on certain stockholders of those corporations if a ruling the Commissioner of Internal Revenue announced recently is sustained.

The question under consideration was whether under the revenue laws stock dividends distributed to life tenants of estates constitute items of taxable income to such beneficiaries. The commissioner holds that the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Eisner versus Macomber is not in point. In that case, in his opinion, the court had held that the division of one share into five shares having the same substantial value as the one original share, and received by the same person who originally had the one share, was analogous to the situation occurring when a person with a $5 bill exchanges it for five $1 bills.

In the case of life tenants, however, a different condition prevails because up to the time of receipt of the stock dividend, the life tenant was not in possession of any of the stock of the corporation, but was entitled only to the income therefrom. The bureau, therefore, concludes that where, in accordance with the provisions of a trust instrument or of a State law, stock dividends are distributed to the life beneficiaries rather than added to the corpus of the estate, the value thereof at the date of distribution should be included in the income of the distributees.

The official synopsis of the ruling relative to this important matter, and held by the commissioner to apply with equal force to the Revenue Acts of 1918 and 1921, follows:

"A stock dividend declared on stock owned by an estate and turned over by the executor to the life tenant does not represent a stock dividend to the life tenant, but constitutes income to such life tenant to the extent of the fair market value of the stock so turned over as of the date it was made, subject to the life tenant's unqualified demand.

"The basis of arriving at the gain or loss from a subsequent sale is the market value of the stock at the time the stock was turned over to the life tenant (subsequent to Feb. 28, 1913.)

"The time at which the surplus against which the stock dividend was declared or accumulated, namely, whether before or after March 1, 1913, has no bearing upon the treatment of gain or loss realized or sustained through the subsequent sale of the stock by the life tenant."

If this ruling is sustained, millions of dollars will be paid in taxes by the life tenants of those estates that own stock in corporations that have recently declared stock dividends.

traditions of this country are so different from those of the Old World. So long as London was the key to the whole financial system of the world and so long as we were dependent on that center for a large portion of our movable capital, we were a part of these things in Europe to an important degree. Now that London has been moved to New York in a large sense we have the profits of the situation without the responsibilities.

It is these facts that have prevented traders in this city and elsewhere from getting excited over an acute situation and throwing over their stocks or putting a check on production and distribution of merchandise. The tide of business is still rising here, stimulated by a fixed conviction that we can go on producing, buying and selling, whatever may happen in Europe.

Some day, doubtless, we shall have an unpleasant suprise, for it cannot be that the heretofore richest part of the world can come down to dire poverty without doing some damage to the young giant disporting himself in his great forest of prosperity.

DAILY TALK ON TRADE

market, closing, after some reaction, at substantial recoveries. On Monday the weakness in wheat and cotton prices has been popularly ascribed to misgivings about Europe. Prices for both ended the day at a recovery greater than their decline of the day before.

BURST BUBBLE

While there are still some people in this country who clamor for State insurance and other form of State ownership, it is worth while observing what Australia, where government ownership has prevailed to a large extent for some time, is doing. The following summary is from The Nation's Business:

"Government ownership is on the wane in Australia. In August the Australian government announced it is going out of the shipbuilding business and also out of the business of owning and operating merchant steamers. As for its woolen mills, it has decided that they should be handed over to private enterprise, on the theory that the government should not engage in an undertaking which requires it to go out and solicit trade. In the business of operating ships the Australian government has encountered exactly the labor troubles that confronted the employers with a few extra thrown in for good measure. Official Australia is now anxious to have some one else operate its ships."

YEARLY MEETINGS

It is the season for annual meetings of bank stockholders. However, few changes of importance are scheduled. The year has been one of progressive development and prosperity for the financial institutions of the community and there is a tendency to let well enough alone.

At the Citizens' National Bank annual meeting held yesterday afternoon the only change effected was in the election of W. A. Faris to the directorate.

VELERO II WILL HOP OFF TODAY

Capt. Hancock's Yacht "All Set" for Starting on Long Cruise

The Velero II, the splendid new yacht of G. Allan Hancock, will weigh anchor early this morning at Wilmington and set forth on a journey destined to carry it approximately 15,000 miles to uncharted points in southern seas. The yacht ultimately will touch at Florida and then return. Advantage, gathering of scientific data, and investigation of South Coast countries as to their commercial possibilities are the chief reasons for Capt. Hancock's journey. More than four months is expected to be taken for the trip.

A year ago Capt. Hancock in another yacht, the Velero I, took a somewhat similar voyage. The itinerary included in the present voyage includes Magdalene Bay, Cedros Island, La Paz, Mazatlan, Guadalupe Island, Clipperton Island, the Galapagos Islands, various provinces of Costa Rica, where the party will go by train inland from San Jose, Porto Rico, Republic of Panama, Jamaica, Haiti, Cuba and Florida. On his return, Capt. Hancock expects to skirt the east coast of Sentral America, then through the Panama Canal homeward.

Accompanying Capt. Hancock will be a number of Los Angeles people, including George Hugh Banning, Dr. Archibald C. Macleish, George Warwick, Joseph Carson and Capt. F. Thunnel. Fishing and hunting will be the principal diversions of the trip.

The Velreo II is the acme of yacht-building perfection and completeness. She has an estimated net tonnage of 187; is 125 feet long and possesses a cruising radius of 6000 miles at a figured speed of eleven knots.

WILL BURY MRS. HILL TOMORROW

Funeral Services Are to be Held at Family Home by Rev. M. C. Dotten

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon for Mrs. Cora Isabelle Hill, 62 years of age, who died yesterday morning as a result of an illness of several months duration, at the family home at 923 South Westmoreland.

Mrs. Hill was the wife of John J. Hill, former member of the Chicago Board of Trade, and the daughter of James Dalton, pioneer of Cincinatti and member of the City Council in that city. She was the mother of three Los Angeles attorneys who are prominent in legal circles in this city.

One son, John J. Hill, Jr., is Deputy District Attorney and has been connected with that office for many years. The other two sons are Eugene D. Hill and Paul C. Hill.

Mrs. Hill was interested in reformatory work in her earlier years and was well known in club and church circles in Riverside and this city. She was a resident of Riverside for eleven years and resided in Los Angeles for the last twelve years. She was at one time owner of the famous Casa Blanca Ranch near Riverside.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Milton C. Dotten, Episcopal minister of Pasadena. Burial will be in the Inglewood Cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of Alvarez & Moore, undertakers.

CLEMSON FUNERAL ARRANGED

Services to be Conducted at Chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor

Funeral services for Richard W. Clemson, 64 years of age, who died at noon Monday in his home at 620 Oxford avenue, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor, funeral directors, 1031 South Grand avenue.

The end came suddenly to Mr. Clemson as the result of an attack of heart failure. His health had been considered good.

Born in East Woburn, Mass., in 1859, he retired from business nearly thirty-five years ago. He came to California in 1909. Los Angeles became his home in this State and during the last thirteen years he had lived at the Oxford avenue house. He was a member of the Los Angeles Country Club, the Sunset Club and the recently formed Encino Club.

Mr. Clemson leaves a widow, Mrs. Lutie M. Clemson, one son, George W. Clemson, a brother, George N. Clemson, of Middletown, N. Y., and two sisters, Mrs. M. A. Taylor, also of Middletown and Mrs. W. D. Hallett of Los Angeles.

The services at the chapel will be conducted by Rev. Ray O. Miller of the St. James Episcopal Church. The body will then be cremated.

BEWARE OF THOSE "GRIP" COLDS

DID you ever catch a "grip" cold in the winter and have it hang on all through the summer?

Don't go through that experience again. Enrich your blood and build up your strength with Gude's Pepto-Mangan and the grip germs will pass you harmlessly by.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a splendid protection against winter ailments for the whole family. Your druggist has it, in both liquid and tablet form.

Famous Austrian Surgeon Restored by Gland Treatment

Dr. Lorenz, famous Austrian surgeon, according to a recent press dispatch, has submitted himself to glandular treatment. This treatment, according to the doctor's own statement, has restored him to the health and vigor of his earlier days, and he is highly enthusiastic about his new branch of medical science.

Thousands of men and women who are lacking in health and energy are taking advantage of science's most recent discovery and are using Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular tonic prepared from the glands of healthy young animals. Glandogen has had remarkable success in the treatment of the rundown, nervous individual. It is obtainable at Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; Blaney-Chambers Drug Co., 9th and Spring and 5th and Los Angeles, and the Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway. FAIRBANKS TO PRODUCE, DISTRIBUTE FROM HERE

Doug and Mary Offer First Contract to Jackie Coogan; D. W. Griffith Plans to Return West

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, as the first step in an ambitious scheme to enter upon the independent production and distribution of cinema features made by other stars, have offered Jackie Coogan a contract for four pictures and announced plans for an expansion of the United Artists organization which include the making under their supervision of feature films by eight or nine of the greatest stars of the silver screen.

At present the United Artists organization consists of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, David Wark Griffith and Charles Ray, and the new scheme involves the closing of the Griffith studios on Long Island, N. Y., and the return to Los Angeles of the Griffith organization.

"Freedom from machine-made motion pictures," is the new slogan which Mr. Fairbanks announced last night, when word was given out concerning the Jackie Coogan offer.

FOR FOUR PICTURES

The child star, who has been offered as much as $20,000 per week by other interests, will probably sign a contract with Mr. Fairbanks and the other United Artists, and receive a cash advance of $500,000 and a guarantee of 60 per cent of the profits of the first four pictures which he is to make at the Fairbanks-Pickford studio on Santa Monica Boulevard.

News of the decision to accept the Fairbanks offer was confirmed last night by Jack Coogan, Sr., and Mrs. Lillian R. Coogan, parents of the child star.

The decision of Jackie's parents, and their judgment is reinforced by Jackie's own preference, marks the achievement of the first of three great desires of Douglas Fairbanks, according to the latter's statement to The Times last night.

FIGHTS THRALLDOM

Mr. Fairbanks desires first of all to liberate the eight or nine greatest cinema stars from the thralldom of the big motion-picture corporations so that the screen luminaries may devote all their efforts to the production of pictures which will express to the theater-going public their art which, he says, suffers by reason of the film corporations' policies and their "machine-made" product.

Secondly, Mr. Fairbanks, Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford and David Wark Griffith have all decided that Independent producing is to be encouraged and every effort is to be bent to further attainment of that end, Mr. Fairbanks stated.

Mr. Fairbanks' third desire is

WRIGLEY IS ILL OF TOXIC POISONING

Chewing Gum King Will Go to Catalina Island to Recuperate

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 9.—Toxic poisoning brought on by overwork has caused the illness of William Wrigley, Jr., chewing gum king, at his home here, 391 South Orange Grove avenue, according to an announcement today by Dr. Robert F. Knoll, physician in charge.

Mr. Wrigley arrived in Pasadena on December 31, last, to attend the Tournament of Roses and football game. In Chicago, he had suffered a breakdown from overwork, and a relapse caused the toxic poisoning, according to his physician. It is believed that he will be able to leave his bed next week.

His son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley, arrived today from Chicago, bringing with them Dr. Julius C. Strong. J. H. Patrick, president of the Wilmington Transportation Company and the Catalina Company, came west with Mr. Wrigley and is staying with him.

SEEKING .. HER .. SECOND .. DIVORCE

Actress Says Husband Deserted Her

Bessie Eyton

MRS. BESSIE HENDERSON COFFEY, known to the stage and screen world as Bessie Eyton, filed suit for divorce yesterday through her attorney, Gesner Williams. Mrs. Coffey, former wife of Charles Eyton, production manager of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, charged in her complaint that her husband, Clark C. Coffey, attorney of Vicksburg, Miss., deserted her in 1919, after three years of married life.

Mrs. Coffey, who now is playing in "The Three Ghosts" at the Morosco Theater, formerly was Miss Bessie Harrison. She first met Mr. Coffey during the early summer of 1916, while she was on location with the Selig company in Vicksburg, Miss. Shortly after the actress returned to Los Angeles her admirer arrived.

They were married secretly in Santa Barbara, Sept. 30, 1916. Mrs. Coffey was divorced by her first husband, Charles Eyton, who is now the husband of Kathleen Williams, motion-picture star, on the grounds of desertion. They were married six years.

During the first divorce trial letters were introduced by Mr. Eyton to substantiate his claims that his wife had left him.

A part of one of the many letters read: "I know you think me selfish, but believe me, I never did an unselfish act before in my life. I believe I am doing one now in giving you a chance to find some one who is worthy of you and can be the kind of wife you want. You are far too good a man to bother about me."

HEAT WAVE IS LOWERED, NOT BROKEN

Demand for Cool Drinks Was Best Ever, as Angelenos Sought Shady Places

The mercury hovering about the 83-degree mark in Los Angeles thermometers yesterday demonstrated that the weather had slipped back two degrees toward January normalcy from the record-breaking temperature of 90 degrees which was recorded at the weather bureau Monday. To the man on the street the difference announced was not apparent, as evidenced by the throng of sun dodgers. All day yesterday they fought for the shady side of the downtown streets.

While his eastern cousin was snuggling deeper into his fur-lined overcoat to offset the icy breath of a blizzard, Mr. Angeleno was mopping his brow, replacing wilted collars and absorbing cooling drinks. "Soda jerks" throughout the city report an unprecedented demand for their wares.

"Aerial high pressure centering over Nevada is allowing desert winds to be wafted over the Southland," was the explanation advanced by weathermen for the unusually warm spell.

People everywhere seemed to swelter yesterday. Street cars crowded with humanity brought back comfortable visions of eighty Sammies in a box-car labeled "40 hommes et 8 cheveaux." But few of the gentler sex appeared in modish fur neck-pieces, and those that were in evidence were worn at half-mast.

Everyone seemed to feel that yesterday exceeded Monday in warmth, and openly questioned the weathermen's statement that Monday's "hottest in forty-five years" temperature had not been surpassed.

Oaks is Having Real Troubles Keeping Police

The difficulty Chief Oaks is having in obtaining efficient men for the police department at the salary of $120 a month was shown yesterday when he notified the Board of Police Commissioners that ten newly-appointed officers had been dropped from the department during the past week for inefficiency, and that five had resigned.

There now are seventy-five vacancies in the department, and that the number is growing is shown by the fact that recently there were only fifteen.

The ten men were dropped last week for various causes, one for remaining away from his duties for two weeks without leave, another for forgetting to wear his uniform, a third "did not take his job seriously," a fourth forgot to report for duty, while another stole his room-mate's watch, and still another annoyed a young woman who worked in a residence on the officer's beat.

TODAYS BIBLE TEXT

THE SECOND COMMANDMENT:—Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God visting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me: and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me, and keep my commandments.—Exodus xx: 4-6.

ARCADE DESIGN RECEIVED

Imposing Twin Office Buildings to be Feature of Vast Mercantile Place Improvement

Sketches of the winning design for the new $2,500,000 office and arcade building to be erected on historic Mercantile Place, between Fifth and Sixth streets and extending from Broadway to Spring streets, were received yesterday by A. C. Blumenthal & Co., from San Francisco, where the competition was held.

The site was purchased several months ago from Adolph Ramish by a group of San Francisco business men, who have formed a new company under the name of the Mercantile Arcade Realty Company, with a capitalization of $5,000,000, for the purpose of improving the property. For the site approximately $1,500,000 was paid.

MacDonald and Couchot of San Francisco were the winners of the architectural competition, and will design and supervise the erection of the structure, which will be among the largest and finest buildings in Los Angeles.

The plan prepared by MacDonald and Couchot calls for the erection of twin twelve-story office buildings on both the Broadway and Spring-street frontages, connected by a three-story arcade building, roofed over with glass, so as to provide a maximum of light.

The first three stories of both office buildings will be designed for stores and shops, to correspond with the arcade, which will have a width of forty feet between store fronts, providing a walk for pedestrians through the middle of

Los Angeles Total More Than Four Times That of Bay City

During the calendar year just closed the manufacturers' excise tax on automobile tires and accessories in the local internal revenue district netted the government $784,908.37, representing sales of $15,698,167.40 by the manufacturers, according to a statement given out yesterday by Collector Goodcell.

The tax collections in the San Francisco district netted only $189,273.12.

RESIDENT OF YEARS IS CALLED

Mrs. Hannah D. Llewellyn Dies After Long Illness; Leaves Four Children

Mrs. Hannah D. Llewellyn, for many years a prominent resident of Los Angeles, died yesterday morning.

On the death of her husband at San Francisco about thirty-five years ago Mrs. Llewellyn came to Los Angeles with her daughter and five sons. Under her guidance the sons founded the Llewellyn Iron Works, one of the representative institutions of the city, as a family enterprise.

Through her influence she has preserved to her family an unusual social and commercial unity as closely united as in the days of infancy, the institution which bears their name being as closely cemented with her motherly love as the fireside, which never has been deserted.

Mrs. Llewellyn had been in failing health for the last few years. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. John Milner, and her sons, Reese, William and David.

Old-Age Pension Plan Topic for Eagles' Smoker

In order to complete plans for the presentation of an old-age pension bill into the California Legislature, Los Angeles Aerie No. 102, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will conduct an open meeting and smoker at 617 West Sixteenth street next Saturday evening.

Under the provisions of the measure advocated by the Eagles a pension of $1 a day would be granted by the State to every person 65 years old and over who has lived in the State fifteen years and whose annual income is less than $300.

ARBUCKLE RESUMES WORK

Fat Comedian of Screen Today Begins Action for Film "Handy Andy," Backed by Bay City Men

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle will don make-up today for the first time since September, 1921, when he begins filming "Handy Andy" at the Buster Keaton studio in Hollywood.

Led by Gavin McNab, Arbuckle's attorney in his various trials in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, a group of San Francisco capitalists has organized the Screen Comedy Company for the purpose of producing Arbuckle's pictures.

Joe Page Smith is the manager of the newly formed company.

MOLLIE MALONE LEADS

Mollie Malone will play opposite the fat film clown in the making of "Handy Andy," with Herman C. Raymaker directing.

The scenario is written by Arbuckle himself and Joseph A. Mitchell. No plans have been announced for releasing the picture.

Arbuckle's face disappeared from the screen soon after the death in San Francisco in September, 1921, of Miss Rappe, a guest at a Labor Day party given by Arbuckle in his rooms at the St. Francis Hotel.

Will Hays, "sheik" of filmdom, ordered three pictures then running to be withdrawn from exhibition. Recently he announced that Arbuckle would be given a chance to reinstate himself to the position he formerly had held as a box-office attraction.

BOYS TO ASSIST

Boys from the Strickland Home will participate in a program to be given by the Los Angeles W.C.T.U. tomorrow afternoon in the First Christian Church, at the intersection of Eleventh and Hope streets. The public is invited.

ROMANTIC CHILD MISSING

School Girl Attacked With First Case of Puppy Love Disappears; Youth Sought Also

Hysteria and threats to kill herself because of family interference with her first love affair preceded the disappearance last Sunday night of a Los Angeles girl, 12 years of age, for whom police yesterday were asked to search.

The missing child, Marian Doolittle of 1216 Mohawk street, is believed to have eloped as the climax to a puppy-love infatuation with Sylvesta Wes Glen, 16 years of age.

Thomas Doolittle, Marian's uncle, reported the affair to Sergt. Arthur Bethel at Central Police Station. He said he believed that the girl had left of her own accord, but that there was a possibility she had been taken away forcibly, perhaps across the border.

Marian is exceptionally developed for her age, according to Doolittle, having the appearance of a girl 17 years of age. Three weeks ago she met Wes Glen in a motion-picture theater. He said he was 21 years of age and an officer at the Arcadia Balloon School. He asked permission to call and see Marian. Because of the girl's frenzy over refusal it was deemed wise to allow him to visit her, the mother, Mrs. Bernice Doolittle and the uncle thinking to break up the infatuation gradually.

Sunday night Marian threatened to run away because of her love for Wes Glen. Her uncle sent her to bed at 8 p.m. The following morning her absence was discovered. She had stolen her mother's wedding ring, packed her clothes in a pillow case and vanished. Simultaneously Wes Glen disappeared.

Marian attended Logan School. She is described as five feet tall, weighs about 100 pounds and has dark brown hair and blue eyes. She is believed to have worn, when she left, black patent-leather slippers, brown stockings, a blue skirt, blue sweater and brown cloth hat.

The girl's mother is a widow and in poor health. Police were asked to communicate with Southland authorities in an attempt to find the romantic miss.

WAR DOGS ARE TO BARK TODAY

Guns of Pacific Fleet Will Rain Deadly Hail

Latest Gunnery Developments on Schedule

Destroyer Smoke Screen for Target Planned

Plunging, lithe destroyers, flashing along behind rolling screens of black smoke, superdreadnaughts, their guns flashing out simultaneously in salvos at the hidden target; seaplanes, viewing the field of action from a mile up in the blue—all will be in action off Santa Catalina today in the United States Battle Fleet's most spectacular practice of the gunnery year.

The Navy's romantic side will be at its peak this afternoon while Battleship Division Three attempts to annihilate theoretically a division of enemy destroyers, sweeping in behind a screen of smoke to launch their torpedoes at the speeding hulks of the dreadnaughts. Today's practice virtually completes the fleet's schedule of activities before the Panama cruise and incidentally is one of the most important exercises of the year.

FOR SMALL GUNS

By the maneuvers, which are largely experimental, the naval experts expect to prove that the secondary batteries, or five-inch guns, of a battleship force can repel successfully the attack of a destroyer force the while it also is actively engaged with the enemy's dreadnaughts at long range. For that reason five-inch guns only will be used in today's maneuvers termed advanced practice "C." Four thousand yards will be the range of fire because destroyers attempt to get that close to a battleship column before launching a torpedo attack.

The dreadnaughts Texas, New York and Oklahoma will be the firing ships this afternoon, with the superdreadnaught Idaho watching the result from a safe distance as observing ship. Destroyer division thirty-four, commanded by Commander W. S. Anderson, and consisting of the crack speedsters Kidder, Yarborough, Wood, Shirk, Sloat and Lavalette, will run off the spectacular and dangerous part of the exercise. Two black pyramid targets anchored and representing the attacking destroyers, will be the objects of fire. Sweeping along to windward of the targets and at full speed, the Kidder, in echelon formation with her sister craft, will lay down a smoke screen to hide the target from the oncoming battleships.

INTERMITTENT SCREEN

A new feature of the smoke screen in practice "C" is that it will be intermittent, the target being visible at intervals and then blotted out by rolling smoke. In the formation known as "line of bearings" the battle fleet will approach the target on an angle. All three battleships will fire their forward 5-inch guns simultaneously as they come on the range, then, swinging at an angle of approximately 115 degrees, will fire their stern guns in salvo as they speed away from the target, which by that time should be a smoking, sinking mass of twisted hulks.

Another new feature of practice "C" will be the work of the three seaplanes. The aircraft will watch the action from an altitude of 2000 feet, considered high enough to escape the greater dangers of ricochetting shot. Trained observers in the seaplanes will spot fall-of-shot, expert fleet photographers will catch developments of the exercise, while for the first time in the history of the fleet a complete motion-picture record of the action will be secured by Navy cinematographers, perched on the seaplanes. All this data is expected to furnish the Navy Department with a great deal of valuable information on the efficiency and possibilities of future development of secondary batteries.

DANCE CONCERT SENT FROM KHJ

Orchestra Sets Radioland Feet in Motion

Mezzo-Soprano and Tenor Pupil Sing Solos

Six-Year-Old of Sob Fame Welcomed Back

The time-worn adage that "there is nothing new under the sun," was given the "short and ugly" last night when KHJ successfully broadcast a complete dance concert over a radius of some 3000 miles. Several days ago publicity was given to this event, both through The Times radio department and over the air so that all of radioland was prepared with their parties for an evening of syncopated dance music.

This syncopation de luxe was furnished by Vincent Rose and Jackie Taylor and their widely known Montmartre Orchestra, now playing at the Kinema Theater. Vincent Rose ranks high among the composers of seasonal syncopated hits. His orchestral hits are being used extensively by such organizations as Art Hickman's famous orchestra, now located in Paris, Paul Whiteman's famous group of syncopaters, and others equally well known.

Such compositions as "Avalon," "Tell Me Why," "I'll Keep on Loving You," "I'll Promise," "Truly," "Once Upon a Time" and "Arabiana," have given Mr. Rose a thoroughly justified claim to a chair in syncopation's hall of fame. Jackie Taylor also is known widely in the realms of "jazz." As a gymnastic and eccentric violinist Taylor has established himself solidly, after two successful years over the Orpheum Circuit, appearing with Nora Bayes.

NEW TUNES PLAYED

The remainder of the Rose and Taylor musical aggregation includes Prof. Moore, Mel Pedesky, Ernie Williams, Henry Yeager, Buster Johnson and Harry Owens, each well established in the musical life of Los Angeles. The concert featured several new compositions, written by Vincent Rose especially for the KHJ dance program.

The concert included a vocal offering by Nora Schiller, a talented young artist whose work closely resembles that of Nora Bayes in tonal qualities. Her rendition of "Coal Black Mammy," was interpreted delightfully. Encores were furnished freely, and filled the evening with undiluted joy for radio enthusiasts.

Bob Mason, violinist, was an added feature on last night's radio bill from KHJ. Accompanied by Kathryn Thompson, Mr. Mason gave excellent interpretation to Boehm's "Perpetuum Mobile," and to "Berceuse," from "Jocelyn," by Godard. Mr. Mason's technique is superb, his double-stop notes clear and concise and his interpretative ability of high rank.

STAGE STAR SINGS

The remainder of last night's concert was arranged through the courtesy of Mme. Alma Stetzler, mezzo-soprano, who was heard for the first time last night by radio. Mme. Stetzler has taken prominent roles with the Savage, Castle Square, Boston, Aborn and Sheehan opera companies, and was prima donna with Fred C. Whitney's "Chocolate Soldier" company. Besides, she has appeared with Trentini and Clifton Crawford and with several Schubert productions. A number of Los Angeles artists are training under Mme. Stetzler's direction. Accompanied by Grace Raley Moore, who also acted as accompanist for all of Mme. Stetzler's concert artists last night, Mme. Stetzler sang three solos, each of which she clothed with rare charm.

Orion Dawson, an American Legion boy, and artist pupil of Mme. Stetzler, and who will leave soon for the East to take up professional work, contributed two tenor solos to last night's bill, giving to them an individuality in interpretation that was enjoyed highly by all listeners.

Naomi Hoffman, lyric soprano, who is in Los Angeles for the winter to continue her studies preparatory to professional work next season in New York, has an enviable reputation as a vocalist in her home city—Salt Lake City. Her rendition of the "Hindoo Song," by Bemberg last night was distinctly oriental and carried a charm that was refreshing. The wonderful sentiment of Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me," was doubly appealing last night through Miss Hoffman's interpretation.

TWO PIANO SOLOS

Grace Raley Moore, artist pupil of Homer Grunn, in addition to playing all accompaniments on Mme. Stetzler's program, favored with two piano solos, "Tarantelle," by Chopin, and "Etude in Thirds," also by Chopin. Miss Raley is possessed of a highly developed technique, her work reflecting the superb artistry of her teacher.

Two duets were on the evening program—one from "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Mascagni, by Orion Dawson and Naomi Hoffman, and "Home to Our Mountains," from "Il Trovatore," by Verdi, by Mr. Dawson and Mme. Stetzler.

Little Rosalie Tuso, to whom goes the distinction of having been the only one to broadcast a sob from KHJ, came back last night, and, to the mandolin accompaniment of her father, Philip Tuso, gave the lads and lassies of radioland three songs. Some weeks ago little Rosalie closed the children's half-hour with tears. This little 6-year-old struggled bravely to remember the words of her third and final song for that period, but they just wouldn't come and little Rosalie emulated what most everyone has seen at some time in their lives when youth fails in public appearance.

YOUNGSTER HEARD

But Rosalie was forgiven immediately by everyone who heard because they knew and understood the feelings of a kiddie facing such a problem. Last night she sang "Tomorrow Will be Brighter Than Today," by Owens-Halstead, "A Sweet Little Baby Brother," and "I Am Happy, Dear, With You," by Phillip Tuso.

Ruby L. Little, contralto, presented five excellent solos yesterday afternoon from KHJ. Accompanied by Carrie Preston Rittmeister, this singer gave superb expression to a well-chosen group of songs, which included "Voice of the Wood," by Rubenstein, "A Dream," by Bartlee, "The Last Rose of Summer," by Raife, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," by Bland, and "Little White Road," by Percy Colson. Mrs. Little is possessed of a voice of clear tonal quality, excellent diction, and a flexibility of phrasing that makes her singing an outstanding feature of any program in which she has a part.

ARTISTS TO ENTERTAIN VETERANS

Radioland Songsters Plan Concert at Soldiers' Home in Sawtelle

Veterans at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home have listened to KHJ concerts for several months; in fact, they have had much real enjoyment out of radio since The Times installed a radio receiver for them months ago. Tomorrow at 7 p.m. they are to hear a group of artists, practically all of whom have appeared on KHJ concert programs, and this time they are to see them as well. They are the artist pupils of Myra Belle Vickers, vocal instructor, who has probably furnished more talented young artists for Times radio concerts than any other one in a similar profession.

She calls the group of artists who will entertain Sawtelle veterans "Radioland Songsters." Assisting Miss Vickers in this concert are Wharton James, character actor and dramatic coach, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Goldman and Cecile Hindman, pianist. Those taking part in the program are: Nelle Mitchell, Betty Martyn, Clara Johnson, who are known as the Hollywood Girls' Trio, Mildred Masser, female baritone; Freda C. Casper, soprano; Irvin Casper, baritone and whistler; Albert Bryant, lyric tenor, whom radioland calls its own; Otto Ploetz, robust tenor; Paul Vickers, Herbert C. Goldman, violinist; Mrs. Herbert C. Goldman, pianist, and Myra Belle Vickers.

Mothers Advise Their Daughters Rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Keep Them in Health

A Mother's Advice Prevents Operation

Corona, N. Y.—"I had a terrible pain in my left side and had to go to bed every so often. Doctors had told me I must be operated on, but I do not believe in the knife and would rather suffer than go through it. My mother also did not believe in it and she made me take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because it had helped her. It has also helped me for I am better and able to do all my work. I recommend your medicine and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. Busch, Jr., 11 S. Railroad Avenue, Corona, N. Y.

A Sickly Child

Mahoningtown, Pa.—"I would like to say a few words about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. About a year ago I thought it would be necessary for me to take my daughter out of school. She was losing weight, was nervous, and when she would come home from school she would drop into a chair and cry, and say, 'Mamma, I don't believe I can go to school another day!' I gave her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now she is healthy, happy, busy, plump and weighs 120 pounds. She has no difficulty in doing her school work, and she wants to go every night and morning. I am a mother who can praise your medicine, and if it can be of any benefit you may use my letter as a reference." —Mrs. E. Whitacre, 422 W. Main St., Mahoningtown, Pa.

Every girl wants to be pretty and strong, and every mother wants her daughter to go to school and to enjoy good times.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid tonic for young girls and women. Thousands have written us telling us what it has done for them, and we have never published a letter unless it was genuine and true to the original. Nothing that can be obtained from roots and herbs is omitted from this medicine which is known to the drug trade as containing the best ingredients to take care of female ailments. Why not give it a trial? If you have any symptoms you do not understand, write to us for free advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. MYSTERY IN GIRL'S DEATH

Los Angeles Detectives Take Hand in Attempt to Solve Identity of Beauty Slain at Mexico City

Mysteriously slain, the body of an attractive American girl about 19 years of age, was found in a room of the Pan-American Hotel in Mexico City, December 14, last. Identification was not established.

Yesterday Los Angeles became the scene of an investigation into the identity of the victim, and it was indicated that she might be Mrs. H. Walker, daughter of Mrs. C. Burliolf of 1250 DeHaro street, San Francisco.

Mrs. Walker resembled in every feature the dead girl, according to comparison of a photograph brought from Mexico City by Miss DePonce, member of the American Consul's office at the Mexican capital, who is aiding Detective Sergeants Lloyd and Grant Roberds, Jr., in the case. Mrs. Walker separated from her husband a year ago, and toured with a Hawaiian troupe.

MEXICAN QUESTIONED

A wealthy young Mexican was questioned by Mexico City police after the discovery of the murder, but was not held. He had taken the girl to cafes frequently and was the last person seen in her company.

Suicide was the original theory in the case. The girl had been shot through the heart. A revolver was on the floor near the lifeless form. Evidence gathered later pointed to murder, however.

It was thought at first that the girl was Hazel Walker, daughter of Dr. W. S. Walker, who partially identified a photograph. He expressed doubt subsequently on the identity problem. Mexico City newspapers carried a picture of Phyllis Haver, motion-picture actress, which was found in the girl's room. Local police established the whereabouts of Miss Haver and discarded this connection.

KNOWN AS HAZEL WALTERS

The victim was known as Hazel Walters to her associates in Mexico City. This is believed by police to have been an assumed name. An unwise romance in the life of the girl is thought to have led to the shooting.

Detectives Lloyd and Roberds hope to establish definitely the identity of the slain girl.

COUNCILMANIC STORM BREWS

join with Councilman Conaway in his favorable report. If they turn in a "thumbs down" report on Mr. Bogardus's appointment, it is doubtful that he will be confirmed.

If Mr. Bogardus is confirmed, it was openly predicted at the City Hall yesterday that Walter R. Reeds, now president of the Board of Public Utilities, will resign, as Commissioners Kennedy and Bogardus as majority members would control the board. Chief Engineer Osborne and Assistant Engineer Lorents may also resign in case Mr. Bogardus is confirmed.

The Council yesterday unanimously confirmed Mayor Cryer's reappointment of F. W. Blanchard as a member of the Art Commission. Mr. Blanchard had been offered the vacancy on the Board of Public Utilities, but declined the appointment. F. G. Leonard, who was reappointed to the Playground Commission also was unanimously confirmed yesterday. The appointment of B. L. Clogston to the Humane Animal Commission, of Mrs. Ida Koverman and C. J. Colden of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce to the Playground Commission were referred to committees for reports.

FAIRBANKS TO BE PRODUCER

to make Los Angeles the distributing center for the United Artists. Griffith, he says, will not only make pictures here, but distribute from Los Angeles.

"There are altogether too many desks and subsalesmen in the distributing end of the business," Mr. Fairbanks said.

"This is the place for directors' meetings and the center of distribution. Selling the pictures of Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin, Jackie Coogan and myself is no problem for salesmen. It is simply supplying the demand. I eventually hope to have my distributing offices here and send out our pictures by express. We have fifty-two offices now and there is need for only a few branches in connection with a force of road men," he concluded.

The actual signing of the United Artists' contract by Jackie Coogan, Sr., will take place today, Mr. Coogan intimated last night. The agreement will end the struggle over Coogan films which has been waged the past week between seven of the conceded leaders in the motion-picture world and a "dark horse," whose identity Mr. Coogan would not disclose.

All sorts of propositions have been advanced. One producer offered a 70-30 split of the profits. Another proposed a flat weekly salary of $10,000. An offer of $100,000 a picture and 50 per cent of the profits from each picture was made by another.

Mr. and Mrs. Coogan refused to divulge what companies were bidding for their son because, they said, they did not desire it to appear as if they were forcing competitive bidding. It is known however, that Metro and the United Artists had last night become the favored bidders. Each one advanced the same proposition, it is understood. Mr. Fairbanks stated that Metro had proposed a cash advance of $500,000 and a 60-40 split. Mr. Coogan inferred that Mr. Fairbanks yesterday made his third proposition and equalled Metro's offer.

"It is more than the actual money we are interested in," Mr. Coogan said. "We want them to be happy and we want our boy to be happy. If he is not happy we feel that he will not be able to make such pictures as we know him to be capable of making."

At this juncture Jackie Coogan himself came into the library at the Coogan home. Clad in a gray tweed suit with a broad white collar he strolled in after answering a phone call.

"What stars do you like the best, Jackie?" he was asked.

"Charlie Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks," Jackie replied without a moment's hesitation. He named some others after a pause.

"I would rather work for Douglas Fairbanks for a cent than for ——" (Here Father and Mother Coogan took charge of the conversation and steered it into less dangerous channels. They warned their son to mention no names other than that of Mr. Fairbanks.)

"Anybody else for a million dollars," Jackie dutifully concluded. He also said he would rather be just an actor in the cast of a Fairbanks picture than to star in a production of his own.

BEGAN FOR $75

Jackie Coogan's casting in his lot with the United Artists marks his rise in four years from $75 a week to more than $1,000,000 a year. His first contract with Charlie Chaplin for "The Kid" called for $75 a week and was signed after $40 a week had been refused by his parents.

The king of filmdom's funny men ranks first in Jackie's affections, right next to the special niche reserved for his parents, he last night assured The Times. His parents declared his wish to once more ally himself with Mr. Chaplin was being given great consideration.

The cash advance basis in the contract which will be signed today was inserted so that Jackie's future will be taken care of without regard to other possible earnings, Mrs. Coogan said.

She yesterday appeared before Judge Rives in Superior Court and asked to have her petition for appointment as guardian dismissed. The dismissal was granted. The court was informed Jackie had a large estate to be taken care of and the trust method was deemed the better.

At present Jackie is getting a spending money allowance of $6 a week with 50 cents extra for each "gag" he evolves for one of his pictures, his father said. His spending allowance is to be increased from $6 to $10 upon the signing of the new contract.

More than $700 is now in the bank to his own personal credit from savings he has made from his allowance his parents said.

Though but 8 years of age actually, Jackie evinces a taste in literature which would be surprising in a child twice his age. Last night he sat cross-legged under a floor-lamp and read "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," with evident relish.

"The child is terrific. He's known all over the world. He is bound to be a great star. His pictures will go just as well five years from now as they are going at present," Mr. Fairbanks declared in making known his stand on Jackie's joining forces with him in the first onslaught to be made on the citadel of "machine-made motion pictures since Mary Pickford, Charles Chaplin, David Wark Griffith and Mr. Fairbanks joined forces and organized the United Artists.

CANADIAN PICNIC

J. A. Hooper, general secretary of the Canadian Tourist's Association, announced yesterday that the annual winter reunion and official picnic of that organization will be given on Saturday, Feb. 3, at Santa Monica. All visitors from Canada are invited.

ARCADE DESIGN IS RECEIVED

the block. High speed elevators to the shops on the upper floors will be installed at the center of the arcade, while the elevators of the office buildings will also be available for the arcade shops.

The length of the arcade from street to street will be 225 feet, creating a new shopping street with a total frontage of 450 feet in the center of the block.

The two office buildings will be alike in design and finish, but the spring street frontage will be especially designed for occupation by financial and investment banking firms, while the Broadway building will be designed for occupation by general commercial offices.

Through the center of the arcade there will be a series of tiled showcases for the use of the merchants on the two upper floors of the arcade building. In all, according to preliminary plans, there will be about thirty-five shops on the street level, exclusive of the stores on the ground floor of each of the office buildings. The two office buildings will contain about 400 offices.

The new structure, Mr. Blumenthal said yesterday, will be the largest building erected by private enterprise in the city of Los Angeles, and it will be, he said, one of the finest structures of its kind in the world. Throughout there will be elaborate ornamentation through the use of wrought iron and decorative tiles.

The financing of the project was carried out entirely by San Francisco capital. Leasing negotiations, Mr. Blumenthal said, are already under way, and more than 50 per cent of the shops have been reserved. About two-thirds of the basement, which will extend under the entire building, will be occupied by a Leighton cafeteria, making it the largest cafeteria in the world. It will have a seating capacity for 1500 people. For the purpose of handling the leasing and management of the structure, a special department will be organized by the Blumenthal Company.

Construction work is scheduled to start on April 1, when four steam shovels will be put on the ground for the excavation work. Day and night shifts will be employed to carry on the work, in order that it may be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Present plans call for the completion of the structure by Jan. 1, 1924.

MORE PAY FOR POLICE NEEDED

of $170 per month and is able to get much more efficient men. Discussion brought out the fact that as a class policemen, although charged with the guardianship of life and property at great personal risk, are actually paid less than common laborers and very much less than moderately skilled artisans.

The Chief and his assistant also drew attention to the need for additional men, the number required being fixed at 500, provided an adequate signal system is installed. More motor vehicles, a new jail, new courtrooms and additional police judges were also declared necessary. The Chief said that present civil service restrictions operate to bar out many efficient men.

PRAISES CHIEF

Chairman Mushet of the Finance Committee, indorsed the purposes of the commission and praised the work of Chief Oaks. He said the city is sharply limited as to expenditures and showed how municipal revenues have been reduced by several million dollars annually in recent years. The system of tax assessing by the county for the city, he said, also operates to cut down the tax roll.

Councilman Criswell took issue with Chief Oaks on some of his points. He cited figures purporting to show that Los Angeles compares more or less favorably with other cities of its class in the number of police per square mile of metropolitan district and its proportion of population and in the matter of pay. He agreed, however, that the entrance pay for policemen here is too low. He criticised the administration of the police courts, declaring that fines are too low and that the numerous cases in which the bail of offenders has been reduced to a "jumpable" figure militates against real justice. He also favored modification of civil service restrictions and the erection of a new jail. He declared, however, that the present running expenses of the city are such that at present available funds are, practically speaking, expended before they are in hand.

NO AID TO CITY

Councilman Mallard declared that the present system of county tax assessments on city property result in the payment of about 70 per cent gross taxes into the county treasury, which are used for purposes of no particular benefit to the city as such. The amount so paid by city property owners, he declared to be in the neighborhood of $3,500,000 annually.

City Attorney Stephens gave as his opinion that the liquor situation, in which the traffic has been put in the hands of the criminals, is to a considerable extent responsible for general criminality. He advocated more stringent enforcement of the State and national statutes on this subject, making them applicable alike to liquor producers and liquor consumers. He gave it as his opinion that the grand jury offers a proper medium through which to attack the present crime situation. City Prosecutor McConnell declared that the work of the city administration is disorganized by the operations of too many independent commissions. He cited certain conditions in the lower courts which need remedying and said that more justices of the peace are necessary.

WAIVES EXAMINATION; TO BE TRIED IN EAST

William Schulman, wanted in New York on the charge of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, waived an examination before U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday and will be sent back East at once to stand trial on the charge. He claimed to represent the National Coal Company and collected an advance payment of $2 a ton on coal that he promised to deliver at the rate of $15.50 a ton, it is said. He never delivered the coal and appropriated the advance payment, officers say. The bond was fixed at $5000.

MONKEY BUSINESS

The stage seems to be all set for the Follies of 1923 and it looks like a big show. So much depends on the skirts.

STANDING ROOM ONLY

Italy is said to be increasing her standing army from 150,000 to 250,000 men. The army will have to continue to stand. The Italian government is still too poor to furnish upholstered seats for its army.

THE END IN SIGHT

Another prophet is in our midst who announces that the end of the world is once more at hand. He bravely asserts that there are many among us who will never go to the grave—the day of resurrection will dawn and find them still marrying and giving in marriage. It will be just like some people to get the resurrection mixed up with their matrimony.

THE MEANEST MIND

Now they are saying that blackmail is one of the most active industries in the film colony. When all the performers are presumed to be pure and good unpleasant persons who pry into the past become unmitigated nuisances—especially when they seek money or substantial recognition as the price of silence. There should be hearty co-operation everywhere in any program for the extermination of the blackmailer. He has a soul smaller than that of a cockroach.

THE BIG DOINGS

Experts calculate that the building program for the country this year will call for an investment of nearly $8,000,000,000 and will be the heaviest the world has known. The investments planned for last year exceeded $6,000,000,000 and more than $5,000,000,000 was actually expended for new buildings. This year the score will be heavier and even the magnificent figure rolled up for new structures in the City of the Angels last year will doubtless be surpassed when the record is complete. It is asserted that there is still a national shortage of houses and that construction must go on until a surplus is attained.

WITHOUT A COUNTRY

The eight Wobblies whose prison terms were commuted by the President were given sixty days to get out of the country. They despised our government and defied the law and therefore should be rather pleased than otherwise to be placed beyond our government and its pale. They are all aliens, subject to deportation and are permitted to designate the port to which they will be returned. They are accorded vastly more consideration and courtesy than their cases merit. In the old days they would have been committed to the rack or the firing squad. They are in luck that none of them are Russians. They have only to go back to Italy, England and Portugal, which should seem a favor rather than a punishment. When we get properly careful in selecting our immigrants we will not wish to send so many of them back.

WHY AREN'T YOU COUE?

We all like the story side of great discoveries. All the world has been interested in the story of how Newton discovered the law of gravitation by watching an apple fall. And now that Dr. Coue has made a discovery of even greater consequence, because it is the key to human actions, doubtless all the world would like to know just how he stumbled on that, too.

Dr. Coue's miracle-working process of autosuggestion is based on the discovery that whenever the imagination and the will are in conflict it is the imagination which wins. And when we think that over the wonder is that we aren't all Dr. Coues.

Take your own case, for instance. Why didn't you make that world-moving discovery when you had so many chances? Just call to mind the cookie jar in your boyhood home. Remember how earnestly and often you vowed that you would never again raid that cookie jar. And you were a good, honest boy, too. Yet every time you saw that cookie jar you tasted its contents in imagination. No one will ever know how manfully your will power fought against your imagination, no one but yourself can realize how heroically you strove to be all your mother had convinced you you ought to be. Yet, in the end, you got a cookie—and a whipping.

One of the tremendous blessings the Coue theory may bring about is better understanding of children. James Whitcomb Riley declared he thought children were always good if they were only understood, and he was right. The most natural of human desires is to merit approval, yet failure to properly cultivate and develop that desire is responsible for a great part of the world's misery.

In fact, there isn't any part of human activity, from babyhood to the finish, which Dr. Coue's discovery, so simple that any of us might just as well have made it, doesn't give us the chance to greatly improve. And so all of us countless millions who time after time tumble over the discovery without stumbling on it would like to know just how he happened to see it and pick it up. And, if anyone is offering odds, wouldn't you like to wager a little that it all sprang out of a cookie-jar incident or something very like it?

THE ROCK OF AGES

Again an organized effort to sink in the quicksands of rationalism the religious Rock of Ages has ended in ghastly failure.

Even in the stronghold of Communistic Russia an iron dictatorship, sworn to blot out everywhere a belief in God, could not pry loose the people of Moscow from the celebration of their ancient church festival on the eve of the Russian Christmas.

While daylight lasted the League of Communist Youths indulged in a saturnalia of blasphemy and vilification of everything that Christian people hold reverent and sacred. They opened on religion their biggest guns of caustic satire, of gross caricature, of screaming ridicule.

They burnt in effigy grotesque figures labeled Moses, Christ and Almighty God. They tore down from an altar a picture of the Redeemer and substituted one of Karl Marx. Wild groups of revelers coarsely parodied the church sacraments and marched through the streets singing indecent blasphemies.

And when the cold night descended over the quivering City of Moscow, bareheaded in reverential respect, hundreds of thousands of devout men and women prayed before the shrines where the clergy conducted still some semblance of worship. A quiet, orderly, God-respecting multitude—their attitude took all the sting out of the impious orgies of the organized scoffers—and in that quiet eventime celebration again the Cross of the Christian Redeemer was seen blazing to heaven above the "hammer and the sickle" of Young Russian Communism.

Communism itself had to admit defeat. "The time is not yet ripe for our full program," explained its spokesman. "Public opinion still is not sufficiently prepared."

No, the time is not yet ripe when the majority of any community in any country in the world will wholly surrender their faith or their ideals or their religious beliefs—whatever form these may take—for the empty brasses of the rationalist or the tinkling cimbals of the scoffer.

It was tried out during the Reign of Terror in Paris when all religious symbols were torn down and a hideous plaster image of "Liberty" was set up above the guillotine. But for Madam Roland's misquoted exclamation, on viewing this monstrous effigy, "O Liberty, how they have disfigured you," this first attempt to nationalize infidelity would have been already forgotten.

Churches have been despoiled, religions have flared and flickered, giants of learning have wielded the hammer and ignorant zealots have thrust in the sickle, tyrants and mobs have in turn broken their scepters and their clubs against its solid base, but the Rock of Ages endures, persists:

"Like some tall cliff that rears its awful form,
Swells from the gale and midway leaves the storm;
Though round its base the rolling clouds are spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

INTOLERANCE

At least two distinguished writers in casting up the returns of the old year and reviewing the times upon which we are entering say that the most marked advance is in the spirit of intolerance. We have the growing intolerance of the individual and the more dangerous intolerance of the organized mob.

Nobody seems willing to let somebody alone, but everybody is after anybody.

There appears to be a strain of Ku Klux Klan in the blood. Even the churches are deep in political entanglement and the creeds are hurling rocks at one another. Each man has a passion to regulate his neighbor and each day some fresh group of reformers assembles to rid the world of some of the ills to which their sensitive souls object. In the community all houses are to be cut of a pattern and the program of the individual must conform to the judgment of the group. One writer proclaims it as the era of the Pharisee.

He at least asserts that intolerance is in the saddle.

The French are finding it hard to tolerate the Germans and the Turks and Greeks hold no consideration whatever for one another. In this country night-riders take their whips to scourge those who differ from them in thought or life. Men are burned at the stake because they are of a different complexion. They are shot to death because they are not members of the miners' union.

No wonder that a New Yorker reported the other day having seen the Statue of Liberty with her cheeks wet with tears.

STATE MACHINE SMASHED

One round was sufficient to put the political gangsters of the Legislature through the ropes. The first and only ballot in the Speakership fight in the Assembly proved that Gov. Richardson is supported by a narrow but compact majority in the lower house.

Senator Johnson threw his influence at the last moment into the balance; but it was not heavy enough to tip the scales. The Governor did not hesitate to weigh in against the former boss; and the Governor won.

It was Southern California that made Johnson the State leader in 1910; and it was Southern California that conferred this honor upon Richardson in August, that confirmed it on Monday by giving him the control of the Legislature.

Commenting on the result of the first test of strength, Gov Richardson said: "The machine has staged its last big fight and has lost. I expect to find further opposition from the machine politicians, but I believe my fight in the main has been won."

San Francisco fought to the last. The northern bosses could not believe that the southern and central parts of the State were strong enough and astute enough to wrest from them the control of the Legislature. Nearly every high official of organized labor in the State was in Sacramento Monday, working to defeat Frank Merriam, the Richardson choice for Speaker. And it augurs well for the people of California that the Legislature begins its sessions with union labor in the opposition.

Many things necessary for the welfare of the State that were blocked while the machine was in control can now be accomplished. The era of reckless extravagance has definitely ended. The merry spenders, who were in a majority for five successive sessions, have now lost their control of the public purse.

Just as soon as the necessary legislation can be enacted the Forty Fat Commissions will be placed upon a restricted diet. They are likely to lose some of their embonpoint before the year ends.

Redistricting the Senatorial and Assembly districts of the State on a population basis, as provided for in the constitution, will now be possible. The stranglehold of the San Francisco Bay group that proved stronger two years ago than the constitution itself has now been broken. For the new majority in the Legislature is not likely to look upon that document as a scrap of paper.

For the next four years at least, the taxpayers of the State will be rid of the burden of supporting the most extravagant State government in the nation. Budget revisions, for the first time in twelve years, will be downward. Extravagance reached its peak when the King tax bill passed the Legislature two years ago.

But it will not do to assume that the manipulators of the State machine will cease resistance to the economy and efficiency program of the Governor, backed by the people of the State. They will now start a campaign of boring in. They will seek to create division in the majority by awakening sectional hatred and covetousness.

They still control a number of State newspapers, including the Hearst publications; and they will use these to defame the Governor and his supporters, to misrepresent the nature of proposed reforms. They will ring the changes on the word "reactionary" and will thumb the dictionary for adaptable synonyms.

But, if the term "reactionary" is fitting to describe the policies of Gov. Richardson, it is equally fitting to describe the state of public opinion in California. For the electorate knew just what the Richardson policies were when they supported him. Those who now oppose Richardson opposed him in August and November.

TOO MANY AUTO THEFTS

One of the crying evils to which the newly organized Crime Suppression Commission of Los Angeles citizens should turn its attention is the far too common theft of automobiles in this city. The number of stolen cars in the last year has broken all records. An even worse feature in this particular form of theft is that these cars are all too often used for hold-ups, robberies, kidnaping and other serious crimes of the worst description.

If by greater care exercised by car owners, more efficient safety devices or organized and concerted action these thefts of automobiles could be reduced to a minimum an immediate falling off in the more serious crimes would follow. The stolen automobile has become the most valuable accessory for the thug, the bandit and the burglar. Any method devised to secure the automobile for its lawful owner would strike at a whole mass of organized criminal activities.

According to the official report of the Automobile Club of Southern California in the last year 2788 autos were stolen, their estimated value being nearly $3,000,000. The figures have been increasing month by month. It seems to us that the first step in a drive against the criminal elements in Los Angeles should be directed against the automobile thieves. While this particular form of crime is on the increase we cannot hope for any extensive reduction in the number of criminals who depend to so large an extent on the rapid getaway provided by the too-easily-stolen automobile.

SAFETY FIRST

During the holiday season twenty-two deaths were reported in Chicago of those who sampled illicit moonshine. If folks would be content with the California sunshine and let the Chicago moonshine alone they would come nearer living forever.

When the World Was New

[Protected by J. H. Dunkley.]

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

The Surpassing Rest

When God created the universe He said, "Let there be light." And lo! There was light. And the light that was in the beginning is with us still. And we are grateful for it, so grateful, in fact, that we have even made laws to preserve it—"Daylight saving" we call it.

God also decreed that there should be darkness, so that man and beast might rest undisturbed by the sun's glare. And so from the dawn of time, man has made night his resting time, and has spent the greater part of his nights in sleep, and has risen refreshed in the morning light.

And that is what rest is meant to do, to make man rise refreshed, to make him, like Aeneas, who received renewed strength and vigor when his feet touched the ground, rise refreshed and invigorated after having rested during the dark hours of the night.

But sleep is not only the medium through which man can rest, nor is physical rest the only rest vouchsafed him. Tired nerves are often rested by reading an interesting book, and this need not necessarily be of a light or frivolous character. In fact, a philosophical treatise will frequently rest the mind and some men are so constituted that the solving of a mathematical problem will have the same effect.

There is also a rest of the heart, experienced in the presence of a true friend, at whose mere approach the frown of irritation vanishes from our brow, in whose radiance sorrow and grief fade away like mists before the sun, whose sympathy and understanding dissolve life's worries and troubles. The true friend has this power to banish woe. We can rely upon him and breathe more lightly in the consciousness that there is one who shares our burdens, making it easier for us to bear them. And this knowledge brings us peace and rest.

But there is still another rest and that is the rest of the soul, and this rest is dependent entirely upon our own selves. When a temptation has assailed us, and we have withstood it, when we have helped some other weary mortal on the path of life, when we have lived in such a way that we can lie down and stretch out our tired limbs, serene in the consciousness that we have kept the faith, then there comes a rest of the soul that sustains us in our darkest hour, even to the hour of death.

And this rest it is that is the surpassing rest, for the others are, after all, but fleeting; but the rest of the soul is with us always.

RIPPLING RHYMES

FAT OR LEAN

I was loaded down with lard, and had lost my pristine grace; I was much the fattest bard to be seen around the place; and the diet doctors said, "You are much too richly fed; you must live on graham bread and raw turnips for a space. Drastic rules you must obey if you'd have a slender form; you must walk twelve miles a day, in the sunshine or the storm; you must fire your fancy cook and drink water from the brook, and be guided by our book, which is full of by-laws warm." So I cut out all the grub that had made me large and fat, and ate mashes from a tub, and drank water from a vat; and the fallow seemed to melt underneath my snowy pelt, and quite willowy I felt, for a while, and that is that.
But my dreams were all of steaks when at night I closed my eyes, and by day I thought of cakes and of large and stately pies; and I yearned for Irish stew and for chops and cutlets too, and my longings grew and grew till they reached a beastly size. So at last I rose and said, "Beauty isn't worth the cost; slaw and hay and sawdust bread as a diet are a frost; I shall eat the things I wish, roasted turkeys, beans and fish, every luscious, tempting dish, though my shapeliness be lost." So the lard is coming back,
I am fat, who once was lean; but I'm singing in my shack, I'm as happy as a queen;
let Apollo strut around, let Narcissus paw the ground, I shall evermore be found where the gorgeous grub is seen.

EUROPEAN CLOSE-UP

BY S. FRED ROGUE

Back to the Napoleonic Tradition
Labor Argot Shocks Parliament
Income Tax Suicides
Importing Swiss Cheeses

None knows better than the French the sinister efficiency of the German military machine in 1914. Foch, himself, has said that France never had an army that, single-handed, could stand against it. Knowing these facts, why are the French now arranging so fearlessly for a German invasion?

To some this is as inexplicable as why the Greeks are going back to again attack the Turk. There is an Aesopian fable about putting one's head twice into the lion's mouth.

To get the French point of view one must have something of the Latin buoyancy of spirit. They are always ready to believe that times, however bad, are about to mend.

They have no illusions about any weakness of the old Hindenburg army; but they now tell each other that it was a monster to which Nature can never give birth a second time. For 300 years prior to 1871 the French held the military strength of Germany in supreme contempt. They pointed to frequent instances in history when the German provinces had been overrun by French troops and held that, when left to their own devices, the French were easily the German masters.

Then came the German invasion of 1870. It left France stunned for a generation. But the happy ending of the World War has awakened anew the old contempt. The French are convinced that they can lick the Germans single-handed, and many of them would welcome the opportunity to demonstrate that fact.

The tradition of the Napoleonic wars is not dead in France. It is back of the proposed invasion of the Ruhr district. When I first heard the French speaking lightly last summer of the military power of Germany I thought they were only talking for effect, whistling to keep their courage up. But I am now convinced that they were sincere.

I am also convinced that, at the present time, the French could march to Berlin. But what they would accomplish when they arrived there is another question.

In a recent debate in the House of Commons Bonar Law spoke in grave tones of the plight of Germany. He said the country is "very near a complete collapse," and warned that such a dissolution would be an economic disaster for the whole of Europe.

I cannot myself figure what material advantage or moral gratification France can get from kicking a fallen foe. Germany's plight is such that France runs a grave risk of awakening for Germany in the rest of the world the sympathy that generally goes to the underdog. What neutral observer ever saw a dog fight without wishing that the one on its back would regain its feet? That spirit, in the present instance, might work incalculable harm to French interests.

One who cannot be generous in victory can neither win nor retain esteem. Revenge must follow the blow as swiftly as the thunder the lightning in order to be tolerated.

SAWING A LADY

BY JOSEPH A. JACKSON

The popularity of vaudeville acts showing how to cut a woman in two is the subject of today's sermon. There must be some deep philosophical reason—aside from mere curiosity—in this bit of legerdemain.

Why should we desire to see optical-illusion butchery committed on a woman twice a day, three times on holidays and Sundays?

Perhaps there is a feeling that the lady is getting her just deserts; that at least one woman is being treated intelligently. The gentler school of men will contend that this is barbarous, while others will say that to saw a lady in half is only the beginning of a worthy undertaking; that there are other and smaller fractions more fitting to such an enterprise.

Another point which has been brought up is that, if such operations are to be performed at all, the incision should be made just above the shoulders. The gentleman—I use the term inadvisedly—who suggests this declares that in such a case the name of the act would have to be changed to Sawing a Lady in Hundredths.

Now a motion picture has been made which proves conclusively that the whole thing is a trick and that the lady is not really sawed in two at all. Some of us felt all along that to use a real woman each time would necessitate too much expense.

A question arose as to whether this film could be shown. The proprietors of the vaudeville act contended that it was indecent exposure, but the court held that, if one man knows how to saw a lady in half, the secret should not be withheld from his brothers.

It is now legal to cut a lady as severely as you like and it is all right to tell other people how you do it. I hear that one enterprising entrepreneur was on the point of starting a factory to saw ladies into sawdust when he remembered that the Eighteenth Amendment had made sawdust a drug on the market instead of a rug on the barroom floor. He need not have abandoned his enterprise, for he could have sold his product to cigarette manufacturers.

The feminists assert that a woman is twice as good as a man and therefore to saw her in half is merely to equalize the sexes. General adoption of such a plan would not, however, benefit man to any appreciable extent, as it would make it twice as difficult for him to escape marriage.

tion is not really necessary. If the tongue of the lady in question were removed it would serve the purpose just as well. Just why it is now easy it would be for a husband to marry off her daughter, if the law that her girls were dumb, is cynically inclined will remark by chance here to remark that mothers can do that already without fear of successful contradiction, but I have no time to search for such aspersions.

But I do admit that the husband would have a good salesman's job if she could assure the purchaser never would they have to hear the an account of how many times Mrs. Jan Smith had worn her dress or what the neighbors had remarked anent the quality of egg-yolks to be used in the making of waffles.

Even if a woman were to turn in twain she could walk through a hotel lobby without being noticed by anybody except the check boy. The rest of us have looked at a girl's face above her flappers began to roll their stockings.

I don't want to pose as a prude, for my own personal conviction is that half a woman is better than no bread.

HE CAME AT LAST

The moonbeams danced across the night,
The tall trees glistened in the light,
But my heart was not glad,
I sat out on the porch and mused
But all this thinking he brought,
For my heart was our flame.

John came to see me often
At evening and at night again
If I was there,
He loved me, but this pass,
For I had none for him,
That we might share.

One night I sat out there alone,
The one I loved so known,
For, as I read
A vision came from
And from the

I know he's dead.

SUNDAY "TIMES" SELLS OUT FAST

Notwithstanding the large number of extra copies printed, last Sunday's edition of The Times disappeared from streets and news stands in record-breaking time.

The Times wishes to apologize to those who were unable to get their Sunday Times, and hopes the forthcoming large Sunday edition will meet demands.

In extenuation it can be said the Sunday Times' circulation has been growing so rapidly that now and then it breaks ahead of calculations.

Divorce Denied, Wifey Smacks Her Husband

Sometimes a woman can slap so hard she knocks all the biblical recollections out of a man and he forgets to turn the other cheek.

Take the case of Jesse E. Snoddy, who was startled into forgetfulness of the ancient cheek-turning custom when his wife, Mrs. Annie M. Snoddy, delivered a resounding smack on his features on the seventh floor of the Hall of Records yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Snoddy's ire had a certain basis—not taking the ground that the blow was justifiable, however. She had just been refused a decree of divorce by Judge J. Perry Wood. It not being customary in court circles to slap the judge, Mr. Snoddy was next on the list.

Testimony was introduced that Mrs. Snoddy had written to her husband terming him "absolutely obnoxious."

The decree having been denied, Mr. and Mrs. Snoddy left the courtroom. In the corridor Mrs. Snoddy's brother, Robert McAdams, grabbed Snoddy's arms. While the arms were out of commission Mrs. Snoddy thwacked. Then the party resumed its way without further conflict.

BRAUNTON TO SPEAK

SELLERS OF LIQUOR LONG FOR PRISON

Judge Answers S.O.S. From San Diego Bootleggers to Hear Guilt Pleas

In response to the S.O.S. of a score of bootleggers, who want to plead guilty to the charge of violating the liquor laws, U. S. District Judge Trippet will make a special trip to San Diego Monday to receive pleas of guilty and fix the punishment. He will hold court but one day and for this purpose only.

The jail at San Diego is crammed to the walls with bootleggers and a number want to begin their terms as quickly as possible.

The quarterly statement just completed by Charles N. Williams, clerk of the United States District Court, shows that during the last three months of 1922 there was a total collection of $55,416.69 on account of fines levied and paid in the local Federal Court (including Los Angeles, Fresno and San Diego) for violation of the liquor laws.

The total receipts for 1922 were $165,207; for 1921, $113,489, indicating that there is a growing activity in the bootleg game in the southern district of California.

But this does not include all the cost to the violators of the law. It does not cover the fees of attorneys, ranging from $50, where there is nothing to do but stand up with the defendant when the fine is assessed, to $1000, where the defendants are in the game for money and have been getting away with it. They are willing to make a good split with the lawyers.

PIONEER'S FUNERAL ARRANGED

Godfrey Fritz, Angeleno for Half-Century, to be Buried Today

Funeral services for Godfrey Fritz, pioneer resident of Los Angeles, who died suddenly at his home at 1539 Ingraham street Sunday morning, will be held this afternoon. The services will be private.

Mr. Fritz was 69 years of age. He came to Los Angeles from Alsace-Lorraine fifty years ago, and engaged in the contracting and building business. He erected many of the old buildings on Main and Spring streets, and also supervised the construction of the Oxnard sugar factory at Oxnard.

His death was entirely unexpected. He had been troubled with indigestion for some time, but his condition never had been thought serious. He was stricken suddenly Sunday morning, and died in a few hours. Acute indigestion was pronounced as the cause of his death.

Mr. Fritz leaves a widow, Mary, and four daughters, Mrs. Harry Coomber, Mrs. Henry Reid, Mrs. Albert Paul and Miss Frances Fritz, all of this city. He was a member of the Union League Club and of the Builders' Exchange. He retired from active business several years ago, and was well known throughout Southern California.

MRS. PHILLIPS SEARCH IS VAIN

Search for Clara Phillips in Juarez, where she is said to have been seen several days ago, was continued yesterday, according to word received by Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Manning from Virgil Brown, former deputy sheriff of Kern county.

Brown notified the Sheriff's office here two days ago that he had information the hammer slayer had been identified in a Juarez resort and the Chief of Police of El Paso was asked to co-operate with him in an attempt to locate her.

Deputy Sheriffs Dewar and Stensland visited Chinatown again yesterday on receipt of a tip that Mrs. Phillips had been seen there. No trace of the fugitive woman was found. Sheriff Traeger is expected to arrive here tomorrow morning from Sacramento, where he was called on business recently, and it is expected that upon his return action will be taken on the report of jail conditions made by Undersheriff Biscailuz and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clark following Mrs. Phillips's escape. The report is said to recommend the suspension of at least two officials employed in the matrons' quarters.

THREE HURT IN TRAFFIC JAMS

Three persons may die as the result of injuries suffered in traffic accidents last night.

They are Mrs. Porfia Oropeza, 50 years of age, 522 Banning street; Banor Johnson, 62, of 393 East Fifty-second street; Calalina Soco, 30, address not known.

While crossing East First street near the Santa Fe Station, Mrs. Oropeza was run down by a taxicab driven by Emil Freed. Dr. Wallace Dodge, Police Surgeon, stated that her skull was fractured and that she had suffered internal injuries.

Caught between a street car and an automobile driven by C. A. Zander, 374 East Seventy-fifth street, at the intersection of Fifty-second street and South Park avenue, Banor Johnson suffered a fractured skull.

Soco was struck by an automobile driven by Gladston C. Marshall, 6108 Mycoaptes street, the accident happening at the intersection of Belleview and New High streets. His skull was fractured.

FIVE ARE SAID TO BE BANDITS; WERE UNDER

Delpha Anent and Martha Deckman, asserted by police to be members of a bandit gang, were held to answer by Justice Baird yesterday under $25,000 bail each.

Their three asserted accomplices, J. H. Robinson, R. W. Simpson and Vasco Lewis, also were held to answer under the same bail. The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke.

Judge Releases Prisoner When Jury Disagrees

Judge Avery of Department No. 19, yesterday dismissed a jury in the case of William Crowall, accused of stabbing a fellow veteran to death at the Soldiers' home, and freed the prisoner yesterday afternoon.

Judge Avery declared that he believed that a three-fourths majority should rule when a murder jury trial returns a verdict of nine to three in favor of the defendant.

The jury in the Crowall case deliberated for more than five hours Monday and the members reported they hopelessly were deadlocked.

PATTEN TALKS TO CLUB WOMEN

Hays's Representative Tells of Development

Outlines Work Being Done to Uplift Films

City Regarded as Abiding Place of Genius

BY MYRA NYE

"Extraordinary are the opportunities on this West Coast in the motion-picture industry. Enormous are the possibilities in Los Angeles and Hollywood for community co-operation and development, especially along artistic lines. Hollywood reeks with latent talent as well as that which is developed. In fact, that latent talent is the great surprise.

"Los Angeles is alive with business acumen to develop this industry, which is the largest in the county and fifth in the country, with a weekly expense of $500,000 paid in salaries. So I feel no hesitancy in asking the co-operation of clubwomen in the great endeavor the Motion Picture Producers' and Distributors' Association, which comprises 85 per cent of all in the world has initiated."

The speaker was Thomas G. Patten, representative here for Will H. Hays speaking at a large public affairs luncheon of the Friday Morning Club yesterday.

The club women, many of whom came in after luncheon, until the dining-room of the Men's City Club was crowded, forgave Mr. Patten his extravagant adjectives concerning the community and its large industry, for no matter how often they may have heard them said of California, the sincerity of the speaker evidenced that they were new in their application as far as Mr. Patten is concerned.

VISITOR SURPRISED

Ten one-minute reports of departmental work in the club by the chairmen preceeded the talk of the hour, and Mr. Patten said: "I have listened to these reports with astonishment. I had no idea that any woman's club was accomplishing such definite results in civics, politics and philanthropy. I am certain there is nothing in the East that is comparable. I am confident that the producers and distributors need the aid of such an organization.

"The Hollywood Studio Club under the direction of the Y.W.C.A., helped by women's clubs, is one of the finest bits of work along the line we wish to do. Our first definite step is to release immediately money enough to put up a building that will house from eighty to a hundred more girls and the New York producers already have appropriated $30,000 toward this building since they feel that it is a good business investment to save the girls from New York, who throng to Hollywood."

The meeting was one to discuss the motion picture from every angle. It was presided over by Mrs. A. J. Lawton, chairman of that department for the club, who gave the significant information that there are now more than half a million motion-picture houses in the United States and that from 1,000,000 to 20,000,000 of all ages view the screen every twenty-four hours.

"In such a great thing," said Mrs. Lawton, "it is fitting that the largest federated woman's club in the world in the midst of this large industry should have a part. It is for this purpose that this department has been organized, with the same purpose that every other club department has—to build better citizenship."

FANNIE DILLON PROGRESSES

It is a matter of great pride to Southern California, with its ambition to make the western coast a musical center, that it owns as one of its family the charming composer Fannie Dillon. Miss Dillon's name and compositions are rapidly coming to the foreground of American composers and her work is being featured on the programs of many of the artists who are coming to the coast this winter. Percy Grainger is now playing various of her compositions upon his European programs of the present season where they are bringing new honors to Fannie Dillon.

Compositions Highly Honored

Fannie Dillon

Miss Dillon's piano compositions will be played this year by many famous artists, including Paderewski. Oberlin College has asked Miss Dillon to be sole western representative composer to the national musical conference to be held in Cleveland in April.

"But motion pictures have created a furor in human emotions that no stage or novel has ever equalled. And no other art has ever spent so lavishly to please the public. Right now for instance two stage successes—"Peg o' My Heart" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" both from works of literary art have had fortunes spent on them, with thousands of people employed in recreating the scenes. There is no artist who is not proud to be associated with this industry because there is manifest the sincere endeavor to produce art.

PATRONS NECESSARY

"You must be the patrons of this art. We have as much right to ask it of you as in Paris, Vienna and London, they ask for patrons of the art museums. As for the education of your children they can learn more early English history from one view of "Robin Hood" than a whole year of study in school. But more than that we must have the glorious vagabonds with romantic eyes to make pictures art.

"If these glorious vagabonds slip, we will not punish them. It is for you the public to do that."

Mrs. A. A. Hummel gave "The Viewpoint of the Club Woman" as related to the subject and outlined the plans to increase the patronage of pictures by making the best pictures pay best.

Other speakers included C. A. Dykstra, newly appointed a City Commissioner, who spoke academically on "The Crystallization of Political Parties in the United States;" Mrs. Seward Simons, chairman of international relations; Mrs. John J. Abramson, chairman of County Board of Supervisors work; Mrs. Emma A. Redd, chairman of public utilities; Mrs. Herbert Fallang, chairman of City Council activities; Mrs. Charles Richmond, chairman of social service; Miss Theresa Levy, chairman of disabled veterans work; Miss Alice Alden, chairman of municipal recreation; Mrs. Russell Judson Waters, education, and A. E. Foote, who spoke for visual education.

THALBERG SPEAKS

Irving G. Thalberg, representing producers and distributors, gave one of the best talks of the afternoon. Only 23 years of age, this ardent promoter of what he terms the greatest art of the century showed an expert insight into its paths and the goal which the industry ultimately expects to reach.

"You talk about us as an infant industry," he said with some feeling. "That is true no longer. We have kicked over the cradle. We have a definite goal and we know many of the ways to reach it. We have done enough already that entitles the motion-picture to be called a product of art. Not every picture shows great art, but enough do to make the claim. Not every novel that is written, not every picture that is painted is art."

Oberlin College has just invited Miss Dillon to be the sole western representative composer to attend the National Musical Conference in Cleveland, O., in April, when she will speak on the subject of musical composition and the training of young composers. Miss Dillon's ideas on that subject are most interesting. She says, "When parents will place their gifted young people with thorough teachers, who will give them adequate technical and musical foundation, then and not until then will we have more great composers and pianists in this country."

Standing quite alone among composers, Miss Dillon has decided to use as texts for her songs only poems by American composers, believing that American composers are neglecting home material. Two well-known Los Angeles poets for whose work Miss Dillon has already created the musical setting, are Edna Sherrett and Rita Green Breeze, both of whom are members of the Southern California Women's Press Club.

SOCIETY

An engagement that will interest a wide circle of friends is that of Miss Katherine Torrance to Mr. Henry Kyd Douglas Peachy of Washington, D. C. The secret was made known yesterday at a luncheon party given by Mrs. Robert Smith at her home at 811 South St. Andrews Place.

Miss Torrance, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Torrance, 426 South Kenmore avenue, is one of the city's most popular and prominent girls, a graduate of Marlborough College and of the Finch School in New York.

Mr. Peachy, a graduate of the University of Virginia, is head of the Washington office of the Brooks Stokes Company, so the young people will live in Washington.

The date for the wedding has not been set, but will be an event of the near future.

For Miss Rector

A bride-elect who is being feted on all sides is Miss Wilhelmina Rector, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rector, who is to marry Mr. Frederick Walker Gollum on the 16th inst. at the Wilshire Christian Church. In addition to the large circle of friends who will attend the church, many others will be entertained at a reception at the home of the bride, 460 South Manhattan Place, after the ceremony.

Among the many affairs honoring this popular young woman was a luncheon and bridge party given at the Ambassador on Friday by Mrs. Mab Ranger of Hollywood, when the decorations were carried out in delightful pastel tones, and the place cards were significant of bridal happiness.

On Saturday Miss Ida Cubank of Wilmington also entertained with a party at the Ambassador, which was followed by a shower for Miss Rector, at the instance of her sorority friends, given at the home of Miss Margaret Couch and Miss Sara Merrit.

And today Mrs. Ernest Fiecker, Jr., will honor Miss Rector with a bridge and luncheon party at the New Mary Louise.

Next Friday, Miss Portia Miner, who is to be the maid of honor, will be hostess at a shower for the bride at her home on South Kenmore avenue.

And the trousseau tea, to be given by the bride-elect and her mother, when all the dainties pertaining to that precious collection will be revealed for the interest of intimate friends, will take place at the Rector home.

Then on Sunday, two days before the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Deming (who was formerly Mrs. Mason,) will give a dinner to the entire bridal party at their home at 347 South Wilton Place, when those present will include the bride and bridegroom-elect, Miss Portia Miner, maid of honor; Mr. George Wallace, the best man; his wife, Mrs. Wallace; Miss Margaret Munson, the contralto who will sing at the wedding; Mr. and Mrs. George Rector, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell McLaughlin and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bowida.

At the Wilshire Country Club

The Dinner Club, that coterie of young married people who gather to enjoy the Wilshire Country Club's dinner-dances, will hold another of their gay affairs on the 19th inst. when Mrs. J. G. Scarborough, Jr., and Mrs. Dwight Whiting will be the acting hostesses. Arrangements are being made for about 250 plates.

Newport Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Newport were the hosts at a dinner given at the Los Angeles Athletic Club on Friday evening to compliment Miss Helen Sheehan and Lieut. Samuel Dyer Arthur, whose wedding will be an event of the near future. Miss Ruth Briner, niece of the hosts, from Fresno, also was honored at the party, which included numerous members of the naval set.

Lieut. Arthur will sail shortly on the U.S.S. New Mexico for the maneuvers in South American waters, and it is whispered the marriage will take place before he leaves, although no date has been announced.

Social Briefs

News of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Gardon and Rembert C. Anderson last Saturday comes from Santa Barbara. Both are residents of this city.

Mrs. Van Tress of 3974 Ingraham street will leave Los Angeles on Thursday to join her daughter in the East, after which she will return home by way of the Panama Canal in March.

Mrs. Louis A. Cartier of North St. Andrews Place entertained twenty-four guests on Saturday in honor of her husband's birthday.

Mrs. G. Ekdahl, wife of the Swedish Consul here, gave a luncheon for sixteen guests at her home at 2806 Brighton avenue on Saturday. Mrs. Ekdahl was assisted by her three lovely daughters.

Diet and Health

CHILBLAIN

Getting cold feet has long been an expression, usually of opprobrium, applied to persons who apparently endorse a course of action you favor, and then become sceptical and back out. Getting cold feet in this psychic sense may be uncomfortable, but compared to getting cold feet in the physical sense, especially if the c. f. are accompanied by chilblain, is a trifle if I can believe the reports and pleas for advice on the subject I am receiving. Hence this article.

Chilblain or frost bite—Dermatitis Congelationis—is the result of severe cold on portions of the skin. Usually on the feet, hands or face, after exposure there will appear patches which are cool to the touch but are accompanied with a sense of burning, smarting and itching both while forming and after the parts are warm. To those predisposed to chilblain sometimes very moderately cool temperature is sufficient to produce them. After longer exposure to the cold sometimes blisters and secondary inflammations, even to gangrene, have been known to develop.

It is usually found that persons who suffer from this condition are anemic and their circulation is poor. There is this reaction in the tissues because the cold has interfered with the circulation so much that it does not get its nourishment. As in other skin disorders which are local manifestations of general under-par-ness of the system, obviously the thing to do is to take measures to get to par in health.

I have told you that persons who suffer from this condition usually are anemic and have poor circulation. Of course those in perfect health may be so affected if they are exposed too long to severe cold.

The treatment. If there is general anemia you must find the cause of the anemia and get rid of that. It may be—and often is—due to undernourishment. It may be due to a chronic poisoning from some infected points in the body. It may be due to other unhygienic habits. If you are undernourished you can have our article on gaining by sending in the usual way. You may suffer from poor circulation by being overnourished and overweight too. We can also help you on that score.

For the local treatment the best preventive is the wearing of woolen coverings on the hands and feet, and ears if necessary. Gentle friction should be used on the parts to bring the blood to them. Sometimes stimulating ointments containing camphor, iodine, ichthyol or carbolic acid, may be used.

In severe cases of frost bite it is necessary not to allow the parts to become warm too rapidly. The custom of rubbing them with snow as is done in the steppes of Russia, where these accidents are frequent, is said to bring good results.

It is said that long perseverance in this course is often rewarded with success in apparently desperate cases. If there is blistering and ulcerations, then antiseptic dressings are indicated.

If you suffer too much from chilblains why not move to Southern California? Here is a boost for my home place that I hope won't be overlooked by our Chamber of Commerce. It truly is a fact that sometimes people are bothered so much from chilblain that it is advisable for them to go to a warmer climate. So if after getting yourself in the best of physical condition you still suffer, come on out, the climate's fine.

WATER WARNING SOUNDED

Los Angeles Basin Must Have Reforestation, Asserts Flood Control Expert in Address

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
MONROVIA, Jan. 9.—Unless the people of the Los Angeles Basin turn their attention to conservation of water and the reforestation of the adjacent watershed, the time will come when they will be pushed to find drinking water, to say nothing of water for irrigating purposes, was the statement made this afternoon to a group of fifty Monrovia Rotarians and their guests by Dr. George P. Clements, head of the reforestation and flood control committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

The program on which Dr. Clements spoke was in charge of Glenn L. Box and Bert J. Evans, the latter of the San Gabriel Valley Associate Chambers of Commerce.

"In 1916 the geological survey of the Los Angeles Basin, by which is meant the immense valley lying between the Sierra Madre, San Bernardino, San Fernando, Temecula Mountains showed a sufficient quantity of water to last at a normal rate of population increase for forty years, said Dr. Clement.

SHOWING OF SURVEY

"This survey gave 1.37 acre feet per capita for the basin. But when the census of 1920 was completed the figures had dropped from 1.37 acre feet per capita to .21 acre feet, which gave but little way against the absolute demand of .14 acre feet per capita of the present population. Remarkably heavy increases in cultivation and an equally rapid rise in population sent the curve almost straight up.

"The most serious problem we have to face is that of water conservation," declared the speaker. "We have in the past three years lost a fifth of our watershed through fire damage. Our forest conservation policy is absolutely ridiculous; even our County Supervisors cannot see the value of our water—that it is the very breath of life to us of Southern California. Two-thirds of the present agricultural lands of the great Los Angeles Basin were at one time devastated by flood and the geologic history of the country shows that these floods always followed after heavy forest fires permitted rapid erosion and runoff.

ROAD NEEDED

"We must build roads into the mountains, get the hills once more clothed with shrubbery and get everybody awakened to the fact that conserving our water supply is our first duty to ourselves and to our children. During the past five years 40 per cent of the beautiful mountain resorts in this district have been devastated by fire which burned over large areas largely because there were inadequate means and methods of reaching or fighting fires.

"It is a foolish host who invites guests before looking to his larder and we have invited the world and the world is coming to us without knowing that we can offer our guests food and drink."

HOSPITAL AT BEACH ASSURED

Hermosa-Redondo Institution Purchases Site to Serve Two Resort Cities

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
REDONDO BEACH, Jan. 9.—February first has been set as the tentative date of the breaking of ground for the new Hermosa-Redondo Hospital, the site having been already purchased. The hospital is to be located on Manhattan avenue, almost at the border line between the two cities and will serve 15,000 people.

The plan and design of the building carries a number of unique features which experts believe will prove a wonderful aid in the successful work of the hospital. In the main, the building will follow the Spanish lines, having an immense patio to which access can be gained from each room by French doors, wide enough to permit moving the patient's bed out of doors. An additional feature is the fact that every room will be on the lower floor, so that they can all be adapted as sun parlors, as the individual needs of the patient may require.

Shares in the organization have already been placed on sale, and the institution is now assured. At the head of the movement are: Trustees, Dr. C. Max Anderson of Hermosa, Dr. Harry Davis of El Segundo, Electa W. Anderson; secretary-treasurer, Geo. Cate, Mayor of Redondo Beach. Advisory Medical Board; Dr. Franklyn J. Tower, Redondo and Los Angeles, Dr. E. G. Butt, Redondo; Dr. Wm. B. Bowman, Los Angeles; Dr. A. T. Hembree, Redondo, and Dr. Homer M. Walker, Los Angeles.

BEACH OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES TO MEET

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—For the first time in the history of Long Beach city officials and city employees, the latter numbering nearly 700, will get together at a banquet for the purpose of talking over the proposition of running the city government in an efficient manner. The idea, put forth by Charles H. Windham, Long Beach's new City Manager, is new entirely to this city, it was said.

The banquet is to be held in the dining hall of the First Christian Church at the intersection of Fifth and Locust avenues, next Monday night. The policies of the administration will be placed before the employees and the latter will be asked to co-operate in carrying out the program. Every person on the city pay roll will be asked to attend, exceptions being made only for policemen and firemen on duty.

A feature of the affair will be a concert by the municipal band. J. S. Yancy, Chief of Police, it was said, has consented to give several musical numbers on a one-string violin and the steel guitar.

BUILD MANY HOMES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 9.—C. L. Emerson, manager of the Idyllwild resort in the San Jacinto Mountains, reported that $38,000 worth of new cottages and summer homes were built in the Idyllwild district last year and that there are thirty new cottages already contracted for the coming year. It is interesting that this record is about half as great as the total building activities for the city of Hemet during the past year.

SIERRA MADRE, Jan. 9.—A bond election has been announced for January 30, at which time voters will be asked to approve of a plan to issue $30,000 in municipal securities to provide funds to purchase and equip a city park.

The money, in event the bond proposition carries, will be used to buy the residence property of J. J. Hart. The homestead consists of three acres, centrally located. The plat is well planted to big trees and shrubery. It is proposed to use $18,000 for purchase of the site and the remaining $12,000 for making alterations and improvements.

The old Hart residence which has been a landmark here for many years, will be torn down and an old winery, near the residence will be converted into a community house. The walls of the winery are adobe and twelve inches thick.

Mr. Hart is one of the best known residents of Sierra Madre, having resided here for the last thirty-two years. He is an accomplished musician and has maintained a studio for the study of the violin in Pasadena for many years. During several extensive tours of Europe Mr. Hart devoted much time to the study of wine-making, and prior to the enactment of the Volstead Act, made a vintage here that was popular over a large territory.

Youth Shot at Beach Resort as Intruder

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SAN LUIS OBISPO, Jan. 9.—A youth giving the name of Clarence Campe and address as Monette, Mo., was shot in the abdomen yesterday morning by William C. Gedding, proprietor of the Pismo plunge building at Pismo Beach, fifteen miles south of here.

According to Campe's story he arrived at Pismo early in the morning and went into the plunge building, where there are also furnished apartments, looking for a room.

Hedding states that he heard someone in the building and thought it sounded like someone stealthily creeping through the halls. He opened the door and when he saw the figure of a man fired with his 45-caliber revolver.

Campe was brought to a local sanatorium and ttending physicians sa yhe has a slight chance of recovery.

CONDUCT FUNERAL OF WHITTIER PIONEER

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
WHITTIER, Jan. 9. — Funeral services for the late Mrs. Martha J. Townsend were conducted at White's funeral chapel this morning and burial made in the Whittier Heights Memorial Cemetery. The funeral sermon was delivered by Rev. Frank W. Dell, pastor of the Friends' Church.

Mrs. Townsend, who was 80 years old, was a pioneer resident of Whittier, and a lifelong member of the Friends Church. She was for twenty-five years president of the Whittier W.C.T.U., and was well known in temperance work throughout the State. She was a widow and is survived by a son and two daughters.

Death followed severe injuries which she received in a fall some months ago.

HUSBAND DEAD; WIFE PRISONER

Smuggler of Chinese Slain by Officer at Border

Woman Who Shot at Officer to be Tried Quickly

Admits Plot in Confession Made at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—Her husband dead from a bullet wound received in a pistol duel with an immigration officer, Mrs. Emma Hendricks, asserted accomplice in a Chinese smuggling plot, will be prosecuted without delay, it was announced today by officials of the Immigration Bureau here.

Hendricks was killed last night at the international border when he endeavored to escape from A. H. Schlanze, a customs inspector who had ordered the driver of a machine to draw his car to the side of the road to permit a thorough search.

Hendrick's actions when ordered to stop after crossing from Tijuana aroused Schlanze's suspicions. Instead of complying with instructions. Hendricks stepped on the throttle, but Schlanze jumped on the running board and again ordered the driver to stop.

WOMAN SHOOTS

A bullet, said by the inspector to have been fired by Mrs. Handricks, inflicted a flesh wound in Schlanze's arm. The inspector tried to cut off the ignition but failed. Fearing bodily harm he opened fire on Hendricks, three bullets entering the smuggler's body. The car ran into a ditch.

When searched two Chinese were found packed tightly into a cleverly constructed compartment under the rear seat.

Mrs. Hendricks, in a statement to Deputy Collector of Customs W. H. Woolman this morning admitted she and Hendricks had engaged in Chinese smuggling at Mexicali as well as Tijuana. The Hendricks are said to have come here from Sacramento some time ago.

Previous smuggling attempts, Mrs. Hendricks said, had resulted in eleven Chinese gaining entry. The price for Chinese "laid down" in San Francisco she said, was $685 each.

Husband Seeks to Keep Bride From Parents

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 9.—Literally torn from his bride at the altar, Andrew Waltman today appealed to the courts to halt an annulment of his marriage to Margaret Greable Waltman, a "kissless bride."

Less than twenty-four hours after the ceremony, three weeks ago, the bride's father, John E. Greable, filed suit to dissolve the marriage, acting in the capacity of guardian ad litem. The father said the girl was 16 years of age, but on the marriage certificate the age of 18 was written. The irate father said Waltman's domination over the girl alienated her affections for her parents.

Waltman today filed a demurrer to the annulment action, denying the father's statements in the complaint. It is understood that the bride yearns to return to her husband.

USES SISTER'S CLOTHES

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
POMONA, Jan. 9.—An attempt to run away from home disguised in his sister's best clothes caused the arrest of Gayland Howell, juvenile, today and now he is lodged in the City Jail charged with violation of probation. This is the third time that young Howell has run away from home.

Laying Contest Start Deferred to November 1

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
POMONA, Jan. 9.—Directors of the Southern California egg-laying contest, which is a Pomona institution with pens at 814 South Garey avenue, have voted to begin next year's contest on November 1 instead of October 1.

During the month of December the egg production of the contest failed to increase until near the end of the month, when the birds began to pick up, and for this reason it was thought advisable to change the starting date.

Highest hen production for December was made by Ford Heyings' R. I. Reds with an average of 14.94 eggs per bird. La Rita trapnest Farm Leghorns were second with an average of 11.17 and E. E. Eisenberg's Leghorns third with 11.15.

George B. Wilkins's bord No. 403, with a production of 26 eggs, was first individual for the month.

The ligh birds consumed on an average 2.85 pounds of grain, 2.20 pounds mash and 1.71 pounds green food. Heavies consumed 2.08 pounds grain, 2.03 pounds mash and 1.70 pounds green food.

Mr. Randall gave it as his conservative estimate that city grammar-school enrollment in 1926 would be in excess of 2500 and that high school and junior-college enrollment would be close to 2000 and urged his hearers to give careful thought to the problem of meeting the situation in the matter of school accommodations. Present grammar-school enrollment in Ontario is 1737 while the high school and junior college enrollment is 1238.

Present plans of the city Board of Education, of which John S. Armstrong is president, calling for the completion of a new junior high school now in construction in West Fourth street at a cost of $75,000, the enlargement of a number of present buildings and the erection of a new building in East D street for which the site already have been purchased, will care, it is said, for the anticipated increase for the next four years, but Supt. Randall urged that the problem of the future be given consideration.

Characterizing Ontario as the most progressive rural educational center in the United States, Mr. Randall ventured the prediction in closing that the next five or ten years would see the various elementary districts now comprising the Chaffey-union district consolidated as one school district in line with a State-wide movement to that end.

SCHOOL GROWTH ENORMOUS

Ontario Superintendent Tells of Enrollment Gain and Gives Plans for Future

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ONTARIO, Jan. 9.—Figures showing a gain of nearly 700 pupils in grammar school enrollment since 1919 and an increase of more than 400 in high school and junior college enrollment in Ontario were presented this afternoon by C. W. Randall, city superintendent of schools, in an address before a forum luncheon meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce at the Hotpoint Club.

REDLANDS BANK WILL OPEN SOON

Home for New Institution to be Ready in February, President Park Says

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
REDLANDS Jan. 9.—Austin T. Park, who has been prominent in financial circles in Redlands for fifteen years, and who is to be the president of the First National Bank of Redlands, announces that the new financial institution will be opened early in February.

A large force of men is at work now remodeling the Hubbard Block, which is to be the home of the bank. This is the room formerly occupied by the Citizens' National Bank. The old vault and fixtures will be used. The room has been remodeled inside and a new front has been built.

Mr. Park says the organization work of the bank, carried on by T. E. High and E. D. Sexton, who are to be vice-president and cashier, respectively, is about completed. The charter has been received, capital stock is almost all subscribed and everything is in readiness for completion of the work on the quarter.

Mr. Park was formerly with the old Redlands National Bank and later with the First National Bank here. Mr. High and Mr. Sexton have had wide banking experience in Oklahoma.

Hotel del Coronado winter season now started. Make reservations at 511 Spring St. Phone M. 3917.—[Advertisement.

PASSKEY THIEVES ESCAPE WITH JEWELS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ANAHEIM, Jan. 9. — Passkey burglars who entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bailey, 754 Seeyn street, last night, escaped with jewelry valued at several hundred dollars, according to a report of the theft to Anaheim police this afternoon.

The robbery was discovered this morning when members of the family returned from a visit in Los Angeles over the week-end. Entrance to the home was gained by use of a passkey on a rear door lock. The plunder included one large cameo pin and chain, gold watch fob, pearl brooch, gold brooch, set with small diamonds, two pairs of pearl ear-rings, woman's ruby ring, cameo lavalliere and chain, one turquoise ring, man's signet ring, emerald ring, gold watch chain and charm, bar pin, locket, wedding-ring and two bracelets.

AIRPLANE USED TO SOW GRAIN

System Proves Fast, But Cost Comes High By Comparison

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
TRACY, Jan. 9.—Sowing of a 276-acre field to grain by airplane began three miles west of here this morning on the A. Grunauer ranch and by noon twenty acres had been covered. F. W. Ferris is piloting the plane. The machine flies 100 feet from the ground and the released seed covers a swath fifty feet wide. It was found that a half-sack was required to the acre and Mr. Grunauer estimates the cost at $1 an acre as against 10 cents an acre when the sowing is done by horses.

Woman Accepts Education Post on State Force

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ONTARIO, Jan. 9.—That Mrs. Grace C. Stanley, of the faculty of Chaffey High School and Junior College, will assume the duties of State Commissioner of Elementary Education, to which post she was appointed recently, on February 1, was the announcement today of Merton E. Hill, principal of the local school.

During the past week Mrs. Stanley has been at the State capital acquainting herself with the duties of her new position.

Principal Hill today formally notified Miss Ida M. Collins, county superintendent of schools, that Chaffey would be obliged to dispense with Mrs. Stanley's services after the 31st inst. Before accepting a place on the Chaffey faculty Mrs. Stanley was San Bernardino county superintendent of schools.

Supreme Court Ruling Hampers County Affairs

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SANTA ANA, Jan. 9.—Seeking to upset or in some manner overcome the recent State Supreme Court ruling limiting the powers of the State Legislature in adjustment of numbers and salaries of county officers, Dist.-Atty. A. P. Nelson left here yesterday on a trip to Oakland, where it is understood similar efforts are being made. Should it appear that the Alameda case will bring the matter to a head, Nelson will offer his co-operation, it is said.

Orange county is particularly hard hit by the decision, it is pointed out, for the county's business is growing very rapidly and the efficiency of all departments would be greatly injured should the present ruling have to be followed for the next four years.

Thief's Wiles Lose Watchdog His Reputation

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
LONG BEACH, Jan. 9.—W. A. Stewart of 1316 Lime avenue has a watchdog for sale and anyone can have him at whatever price offered. Stewart had a lot of confidence in the watchmanship abilities of Bruno until last night, when the dog was placed on guard in the rear of the family home while the inmates attended church. When Stewart and his family returned they found Bruno inside the house and the dog wagged his tail as though proud of his achievement in gaining entrance.

Investigation showed that a burglar, meeting the dog in the back yard, cultivated his acquaintance and dragged him into the house while he went on a robbing tour through the various rooms. He made off with a large amount of clothing and other articles. Detective Sergeants H. E. Lebarron and A. H. Smith are hunting the burglar.

ORANGE COUNTY SHIPS NAVELS TO AUSTRALIA

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ANAHEIM, Jan. 9. — Six carloads of navel oranges, the first of the season with the exception of the preholiday shipments to the East, were on the way today from northern Orange county packing-houses to Australia and the Philippine Islands.

This fruit was shipped from the Fullerton Mutual Orange Association, while twelve other cars from two Anaheim packing-houses, the Placentia Orange Growers' Association and the Benchley Fruit Company, were loaded for the eastern market. Two packing-houses in Anaheim, one in Fullerton and another at Olive, all of which have been idle since the start of the holiday season, will be in operation before the end of the week.

RANCHER MARRIED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 9. — Miss Jonney Wilkinson, daughter of Mrs. N. Simberg and Ralph John Mitchell, an Imperial Valley rancher, were married tonight. The bride is prominent in Orange county society and the bridegroom is a graduate of Stanford University and a World-War veteran. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mitchell of Irvine, Cal., where the couple will make their home.

TANGLE GROWS IN GRAFT QUIZ

San Bernardino Supervisors Are Puzzled

Auditor's Responsibility for Deputy Doubtful

New Official Instructed to Revise System

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
ONTARIO, Jan. 9.—That the question of whether former County Auditor S. G. Berger of Ontario is responsible under his bond for the misappropriation of funds by the late Ira J. Cole, a deputy in his office, who committed suicide when the graft investigation was started, will be placed at once before Dist.-Atty. George H. Johnson, by the San Bernardine county Board of Supervisors, was the announcement here today.

UP TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY

The question of the status of taxpayers who turned money over to Mr. Cole for the clearing of tax redemptions also will be put up to the District Attorney. If the legal adviser takes the stand that persons who thus made Mr. Cole their agent will have to assume the loss, it was reported that a test action might be made against E. A. Parkford, prominent real estate and hotel man of Ontario and Los Angeles. Mr. Parkford is said to have given a check in favor of Mr. Cole to clear up the tax redemption.

The law is said to provide that the Auditor may give only an authorization for the Treasurer to receive the money, being unable himself legally to receive money. It specifies that his duty is to figure the amount due and certify to that effect, the taxpayer being obliged to make the remittance to the Treasurer.

RESPONSIBILITY IN DOUBT

It is contended that Mr. Berger cannot be held responsible for the reason that when taxpayers made Mr. Cole their personal agent, he was not representing the Auditor, but the individual taxpayer. It is believed that extensive litigation will grow out of the tangled situation.

The Supervisors today instructed Vincent Roth, newly appointed Auditor, and P. W. Nichols, his chief deputy, to prepare an entirely new system of booking in the Auditor's office.

NAMES INQUIRY BOARD

Army Men Will Investigate Disappearance of Officers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SAN DIEGO, Jan. 9.—A board of inquiry into the disappearance and probable deaths of Col. Francis C. Marshall and Lieut. Frank Webber while en route from San Diego to Tucson in an airplane was appointed today by Maj.-Gen. Charles Morton, commander of the Ninth Army Corps Area, who was here on a tour of inspection. The board, composed of Col. J. A. Lynch, Maj. Edgar Colloday and Capt. Robert Ervin, will make its report direct to Gen. Morton who, in turn, will submit it to the War Department.

Col. Marshall, who was assistant chief of the cavalry arm of the service, and Lieut. Webber, famous cross-country aviator, left San Diego on the morning of December 7, last. Nothing has been seen or heard of them since. The desert and mountain country between here and Tucson was searched thoroughly by forty or more airplanes without result.

GIRLS! BEAUTIFY HAIR AT ONCE

Try This! Hair Appears Soft, Colorful and Abundant —A Gleamy Mass

15 Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Also Ends Dandruff; Falling Hair!

A "Danderine Beauty Treatment" will immediately double the attractiveness of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and possess an incomparable softness, luster and really appear twice as thick and abundant—a mass of luxuriant, glinty, colorful hair.

Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine eradicates dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is the best, cheapest and most delightful hair corrective and tonic. It is to the hair what fresh showers of rain are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, vitalizes and strengthens them. Its stimulating properties help the hair to grow long, heavy, strong.

You can surely have beautiful hair, and lots of it, if you will spend 35 cents for a bottle of Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter. It is not greasy, oily or sticky.

No more Rheumatism

"Suffering has gone from your face, mother!"

S. S. S. Is the Great Builder of Red-Blood-Cells and Rheumatism Must Go! Just Try It!

"Rheumatism? Me? No, indeed, it's all gone, every bit of it! It's sunshine and joy for me now for the first time in years. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I look at my hands and think of the twists and swellings they used to have. I head way over to the floor. I haven't been able to do that in many years. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! To me it was a rising sun of joy and liberty. Brothers and sisters in misery, do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. It is here and now for all of you. S. S. S. is waiting to help you." There is a reason why S. S. S. will help you. When you increase the number of your red-blood cells, the entire system undergoes a tremendous change. Everything depends on blood-strength. Blood which is minus sufficient red-cells leads to a long list of troubles. Rheumatism is one of them. S. S. S. is the great blood-cleanser, blood-builder, system strengthener, nerve invigorator. It stops skin eruptions, too, pimples, blackheads, acne, boils, eczema. It builds up run downs, tired men and women, beautifies complexions, makes the flesh firmer. Start S. S. S. today. It is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

DREAM IS NEAR TO REALIZATION

Advertising Club Gets Deed to Building Land

Noted Men Are Well Wishers of Organization

Guy Bates Post Boosts for "Honesty" Slogan

Formal presentation to the board of directors of the deed to the property for their new clubhouse, congratulatory messages from representatives of various business and civic organizations of the city, and brief addresses by Arthur M. Loomis, president of the club, and Guy Bates Post, theatrical celebrity, featured the noonday luncheon yesterday of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles at the Alexandria. More than 400 members and guests were present.

In accepting the deed to the land which marked this club as the first organization of its kind on the Pacific Coast to acquire its own home, Mr. Loomis expressed confidence in the growth of the business district westward toward the new location, and predicted the rise in the near future of the local club to one of the most prominent in the country.

The property acquired for the erection of a clubhouse is between Lucas and Bixel streets and fronts on both Orange and Ingraham streets. The movement for a new home was instituted two years ago, Mr. Loomis stated, and since that time 20 per cent of all initiation fees have been set aside in a fund destined to be used for the establishment of permanent headquarters. At present more than $5000 has been provided by incoming memberships to apply on the property. The cost of the land was $25,000.

DEED STEP AHEAD

"This deed represents not only something of tangible value," Mr. Loomis said in accepting the deed from John F. Keogh, representative of an investment and surety company, "but also represents a forward step in our activities—a vision materialized, a dream come true, an ambition realized, a promise fulfilled. At the beginning of the present club year a committee was appointed to bring into being the promise constantly made during the past two years.

"This committee, consisting of Glenn W. Duncan, Ross Welch, Bert Butterworth, A. Carman Smith and Ray E. Nimmo, for two months canvassed the situation and conducted an exhaustive survey of the properties available. The location obtained is in comparatively close proximity to the business section of our city, and no doubt will be the center of the westward moving metropolitan district in a short time. Should ultimately a different location be found more desirable, the club has invested in a property which can be turned or traded at any time with constantly increased profit."

MR. POST SPEAKS

In his address Mr. Post emphasized the importance of a permanent home for any individual or organization, and pictured the part honesty played in publicity and advertising.

"Integrity—honesty—the psychology of that one slogan," Mr. Post said, "will do more to gain the confidence of the public and to hold that confidence than anything else. The day of the charlatan is gone. The day of the faker is gone. The day of the honest business man has arrived, for he is a benefactor to the human race.

"The province of the merchant is to supply the material things that make life happy and contented, and I think that I am justified in going a step further, for the merchant in offering his wares as gifts and presenting them in an attractive manner is the bringer of peace and joy into the home, for many times the gift that is given, not for a stated occasion or an anniversary, but as a balm, an olive branch, as a symbol of healing power for the little pars, disappointments, frictions and unhappinesses that often, even unconsciously, creep into our daily lives."

WELL WISHES MANY

Congratulatory messages on the achievement of the club in its initial step toward a home were given by Capt. J. D. Fredericks, president of the Chamber of Commerce; E. M. Bodie of the Commercial Board; H. M. Porter of the Los Angeles Realty Board; O. L. Ferris, president of the Kiwanis Club; J. Y. Bedell of the Greeters' Organization; D. H. Parke of the Lions' Club; H. H. Smock of the Optimist Club; Harry Mason of the Rotary Club; A. I. Stewart of the Los Angeles Sales Managers' Association, and H. I. Bremmer of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association.

The meeting yesterday was attended by three former presidents of the organization, Harold Janss, Harry Carroll and Ray E. Nimmo. Entertainment was furnished by the California Girls' Quartet, composed of Rachel G. Smith, Madge B. Quimby, Margaret Wilson and Mabelle Berry, and the Theron Bennet orchestra from Jahnkes' Tavern.

Glenn W. Duncan, a member of the board of directors, presided. At the conclusion of the meeting a rising vote of the members of the organization declared that the annual banquet to be held the 30th inst., at the Alexandria should not be a stag affair.

Speed Desire Brings Heavy Fines for Two

For driving over an intersection at the rate of thirty miles an hour, C. T. Fallaren of 1818 South Vermont avenue was fined $200 yesterday by Justice Baird. Fallaren was convicted of driving at an excessive speed at the intersection of Harbor and Riverside Boulevards. Justice Baird declared that it was his belief that the maximum punishment provided by the law was not too much for persons who exceed the limit in crossing intersections.

J. Steinberg, an actor, of 219 East Seventy-third street, was fined $100 for traveling forty miles an hour on Alameda street. Both men paid their fines.

BABCOCK IS RE-ELECTED

Business Men's Co-operative Association Votes to Retain Managing Director for Seventh Year

George M. Babcock was yesterday re-elected for the seventh consecutive year, managing director and secretary of the Business Men's Co-operative Association, at the annual meeting of the organization held in its rooms in the Bradbury Building, Third street and Broadway. Resolutions were adopted at the meeting expressing the organization's appreciation of the "untiring and unselfish" work of Mr. Babcock in the interest of the association. In reviewing the work of the association during the past year, Mr. Babcock at yesterday's meeting said:

"In reviewing the achievements of our association during 1922, we are impressed, not only with their number, but with the importance and very great value of them to the business men and property owners in the downtown district.

HAVE GAINED POWER

"Starting in 1917, nearly six years ago, without a perfectly defined plan for attaining our objects, we have slowly developed into an organization of so much potential power, in matters affecting the numerous and varied interests of the business man, that we are today represented on nearly every commission and committee of importance dealing with municipal affairs. Ours is the only organization dedicated to the welfare of those who have believed that normal expansion of the mercantile district should not be hampered, but that abnormal development in any direction, which would destroy values or wreck any part of the district, should be discouraged.

"At the time our association was formed, a large percentage of the merchants north of Fifth street were obsessed with the idea that the trend of trade to Seventh street and south of that artery would desolate the so-called "North End."

CONVERT PESSIMISTS

"It was difficult to convert the pessimist, and it was only through a campaign of publicity, personal interviews and persuasion that we were able to prevent a stampede to new locations, made attractive by improvements, and the contention of promoters that disaster confronted those who failed to follow the tide. But there were those who believed that the tide would turn and they are the ones who are congratulating themselves now on the confidence they had in the predictions and promises of the Business Men's Co-operative Association.

"A similar revival of a business district is without a precedent in the history of progressive cities, and our association has the unique distinction of having accomplished what has never been done before.

George M. Babcock

"We were confronted by obstacles along almost every line of effort during the last year, but we broke them down one after the other and have no real or conclusive defeat to look back upon. In view of the magnitude of the various projects we inaugurated, this is a remarkable record."

The complete list of officers elected at yesterday's meeting was as follows: Orra E. Monnette, president; Leo S. Jacoby, James G. Warren and Herman W. Frank, vice-presidents; Frederick W. Blanchard, treasurer; and George M. Babcock, managing director and secretary.

RELIGIOUS AUTHORITY IS CALLED

Mrs. Eva S. Dowling Dies After Brief Illness; Was Close Student

Mrs. Eva Sellers Dowling, 68 years of age, widow of the late Dr. Levi Dowling, died yesterday morning at the family residence, 126 North Vendome street, after a brief illness.

Arrangements for funeral services were completed last night, following the arrival in Los Angeles of Mrs. Alice Stillman of Ottumwa, Iowa, Mrs. Dowling's sister. The ceremonies will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow, at the family residence, 126 North Vendome street, Rec. C. C. Pierce officiating. The body will be taken to the Los Angeles Crematory. Friends of the family are invited to the services at the residence.

Intensely interested in esoteric Christianity, comparative religions and occult lore, Mrs. Dowling was well known among students in the Southland, especially for her work in assisting her late husband, who was the author of "The Aquarian Gospel of Jesus the Christ."

According to Dr. Dowling, "The Aquarian Gospel" was transcribed directly from the "Akashic records," or "The Book of Life," in which it is said all words, events and thoughts are recorded indelibly, and which may be read by those whose spiritual vision is clear. Since the death of Dr. Dowling in 1911, Mrs. Dowling has taken an added interest in the distribution of his books and printed lectures.

Mrs. Dowling leaves one son, Lee W. Dowling, and a sister, Mrs. Adele Brown of Los Angeles; another sister, Mrs. Alice Stillman of Ottumwa, Iowa, and a brother, James C. Sellers of London.

BACKERS OF CHURCH TO BE HONORED

Birthday of Institution Will be Celebrated With Dinner Monday

On the birthday of the Wilshire-Boulevard Congregational Church three men who have aided its establishment will be honored on Monday the 15th inst., at 6:30 p.m., at a dinner at the Ambassador. The honor guests are Dr. David Starr Jordan, Frederick Wards and Dr. James A. Blaisdell, president of Pomona College.

At the head table, besides the honor guests, Dr. Frank Dyer, pastor of the church, will have special guests who have assisted in the services during the last year at the Ambassador Theater. These are Charles Ray, Prof. R. C. Brooks, Conrad Nagel, Dr. Frank Nagel, Miss Helen Ferguson, Milton Sills, Ole Hanson, Rabbi Trattner, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, Prof. Edward A. Steiner and Judge B. F. Bledsoe.

Thirty hostesses have charge of the invitations: Mrs. W. H. Moses, Mrs. Harry Cardell, Mrs. A. H. Detwiler, Mrs. T. J. Okey, Mrs. E. P. Clark, Mrs. Seeley Mudd, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. J. C. Ernst, Mrs. Charles Andrews, Mrs. W. B. Scott, Mrs. B. F. Bledsoe, Mrs. Frank Dyer, Mrs. W. H. Gale, Mrs. John Rugg, Mrs. Gillette, Mrs. W. O. Jenkins, Mrs. J. H. Scott, Mrs. J. C. Atsatt, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, Mrs. Robert McCormick, Mrs. J. H. Philp, Mrs. R. N. Clark, Mrs. F. L. Melville, Mrs. H. J. Schott, Mrs. B. R. Bell, Mrs. W. H. Daum, Mrs. C. R. Luton, Mrs. Carl S. Patton, Mrs. E. G. Gilfith, Mrs. W. A. Griffing and Mrs. C. H. Hartke. About 500 diners are expected.

SOAP-BOX ORATORS IN BAD ORDER

"Radical Row" May be Put Out of Business, Due to Complaints

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday joined in the protests being made to the City Council against conditions along "Radical Row" on Los Angeles street, between First and Aliso streets, where soap-box orators declare themselves nightly. Passersbys and merchants along Los Angeles street and the adjacent district are annoyed and in some cases have been assaulted.

The chamber appointed a special committee to investigate, and this committee reported that at one time nearly 1000 men were found loafing on Second street and on Los Angeles street, and the committee said that there was every indication that a number of these men were "Reds."

While recommending that nothing be done to interfere with the right of free speech, the chamber did suggest yesterday that steps be taken by the city to protect property and citizens in the vicinity of "Radical Row," that more street lights be placed and that additional police officers be stationed there to protect citizens and property. The matter will be given a hearing by the Council's public safety committee Monday afternoon.

County Officers Promise to Aid "Dry" Officials

State Prohibition Director Rutter and Agent-in-charge Dolley returned last night from a flying trip to San Diego and Santa Ana, and Mr. Rutter will return to San Francisco this evening.

The object of the visit by the prohibition-enforcement officials was to interview the authorities of Orange and San Diego counties, with a view to securing their co-operation in the application of the Wright Act to the enforcement of the liquor laws.

Under the provisions of the Wright Act concurrent jurisdiction with the Federal officials is conferred in prosecutions for violation of the prohibition enactment, and the officials report that their interviews with the county officers were eminently satisfactory, and they had reason to believe that they would co-ordinate loyally with the Federal officers.

ASSERTED BANDIT IS ARRAIGNED

Man Accused by Doctor as Hold-up Artist is Held for Trial at Hearing

Fulton Jacks, arrested last week when an asserted particularly daring hold-up in which he is said to have forced Dr. E. M. Lazard to write a check for $3865 and tried to force him to cash it, was frustrated, was held to answer yesterday by Justice Follette.

On December 30, according to the testimony, Jacks entered the office of Dr. Lazard and waited until they were alone. He then produced a pistol, it is declared, and demanded that the doctor write him a check for $3865, which was done although the protest was made that there was not that much money in Dr. Lazard's account.

After the check was written, it is charged that Jacks took it and with the pistol in his coat pocket forced Lazard to accompany him down stairs and across the street toward the bank. But he made the mistake of passing too close to a traffic policeman and Dr. Lazard, seizing the opportunity, dove behind the officer, shouting.

"Crab him, he has a gun!"

Jacks was arrested. Officers discovered that he was living with L. E. Sampsell, suspected of robbing a Western-avenue bank several weeks ago. A quantity of drugs was found in the room and investigators are of the opinion that Jacks was under the influence of dope at the time of the asserted hold-up.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Mortimer Kline prosecuted the case.

Divorce Action Submitted for Court's Review

The contested divorce case of Benjamin F. and Caroline Dewey was taken under submission by Judge Walton J. Wood yesterday. Mrs. Dewey charged her husband with mental cruelty, growing out of her arrest as the reported companion of E. O. Burns in a Bungalow at Balboa Beach.

The charge subsequently was dismissed in a Santa Ana court. Mrs. Dewey declared the arrest was a "frame-up."

Judge Wood sharply rebuked Mrs. Dewey. He said she ought to be ashamed of herself as a wife and mother for allowing Mr. Burns in the bungalow.

GREATER SHIP LINES PLEASED

They Are Declared to be Content With Rates

Small New Companies Hold Conference in East

Price-Cutting Has Caused Business Boom

The intercoastal conference, disrupted for months by a rate war which has halved freight rates but more than doubled coast-to-coast tonnage and business, met in New York this week for the first time since last spring. A feature of the assembly was the absence of the two biggest members—the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company and the Isthmian Steamship Lines. All other members of the old conference took an active part in the proceedings.

Although it is known that reorganization of the conference is being attempted, no official would say how much progress had been made toward burying the hatchet.

SMALL COMPANIES FOR IT

Shipping officials at Los Angeles Harbor declared yesterday that all the smaller and newly formed concerns are attempting to force reorganization, while the older and powerful combines are forestalling these overtures. Three of the big intercoastal lines are known to have signed long-term contracts with shippers at the present low rates and are therefore reluctant to enter into any plans for reorganization.

That peace was the purpose behind invitations to the meeting was generally admitted in local circles.

Various "obnoxious practices" were taken up. Alleged offers of Oakland agents to "deliver to the door" in their fights for business at the reduced rates came in for censure at the meeting, it was said.

BUSINESS GROWS

The intercoastal conference — all American-flag companies serving the Atlantic and Pacific coasts via the Panama Canal—confirmed yesterday reports of record-breaking volume of business, but said that because of the low rates it was not profitable enough.

Rate cuts had run from 40 to 75 per cent and this had attracted a great volume of new freight, it was pointed out. Where there were seventy-five vessels regularly engaged in intercoastal trade at the time of the rate break there are said to be more than 150 ships in the same service today. Panama Canal tolls were quotde to show that in the last five months they exceeded $1,000,000 the bulk of it being the intercoastal boom business.

SECOND WIFE GETS BLAME

Husband Testifies Money Advanced to Pay Alimony and Buy Ticket to Los Angeles

The story of his present wife, Mattie B. Shafer, taking him away from his first wife and five children and then giving him the money to pay his first spouse alimony was told yesterday in Judge Valentine's court by George A. Shafer. The revelations were made by Mr. Shafer during the trial of a $50,000 alienation of affections suit brought by the present Mrs. Shafer against Mrs. Nora Dawson.

Mr. Shafer took the stand late yesterday afternoon and testified that his present wife paid the expense of his trip from his home in the East to Los Angeles, where he was married to her. Previously, he said, she had written to him and told him not to worry over financial complications incident to his divorce from his first wife, as she would help him.

LETTERS SHOWN

Upon his arrival here, he said, the present Mrs. Shafer advanced him money to be used in paying alimony to his first mate to support herself and their five children.

Several romantic and impassioned love missives asserted to have been written by Mrs. Dawson to Mr. Shafer were introduced in court by Mrs. Shafer.

One of them read:

"My Dear Old Kankakee Kid: "Oceans of love with a kiss on every wave. The way I eat I should weigh 200 pounds when I return to Los Angeles. Then Shafe won't like his honey any more, will he?"

ABUSE CHARGED

Prior to the introduction of the letters, Mrs. Shafer testified that she and her husband had lived happily until he met Mrs. Dawson Then he became abusive and mistreated her, she asserted.

In answer to his wife's charges, Mr. Shafer admitted that his love for his wife was not exactly overpowering.

The present Mrs. Shafer, he declared, was responsible for his divorce from his first wife and since their marriage she has shown him but little affection.

MAN FOUND NOT GUILTY NOW SUING

Charges False Arrest and Malicious Prosecution in His Complaint

Papers were drawn and signed in the office of Attorney C. L. Kilgore, O. T. Johnson Building, late yesterday afternoon for an action of $10,000 damages charging false arrest and malicious prosecution, with John C. Evans, plumbing contractor as plaintiff and Walter G. Mathewson, Commissioner of Labor Statistics of California and William E. Steineck, Deputy Commissioner of Labor, defendants. Attorney Kilgore mailed the complaint for filing in Superior Court last night.

The complaint asserts Evans was arrested on November 15, last, by officers of the Los Angeles police department at 11 p.m., at his home, 1128 West Sixty-second street, and was taken to Central Police headquarters, where he was required to furnish $100 cash bail. The arraignment was November 16, last, at which time Mr. Evans pleaded not guilty. December 6, last, after trial before Police Judge Chesbro, the complaint asserts, plaintiff was found not guilty and was discharged.

Mr. Evans claims that he was put to much inconvenience and great mental distress at a late hour at night to secure necessary bail money in cash from friends and he further asserts in his complaint that he was wrongfully charged with failure to pay E. Doenick $40 asserted to be due as wages earned as a carpenter in the erection and construction of a bungalow court on Burlington avenue near First street for Harold Walker. He asserts he never had seen Doenick and had taken the property over under a trustee arrangement, he being the largest creditor and Deputy Commissioner of Labor Steineck being one of the parties to the agreement.

COLUMBIA CIRCLE MEETING

Columbia Circle, No. 24, Ladies of the G.A.R., will give a luncheon and conduct an installation of officers at Patriotic Hall at 1:30 p.m. today. The public is invited.

COAT THEFT CHARGED

Cook Is Arrested on Complaint of Mistress

Whenever Mrs. Ida Stanton of 445 Lafayette Park missed anything about the house, she testified yesterday in Justice Baird's court, she spoke to her cook, Joe Aviado, and the article mysteriously would appear. At last, she said, she missed a $300 sealskin coat, and the usual formula failed to effect its return. Police officers found it in a pawnshop, and Aviado was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. He was held to answer by Justice Baird, and on request of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke bail was fixed at $1500.

MOTHER OF FILM STAR DROPS SUIT

Mrs. Burns Files Notice of Dismissal of Appeal in Will Case

Mrs. Adeline L. Burns, mother of Gloria Swanson, film actress, and widow of a wealthy local shoe merchant, who was ruled against by the Superior Court in her effort to retain the dead man's entire fortune, bequeathed to her in a will made just prior to his death, yesterday filed notice of dismissal of her appeal to the State Supreme Court against the former judgment.

Members of the Burns family, including a brother, T. A. Burns, of San Francisco, a sister, Mrs. Graham of this city and the latter's son protested the terms of the dead man's will upon the ground that he was of unsound mind at the time of its drawing and that Mrs. Burns, who had been his wife but a short time, had exercised undue influence over him in her own favor.

Following a trial which dragged for some weeks in the Superior Court, the jury, on July 19, last, brought in a verdict in favor of the Burns relatives. The court's judgment gave half of the estate, estimated in excess of $100,000, to the widow, who, shortly thereafter, filed an appeal in the State Supreme Court.

A compromise is understood to have been recently effected between Mrs. Burns and members of her husband's family.

LIFE SENTENCE IS COMMUTED

One of the last official acts of Gov. Stephens yesterday was to commute the sentence of Charles H. Hadley, Camp Kearny soldier, who pleaded guilty in Los Angeles county to robbery and murder.

While a volunteer in training at Camp Kearny, Hadley was asserted to be one of a gang of soldiers responsible for several robberies. During one of the depredations Harold Denman was killed. All of the party were convicted and Hadley was sentenced to life imprisonment in San Quentin on the murder charge, and to fourteen years on the robbery charge.

In order to render Hadley eligible to parole, Gov. Stephens commuted his sentence to twenty years. Hadley is 22 years of age, and was 18 at the time of his sentence.

Three other commutations and five pardons were granted by the retiring Governor.

Protects Girl Companion; is Found Guilty

Ho, ye Knights of the Round Table, rise from the dust of centuries, buckle tight your armor and lead your phantom hosts in defense of chivalry. For chivalry, close-pressed and dying, received a mortal blow yesterday when a jury in Judge Willis's Superior Court, according to Dep Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts, found Walter Harris 30 years of age, guilty of grand larceny because he refused to divulge the name of the girl with whom he went riding in a "borrowed" machine.

Harris, according to the complaint, stole an automobile in which he took a young woman riding. During the cross-examination he was asked the name of the girl and refused to give it, saying that there was no need to bring her into the case. He had pleaded not guilty, asserting that he had been loaned the machine by an unknown friend, but such a point was made of his reticence that the jury after a short deliberation, found him guilty.

Police Seeking Robber Gang's Treasure Cache

Buried treasure — a burglar gang's cache—is the object of a search by Detective Sergts. Spinner and Ryan, of the Wilshire station, and Detective Sergt. McMahon of Hollywood station.

Booty estimated to be worth $250,000 is secreted somewhere in Los Angeles or vicinity, the officers believe. Yesterday they began a systematic check of safe deposit vaults, express company depositories and other places where valuables might be under lock and key.

The investigation follows the arrest of more than twenty men on suspicion of burglary during the past two months, all of those captured being asserted members of the same gang. The ringleaders, according to police, are C. A. White and Charles Jones. Jones's arrest was the most recent. Arresting officers say both White and Jones have confessed to numerous burglaries, but refuse to reveal where they disposed of the stuff, consisting of money, furs, jewelry and bric-a-brac.

Husband Wants Joint Property Saved by Court

Charging conspiracy, Clyde H. Moreland yesterday filed suit against his wife, Mary Rose Moreland, and her four sisters, Jessie Sage, Nellie Miller, Emma Lewis and Bessie Hinderer.

The Morelands are school teachers, and have been married eleven years. He asks an order to restrain her from disposing of community property, valued at about $15,000, which is in her name.

The plaintiff charges in his suit that his wife's sisters visited her constantly to urge that she withdraw $4000 from the bank and dispose of their mutual property. The suit further sets forth that on the 7th inst., Walter and Jessie Sage came to his home and took Mrs. Moreland away with them, and that he has not seen her since.

Walter Gold Lincoln is attorney for the plaintiff.

LONE AUTO BANDIT IS CAPTURED

Arrest Expected to Lead to Finding of Numerous Stolen Cars

Two months of investigation by detectives yesterday resulted in the capture of J. J. Bucher, 27 years of age, known to police as the "lone auto bandit." He was charged with grand larceny. The arresting officers predicted that more than a score of stolen automobiles will be recovered in consequence of Bucher's capture.

Detective Sergeants Beaumont, Roberts, Winn and James Cline assisted in the arrest. In Bucher's home at the intersection of West Twenty-seventh street and Kenwood avenue they found twenty sets of license plates and certificates of registration stolen from various machines.

Two garages in the rear were searched and two automobiles recovered. One was a sedan reported stolen on December 29 from D. C. McLean, 4523 Abbey Court, and the other was a coupe, the property of H. T. Morrow, 3913 West Twenty-seventh street, stolen on December 22.

In one of the garages was found a complete set of tools for cutting tire chains, picking auto locks and removing accessories. There were several auto theft signals sawed in half.

Bootlegging of Husband Told in Divorce Plea

Bootlegging is no cause for divorce, Judge Summerfield declared yesterday in taking the case of Reine Taylor against Justice Taylor, her husband, under advisement.

Mrs. Taylor, who was represented by Attorney T. E. Justice, told the court that her husband was a bootlegger and operated a still near Balboa. The smell of the mash alone was sufficient to make a person intoxicated, she asserted.

After listening to the testimony, Judge Summerfield declared that bootlegging is not a divorceable offense under the laws of the State.

Love Notes Fail to Win Divorce From Clubman

Passionate love notes which Mrs. Martha A. Ames asserted Shirley L. Ames, well-known clubman, received from other women, yesterday failed to win her a divorce in Judge J. Perry Wood's department of the Superior Court.

Judge Wood told her that within a year she might have cause for securing a divorce on desertion grounds.

ASSERTED ATTACKERS OF GIRL FACE COURT

JURY, TO HEAR EVIDENCE IN CASE OF SAN FERNANDO CHILD, SECURED

A jury was procured yesterday and trial of the case begun before Judge Reeve, in the assault charge against John Lopez, Victor Gonzales and John Navarro, who are accused of mistreating Dorothy Cox, San Fernando High School girl, September 24, last. The men are being prosecuted by Dep. Dis.-Atty. Fricke and defended by Jesse R. Shafer and H. G. Higgins.

Dorothy, who is 14 years of age, was the principal witness yesterday. She declared she had left her home to buy a pair of tennis shoes and was induced to enter an automobile by the three defendants. She became unconscious soon afterward, as though she had been drugged, and could not remember what followed, she said.

Dr. J. E. Wheat of Burbank Hospital, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox, the girl's parents, testified she suffered from the effects of the drug for weeks. Dr. Wheat said the girl did not recover full consciousness for three weeks.

Clothing, identified as the girl's, which is asserted to have been found in Navarro's home, where the girl is said to have been imprisoned three days, was introduced in evidence. It is expected the trial will continue two days more.

NAME SIMILARITY RESULTS IN ARREST

Similarity of the name of Joseph C. F. Allen to that of Joseph C. Allen resulted in the arrest of the former on a charge of embezzlement of $532.53 from an estate being administered by the latter. Joseph C. F. Allen was held to answer yesterday by Justice Baird.

Testimony adduced by Dep. Dist.-Atty Heinecke indicated that the defendant opened an account with the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, and that when a division of an estate was made Joseph C. Allen transferred the amount involved from the estate account to his personal account, but the money got into the account of the defendant. It was charged that the defendant drew out most of the money and refused to pay it back. He denied the money did not belong to him.

The court held him to answer and fixed bail at $600. The defendant is an ex-soldier.

AUTO THEFT SUSPECT IS HELD IN BAY CITY

J. H. Herald, who, according to the statements of agents of the Department of Justice, is an automobile thief de luxe, is in jail in San Francisco, on the charge of stealing a machine in this city and driving it to Mansfield, La., and thence back to the Bay City. He will be brought here for a hearing.

It is asserted by Federal officials that Herald has been concerned in the theft of possibly a dozen machines the past year, and his whereabouts long have been sought by the authorities.

Avoid Harmful Grit
Pepsodent circles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Able authorities proved those methods effective. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film combatants were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent, now advised by leading dentists the world over.

These results also

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents. Soapy tooth pastes decrease their power. Pepsodent gives them manifold effect

For dainty people

People who want prettier teeth—whiter, cleaner, safer teeth—are adopting this new method. You meet them wherever you go — with teeth that others envy.

Now we urge you to learn how they get them. Make this delightful test. Compare the results with old methods.

Then show others in your home what benefits they miss.

That's Film
That dingy coat on teeth
See the change when you remove it

Teeth look dim and cloudy the reason is film.

Film can now be easily combated. Dingy teeth now seen everywhere prove that it can be done. Millions of people of some 50 nations are doing it every day.

Let them prove it by this ten-day test. Then you know you will never have that dingy film on teeth.

A constant threat

It is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush alone cannot remove it. No ordinary tooth paste can successfully combat it.

So film was left to cloud the teeth, to threaten serious damage night and day. Tooth troubles were constantly increasing. Beautiful teeth were seen less often than now. For dingy teeth and most tooth troubles are due to film.

How teeth are ruined

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look discolored. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Think of leaving on teeth and between the teeth a grimy coat like that.

New discoveries

Dental science, after long research, has found two film combatants. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

CHARMING WILSHIRE BARGAIN.

Owner must make quick sale of exquisite new 10-room Mission home built for home; of 14-inch hollow tile, on large view corner in most exclusive section near Wilshire Blvd. Much individual study was given and nothing omitted that would increase the harmonious beauty and character essential to an ideal home. There is an impressive center entrance hall, a large homelike living-room; French doors lead to a delightful solarium roofed with sunshine; there's a beautiful dining-room; colonial circular breakfast-room, a night compartment kitchen—planned by a woman; maid's room and bath; an ornamental stair hall to 3 immense bedrooms with 2 elaborately tiled baths with showers. The woodwork is piano finished mahogany; the walls are artistically decorated in canvas with mural treatment; there are 2 art tile fireplaces, a large porte-cochere, a fine basement with billiard room and double garage to match house. The construction means there is no cheapening anywhere; it is built to resist cold in winter, heat in summer and warm in winter. How easy it would be to arrange for Mrs. Jones to call in friendship, good cheer and sociability in this sunny spot with its full picture of rest, ease and domesticity. The price $75,000 less than cost a year ago makes it the very best buy in Wilshire today. Call R. H. TORREY, Wil. 1444.

What Does a Sack of Cement Mean to You?

Have you ever thought of it?

Inert and useless stone, blasted from the earth, guided through scores of intricate processes under the watchful care of chemist and engineer, converted into impalpable powder, shipped to every corner of the country and then, as if by magic, transformed again to stone—to make sanitary and safe the isolated home of the farmer—to increase his yields and profits—to house the product of his fields in silo and elevators—to bridge rivers—

to revitalize town property by making possible the towering architecture of today—to build tunnels and subways to speed the city worker to his home—to make more beautiful and economical and enduring the cottage, the workshop and the mansion—to increase the comfort and economy of motor travel, by roads as even and hard as chiseled stone—to make structures of every sort more secure against fire and the ravages of wear and time.

These are but a few of the uses of cement. They indicate what one industry can mean to a nation.

But the industry's meaning to you individually must naturally depend on what you know of it—on what you know of cement, the care taken in making it, the ease with which you can avail yourself of it.

Advertisements to follow will tell you about these things.

DEATH INQUIRY IS REVIVED

Parents Come From Utah to Renew Investigation Into Demise of Lola Lawler, Found Dead Last July

Had Chloe Lawler, known to residents in the neighborhood of 929 East Fifty-fifth street as Lola Lawler, actually committed suicide or had she been murdered on July 3, last, when she was found by her husband, B. B. Lawler, lying on a bed with a bottle, which had contained chloroform, on her chest.

The mystery has been revived by the arrival in Los Angeles of the dead woman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Christensen, who have come from Ephraim, Utah, with intention of instigating a thorough investigation of their daughter's death.

Recently United States Senator King wrote to Sheriff Traeger, laying before him certain facts in connection with the case and asking him to make a careful inquiry.

QUIZ REVIVED

With the arrival in this city of the woman's parents the matter has been turned back to the police department and detectives have been instructed to pursue their investigations until the question can be definitely settled one way or another.

As yet they admit that they are puzzled. In their second investigation they say they have picked up minor details overlooked last July. Still they have found nothing upon which a murder charge might be based.

The aged parents have taken up their residence at 947 East Fifty-fifth street, just two doors from the house where their daughter was found dead.

Their talks with neighbors have convinced them that Mrs. Lawler did not take her own life and, backed by the weight of Senator King's name and letters from influential citizens in their home community in Utah, they are demanding a rehearing.

HUSBAND'S STORY

After an autopsy had been performed on July 7 by Autopsy-Surgeon Wagner a certificate showing probable suicide was signed by Chief Deputy Coroner McDonald. Lawler had testified that he had returned from Long Beach about 7 p.m. on July 3, after an absence of about five hours, and found his wife dead.

She had had a toothache, he said, and had attempted to alleviate the pain with the use of chloroform.

Lawler was employed as a trainman by the Los Angeles Railway Company. He met their daughter in 1918, the old people declare, at Ephraim. She was visiting a sister at a hotel there and he was making the hotel his headquarters while he was soliciting orders for some article among the near-by farmers.

He induced the girl to leave with him, the parents assert and at Grand Junction a few months later their first child was born. Lawler was working as a barber then, they say.

SECOND CHILD BORN

In May, 1919, the second child was born and the older people visited the family here in Los Angeles in December of the following year.

Since their daughter's death Mr. Christensen declares he has learned that Lawler had a wife living at Long Beach whom he visited occasionally and from whom he was divorced in March, of last year.

They assert that it was to this woman's house that Lawler had gone on the afternoon of July 3, taking his two children with him. He had told their daughter they declare, that this woman was a distant relative.

They have never been able to find any record of a marriage between their daughter and Lawler, the parents say.

Judgment for Woman Against Bank Affirmed

The United States Circuit Court of Appeal yesterday affirmed the judgment of U. S. District Judge Trippet, in favor of Mary N. Birdsall, in her action against the Continental National Bank of this city, for the recovery of $2386.40, that it is asserted Maj. Alfred W. Birdsall, husband of the plaintiff, drew from the bank on her individual account. Birdsall married Miss Mary Neville, a Texas girl, a few years ago at Long Beach. She then was but 17 years of age, the daughter of a wealthy woman of the Lone Star State.

It was asserted that Birdsall embezzled funds belonging to his wife and mother-in-law to the amount of about $12,000. He was taken into custody at San Francisco as he was about to embark for China, brought here and tried in Superior Court on the charge of forgery and embezzlement. He was found guilty and sentenced to San Quentin for from one to fifteen years.

It was shown at the hearing in the Federal court that Mrs. Birdsall deposited to her individual account in the bank $5000, and that later Birdsall opened an individual account. It was charged that the bank had allowed Birdsall to draw money on the individual account of his wife on his personal check, and Judge Trippet held that it was responsible for the money. This opinion has been affirmed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeal. The plaintiff in the case was represented by George B. Ross, private secretary to U. S. District Judge Bledsoe.

Experts Explain Methods Known to Photography

With the splendid exhibition of pictuorial photography being shown at the Southwest Museum, the Southern California Camera Club inaugurates a program for the new year expected to appeal to all camera enthusiasts and lovers of art.

Forthcoming events include an address at the clubrooms Thursday evening by Fred R. Archer, former president of the club, now a creator of art titles for the Universal Film Company. Archer will demonstrate graphically to the club the making of art titles in motion-picture work.

Peter De Kayser, head of the print department of Little's Art Store, spoke to the pictorial section of the club on Monday evening at that place on the methods employed in the production of art prints.

The beginner's class of the club meets as usual on Tuesday evenings under the instruction of one of the foremost press photographers in the West.

In addition to the main exhibition at the Southwest Museum, the club announces that a beautiful series of prints by John D. Boyer are to be seen at 216 Columbia Building, the organization's headquarters.

Suspect is Held as Dope Vendor and Pickpocket

Robert H. Peters, suspected dope vendor and asserted pickpocket, was arrested yesterday at the intersection of Twenty-second and Main streets by agents of the State Department of Pharmacy and lodged in jail on a charge of violation of the State Poison Act.

Peters and a companion known as "Slim" Murphy, were the objects of an automobile chase of more than two miles participated in by Inspectors Peoples and Hanson of the State Bureau of Pharmacy, prior to the arrest. Murphy succeeded in making his getaway when Peters ran the car into the curbing at the Twenty-second street crossing.

Search of the automobile revealed about an ounce of morphine and a large suitcase, the latter filled with a choice collection of fur-trimmed coats, evidently new. Peters's room in a Spring-street hotel was later searched.

Peters, who will today appear for trial before Police Judge Richardson, is asserted to be a member of a notorious band of pickpockets and a brother-in-law of Jack Smart, self-styled "California Pickpocket King."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe head aches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—[Advertisement.

OLD DECREE ON ALIMONY CALLED FOR

Bitter Contest is Forecast in Wife's Divorce Suit Against Canadian

Attorneys for Mrs. Ella S. Robinson, suing Morton C. Robinson for divorce, obtained a continuance in alimony proceedings before Judge Summerfield in Superior Court yesterday by demanding a certified copy of the order of a Canadian Court issued in a separate maintenance action several years ago. Mr. Robinson promised to have the copy in court. The case went over until next Tuesday.

The opening of the case in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday gave promise of a bitter contest. Mr. Robinson, president of a string of clothing stores in Canada, was called to the stand and when Attorneys Hoegstedt and Hilder asked him whether he believed in God, Attorney Milton Cohen indignantly objected. Mr. Robinson answered quite gently that he did believe in God. When the imputation was raised that Mr. Robinson was not a frank man, Mr. Cohen went excitedly to the bat for his client.

"Mr. Robinson came here from Canada on a vacation—" began Mrs. Robinson's attorneys.

"Well, he has been having it, hasn't he?" interjected Mr. Cohen.

"I'll say he has," was the reply.

It appeared that Mrs. Robinson's attorneys had prepared to chase him with an airplane and a fast automobile.

Efforts to determine the extent of Mr. Robinson's wealth will be resumed after the Canada court order is received next week. He testified he receives $10,000 as president of the Robinson Clothes Corporation. Mrs. Robinson says he has $1,500,000. She charges him with caring too much for the society of other women. She was formerly an actress in musical comedies.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED ABOUT INCOME TAX

Many inquiries are being received by Collector Goodcell as to who is required to file income tax returns. An impression prevails that any person who had an income of $1000 must make a return.

The collector says that the requirement to file a return is placed upon every married person whose income for 1922 was $2500 or more and upon every single person whose income was $1000 or more. The $1000 income requirement applies only to single persons.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.—[Advertisement.
